INDIA WILL LIFT VOICE

All Set for Poll on Freedom

Nationwide Demonstration Scheduled to Feature Sunday There

Sympathizers in New York Announce Celebration for Same Time

For the first time in her history, India will hold a popular referendum on the independence movement. The time set by the National Congress for these plebiscite demonstrations to begin is tomorrow (10 a.m. today Pacific time.)

Behind in her 700,000 villages and 5000 cities and towns, hundreds of thousands of supporters of India's independence will conduct mass meetings and demonstrations indorsing the decision of the Indian nation—a decision that the aim of the Indian movement is to secure independence by non-violent methods of boycott and non-payment of taxes. The demonstrations will inaugurate the campaign of defiance to the government in India.

The following article, discussing the issue, is written by Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, the official head of the nationalist movement for Indian independence.

President of the Indian National Congress

(Copyright, 1930, in all countries, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

ALLAHABAD (India) Jan. 25. In accordance with the decision of the executive committee of the Indian National Congress, the people of India will celebrate tomorrow all over the country as Independence Day, beginning with the hoisting of the national flag.

The following resolution printed in hundreds of languages and dialects will be distributed and voted on by the people:

"We believe in the inalienable right of the Indian people—as it is the right of all other people—to freedom and enjoy the fruits of their toil and have the necessaries, comforts and amenities of life, so that they may have full opportunities of growth.

"We believe also that if any government deprives a people of these rights and oppresses them, these people have the further right to alter and abolish the oppression.

BRITAIN ARRAIGNED

The British government in India has not only deprived the Indian people of freedom, but has debased them by the exploitation of the masses and has ruined India economically, politically, culturally and spiritually.

We believe, therefore, that India must sever its British connection and attain complete independence.

The realization proceeds to among the four-fold ruin and continuous

'Grand Old Lady of Georgia' Expires at Age of 94 Years

Was Political Leader and Active in Business and Church

ATLANTA (Ga.) Jan. 24. (AP)—Mrs. Rebecca Latimer Felton, the only woman ever to hold the office of United States Senator, died here late tonight, after a brief illness. She was 94 years of age.

Mrs. Felton, known as the "grand old lady of Georgia," entered a hospital here several days ago for treatment for a heavy cold. Her condition grew worse and at her advanced age she was unable to rally.

Always scorning assistance and maintaining that she still was young enough to look out for herself, Mrs. Felton came here from her home at Cartersville to attend to business for the Georgia Training School for Girls. She contracted the cold on the trip, but completed the business that brought her here before entering a hospital.

Mrs. Felton gained the distinction of being the first woman United States Senator when she was appointed on October 3, 1922, by Gov. Thomas W. Hardwick of Georgia to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Thomas E. Watson. Mrs. Felton took the oath of office November 21, 1922,

Bolivian Order Intercepted

Purported Message Directs Offensive Preparations Against Paraguay

League of Nations Requests Belligerents to Find Peaceful Solution

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24, (AP)—The Paraguayan government tonight ordered its charge d'affaires in Washington, Pablo M. Ynsfran, to report to the State Department that a new order had been intercepted from Gen. Hans Kundt, member of the Bolivian army, ordering preparations for a general offensive against Paraguay.

The governmental instructions said that the following message, sent in code, had been intercepted by the Paraguayan forces:

"Report members of the patrol, 'Trugillo,' saw Private Fernandez fall. The division must be ready for a general offensive with the center of gravity in the northern center. Signed Kundt."

Senor Ynsfran will inform the State Department tomorrow that Private Fernandez is the Bolivian soldier reported slain. The Trugillo patrol is the one which the Paraguayans contend was engaged in the action of the 16th inst., at Isla Poi, which precipitated the present tense situation between the two countries over the question of their joint claim to the Chaco Boreal.

LEAGUE ASKS FOR PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT

GENEVA, Jan. 24. (AP)—Foreign Minister Zaleski of Poland, chairman of the League of Nations Council, has addressed an appeal to the Bolivian and Paraguayan governments to settle peacefully their dispute over the Chaco Boreal territory.

The appeal has been forwarded to the South American government authorities by the secretary-general of the League, Sir Eric Drummond, in the following terms:

"I have the honor to bring to the knowledge of your excellency the following communication which has been addressed to me by the acting president of the Council:

EXPRESSES CONFIDENCE

"'Concerned at the news about the Chaco Boreal dispute, I request you in my capacity of acting president of the Council of the League of Nations to recall to the Bolivian and the Paraguayan governments that after the session of December, 1928, acting president of the Council Aristide Briand and again last September the League Assembly, congratulated the two noble nations on having adopted a pacific procedure for the settlement of their dispute in conformity with the undertakings of the covenant.

'I believe I am interpreting today the feelings of the Council and of the whole League of Nations in requesting you to express to both governments our confidence that no serious incident will compromise the success of pacific procedure. [Signed:] Zaleski, Minister of Foreign Affairs of Poland, acting president of the Council.'"

PARAGUAY PROTESTS

The Paraguayan charge d'affaires in Paris yesterday sent a protest to the League against asserted Bolivian plans for military movements in connection with the territorial dispute.

The protest contained a copy of a message said to have been intercepted by a Paraguayan wireless station and professing to give Bolivian plans for an attack on Paraguayan forts.

A telegram from the Bolivian delegate to the League of Nations, addressed to Sir Eric Drummond, said that Bolivia protested against the imputation of responsibility for the recent incidents in the Chaco Boreal dispute, which the delegate affirmed had been caused by Paraguayan patrols.

He said that Bolivia is faithful to the Washington conciliation pact and is mindful of her obligations as a member of the League. She is awaiting quietly the carrying out of the formula proposed by Uruguay.

He added that the conciliation commission in Washington, confronted with an analogous case of 1928, had cleared Bolivia of responsibility.

IMPORTING OF PARROTS RESTRICTED

None May Be Admitted From South America as Result of Disease

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. (AP)—President Hoover today signed a proclamation prohibiting the importation of parrots from South America.

Mr. Hoover issued the proclamation on recommendation of the Public Health Service in view of the appearance of parrot fever in the United States.

Issuance of such a proclamation had been suggested as a means of preventing additional cases of parrot fever, more than fifty cases of which have been reported to Surgeon-General Cumming.

The disease, almost always contracted from parrots and rarely transmitted from man to man, has been given as the cause of eight deaths in recent weeks.

COL. METZ SAYS FUND SENT KING

Two $1000 Contributions for Campaigns Declared Given Senator by Dyer

NEW YORK, Jan. 24. (AP)—Col. Herman A. Metz, president of the General Dyestuffs Corporation, in discussing testimony given before the Senate lobby investigating committee, today said he had sent Senator William H. King, Democrat, of Utah, two campaign contributions of $1000 each.

He denied the contributions had any relations to interests his company might have in lower tariff duties.

Senator King is a member of the Senate Finance Committee. Col. Metz said he sent the first contribution to Mr. King in 1922 for his personal campaign fund. The second, he said, was for use in the Smith campaign in Utah in 1928, but never was used and the check was destroyed.

Metz, formerly comptroller of New York City, and a member of Congress, said the "so-called revelations," before the lobby committee were merely amusing.

Testimony concerning the contributions was given yesterday by Samuel Russell of Salt Lake City, former secretary to Senator King. Senator King said yesterday he did not cash the 1928 check and had never heard of the 1922 contribution.

WRECK'S VICTIMS ASHORE

Eleven Hundred From Lost Tourist Ship Stranded Near Argentine's Bleak Prison Colony

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 24. (AP)—Some apprehension is felt here for the comfort of the 1100 passengers of the tourist ship Monte Cervantes, which on Wednesday afternoon struck a rock in Beagle Channel, Tierra Del Fuego.

The passengers and the crew, numbering about 1500 altogether, abandoned the ship and were put ashore by the Argentine war transport Vicente Fidel Lopez near Ushaia, headquarters of the government of the Argentine section of the islands.

Ushaia is the seat of a penal settlement, inmates of which include the most notorious criminals of this country. The Argentine government never demands a death sentence, the worst of her malefactors instead being sentenced to life in the bleak community on the tip of the continent.

There are few buildings at Ushaia except the long-disused structures of an old mission station and a few stores and residences, hardly affording accommodation for so many as abandoned the Monte Cervantes. The Monte Sarmiento, sister ship of the Monte Cervantes, was ordered by the Hamburg-Sud Americano Line, owners of the vessels, to discharge her passengers at Montevideo, Uruguay, and to proceed immediately to Ushaia to pick up the stranded tourists.

Radio advices today reported that the Monte Cervantes had sunk, and Capt. Breyer went down with the ship.

Howard Given Farewell Fete

NEW YORK, Jan. 24. (AP)—Sir Esme Howard, retiring British Ambassador to the United States, and Lady Isabella Howard were guests of honor at a farewell reception given today by the English Speaking Union of the United States at the society's national headquarters. Nearly 1000 members of the union attended.

John W. Davis, president of the union, and Mrs. Robert Bacon, member of the national board of directors, received the guests.

Sir Esme and Lady Isabella will retire from the Diplomatic Service.

'Lizzie' Plays Role of 'Eliza'

VANCOUVER (Wash.) Jan. 24. (AP)—A dilapidated 1923 touring car which wouldn't have been a great loss if it sank did an "Eliza" act on Columbia River ice today, wheezing, bumping and skidding its way from Washington to Oregon. It is believed to be the only car that ever crossed the river except by ferry or bridge in several years.

Oscar Wood, the driver, and Thad Thomlinson rode across in the car above the interstate bridge near here, where the shores are a mile apart.

Mexican Death Plot Thwarted

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 24. (AP)—El Universal Grafico today said the Mexico City police had frustrated a plot to kill several high officials of the Mexican government. No names are disclosed.

The paper said Police Chief Valente Quintana conducted the investigation of the plot and carried out raids in Mexico City and two neighboring towns.

FARMERS IN ALBERTA SHUN ORIENTAL ISSUE

CALGARY (Alta.) Jan. 24. MANY SAVED FROM FLOOD IN ARKANSAS

Rescuers Take More Than 100 Out of Icy Region as Airplanes Aid Relief

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Jan. 24. (AP)—Pushing through the ice-locked overflow with the aid of pickax and pole, rescue boats tonight had brought to safety more than 100 persons from the flooded Big Lake area in Northeastern Arkansas, while airplanes began a mission of mercy from the air.

Boats operating under the direction of Walter Over, field representative of the Red Cross, and J. G. Little, chairman of the Mississippi County Relief Committee, brought more than fifty persons, many of them women and children, to the field base this afternoon. Overnight rescues and the number previously ferried to safety increased the total rescued to about 100.

The use of airplanes was tendered the Red Cross by the Curtiss-Wright Flying Service and the Memphis Evening Appeal. After a telephone conference with E. A. Evans, director of disaster relief of the Red Cross, two planes were dispatched from Memphis to the flood district today. Many of those brought out of the flood today were reported destitute. Many showed the effects of several days in their farm homes with meager supplies of food and fuel, but none was ill.

INDIANA PLANES HELP FLOOD VICTIMS

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 24. (AP)—Aircraft were used again today to aid the flood-bound districts along the banks of the Wabash River. Planes of the Indiana National Guard carried supplies to persons who have been marooned for days in homes made inaccessible by flood waters.

Relief has been sent to nearly every affected community, Red Cross officials said today.

AMERICANS PUSH CRUISERS TO FOREFRONT OF PARLEY

Settlement With British on Crux of Naval Situation Considered Best Procedure by Delegates

LONDON, Jan. 24. (AP)—The American delegates to the naval conference today decided to tackle immediately the problem of cruisers—the crux of the Anglo-American naval situation. The decision to push the cruiser problem to the forefront of the conference agenda was revealed at a meeting of the delegation this morning.

This development was somewhat of a surprise. Since there is apparently a general agreement among the delegation that battleships should be further limited and controlled by international agreement, it had been expected that capital ships would make the logical starting point for work.

But the Americans have taken the line that cruisers are the crucial point of the Anglo-American naval differences, and that this issue should be cleared as soon as possible.

Whether the conference will accept the American proposal is not yet certain, but the Americans believe that Secretary Stimson will carry this point. In their view, the conference should tackle the hardest problem first and leave the seemingly easy problem of battleships till the last.

MORE PUBLICITY

The Americans today also favored plunging into the task of reaching an agreement with a greater degree of publicity than had been arranged for. Secretary of State Stimson offered to give up to the Associated Press and two other American news agencies three seats reserved for American advisers at such business meetings as were held at St. James' Palace yesterday. This move was strongly urged by Senator Robinson, who was backed by Senator Reed.

The ramifications of the Franco-Italian naval position also occupied a good share of the day's conference activities. Both Prime Minister MacDonald and Secretary Stimson held conferences with Premier Tardieu of France and Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy for the purpose of exploring further the nature of the problems which the French and Italian spokesmen outlined before the assembled delegations yesterday.

TALKS WITH GRANDI

Secretary Stimson talked with Sig. Grandi for an hour and a quarter entirely on political subjects.

Italy's naval problem seems to be, roughly, maintenance of communications with the Atlantic Ocean, while France's is keeping a cleared road to and from her Northern Africa possessions.

Another problem of immediate importance, to which a general approach is being made, is that of the system for measuring the strength of navies. This involves the method of global, or total, tonnage and that of measurement by categories of fighting craft. Admirals and experts have for years been disputing over the relative merits and defects of these systems, and they are at it again in London.

DIFFER ON SYSTEMS

Italy and France prefer the so-called total tonnage system whereby each country would be allotted the right to construct a fixed tonnage of all warships with the privilege of dividing the total among those categories or types best suited to their national needs. For example, Italy would prefer to be free to build as many cruisers or destroyers as she thinks desirable.

The United States and Great Britain prefer a system of tonnage by categories with treaty stipulations of the amounts of tonnage assigned to cruisers, submarines and other types; however, both the United States and France have intimated willingness to employ both systems.

COMPROMISE PROPOSED

A compromise has been proposed under which a signatory would be permitted to transfer tonnage from one category to another provided the transfer amount did not exceed a stated percentage and only after due notice of intention about one year in advance.

The immediate problem before the conference is to obtain the adhesion of Great Britain and Italy to what has become known as the Franco-American compromise. Most of the talks proceeding among the delegates involve some aspect of this problem.

Tonight Premier Tardieu of France, Ambassador Morrow, former Premier Wakatsuki and a British representative discussed it. "Things are beginning to move and we are very well satisfied with the

Mexican Labor Defended

House Committee Told of Southwest's Vital Need for Farm Workers

Seasonal Flow Across Line Aids Both Sides, Declare Los Angeles Men

BY LAWRENCE BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. (Exclusive)—The House Immigration Committee today heard from four additional witnesses testimony to the effect that barring of immigrants from Mexico, as proposed in the Johnson and Box bills, is not necessary, that it would deprive a large section of the country of an essential supply of common labor and that it would enlarge, rather than diminish, the social and economic problems of the nation.

The witnesses were Harry Chandler of Los Angeles, speaking from nearly fifty years' experience in dealing with Mexican workers on both sides of the international border; Arthur S. Bent of Los Angeles, another veteran of the Southwest; E. G. Peterson of the University of Utah, and T. Chauncey Brewer, Boston attorney, appearing for the immigration committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce, which has taken a vigorous stand against the Mexican exclusion movement in Congress.

MEXICANS DEFENDED

Mr. Chandler was the principal witness. The Los Angeles publisher put in a strong defense of the Mexicans who cross the line each year to perform the seasonal labor required by the agricultural interests of California and the Southwest and then return to their own country to enjoy the fruits of their labor and implant in Mexico modern ideas of farming and development.

He told the committee that the Mexicans are the only dependable laborers that can be obtained in the Southwest and that they have contributed vitally to the upbuilding of that section of the country. He said that they create none of the social problems incident to the former influx of other foreign nationals.

"They are more desirable from our standpoint than any other class of labor, and cause fewer problems," Mr. Chandler said. "They come in during our season of need and when the crops are harvested they go back home, carrying a little money which they have earned, but a much more important store of useful information they have learned and the result is to help Mexico's development and make us better neighbors with the country below the border."

FILIPINOS LESS DESIRABLE

Mr. Chandler warned the committee that if Mexican labor is taken away from the Southwest the alternative will be an inpouring of Filipinos and Porto Ricans and these, he declared, "are less desirable if you want to call it a choice between two evils."

He said that while the Mexicans are quiet and law abiding and do not attempt to mingle or intermarry with Americans, the

WILL ROGERS REMARKS:

LONDON, Jan. 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Well, the conference didn't do anything today, as usual, but there was a famous case being tried where a fellow had swindled, through fake stock transactions, the people out of $10,000,000. They just gave him fourteen years so fast that it took all the Americans' breath away, and all they have talked about today is English justice compared to ours. It's the consensus of opinion of all of them here that if it had been at home he would have gone into vaudeville or the Senate.

None of that habus corpusing and suspended sentences or appealing it. When you commit a crime over here you just wake up surrounded by a small space. Our delegation ought to be over here studying British justice. Our battleships are not harming us near as much as court delays, corruption and shyster lawyers.

Went to his home last night and had a two-hour visit with the great Bernard Shaw, and for once in my life I knew enough to keep still, and he was going great. I invited him to America and he is coming as soon as I come home and civilize 'em.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

SCHEME TO BAR MEXICANS HIT

House Committee Gets Plea Not to Curb Immigration

Workers from Below Border Called Essential Need

Filipinos and Porto Ricans are inferior workmen and far more assertive and dangerous in a social way.

The Mexicans, he declared, go back to their own country when there is no longer work for them, whereas the Filipino and Porto Rican, once here, stay on and create an unemployment problem during the seasons when there is no peak demand for labor in California and the Southwest.

Touching on the sociological question, Mr. Chandler said that "the Mexicans have never degraded our American blood; you must remember that they are mostly of Indian lineage, and besides that they do not show a tendency to marry citizens of this country."

BEST FOR SOUTHWEST

The witness pointed out that his large cotton holdings below the international line make it to his own personal interest to favor restriction of Mexican immigration, as it would mean a substantial saving on his ranch at Mexicali if the Mexican laborers were kept in their own country. However, he declared, the larger interests of California and the other Southwestern States dependent also upon Mexican common labor dictates his own stand and that of the Los Angeles Times against the exclusion legislation.

Mr. Chandler said that passage of a formal restriction act by Congress "would seriously offend a very sensitive people," and proof of the necessity for such action is especially absent in view of the demonstration made by the State Department in recent months that it can hold down Mexican immigration to any extent desired by tightening up on passport requirements. The department is now curtailing immigration from Mexico to less than one-third its former volume.

"PROMOTES GOOD WILL"

The flow of Mexicans back and forth across the border is a good thing for Mexico, the witness said, as it carries into our neighbor country modern American methods of farming "and this promotes a better understanding and increased good will between the two nations."

Representative Johnson of Washington, chairman of the committee, mentioned reports that Mexicans in large numbers have worked their way into the industrial centers of the North and East where they are taking jobs away from native citizens and Mr. Chandler readily agreed with him that this is not desirable.

Mr. Chandler said he has talked with leaders of the Mexican government and knows they are opposed to their nationals coming into this country to stay, or to penetrate far into the interior. But he insisted that the overwhelming bulk of Mexican immigration is confined to a comparatively narrow strip along the border, and that this free flow back and forth is good for both countries, as it provides a vital source of common labor for the United States while at the same time supplying a form of "education" to the nations below the Rio Grande.

Chairman Johnson and Mr. Chandler had an exchange of opinions over the relative merits of Mexican and other labor in the Southwest from the standpoint of law observance and peacefulness. Mr. Chandler said that on his Mexican property between 6000 and 8000 Mexicans are employed, depending on seasonal activities and they have never, so far as he knows, had a murder or serious trouble of any kind. He could not recall a single arrest from a labor disturbance in thirty years.

The chairman at this point referred to a newspaper dispatch telling of anti-Filipino outbreaks in the vicinity of Watsonville, and asked "do you think there is any trouble there?"

"Yes," said Mr. Chandler, "that sort of thing is likely to happen where you have Filipinos and that is one reason I advocate keeping our Mexican labor."

OTHERS SUPPORT VIEWS

The testimony given by Bent, Petterson and Brewer was much along the same line as that by Mr. Chandler. All testified that Mexican restriction is undesirable from an economic and diplomatic standpoint, that Mexican labor does not conflict with American labor, and that having been an essential factor in the development of the Southwest it continues to be an imperative element in the future welfare of that section. They declared that the agricultural and industrial situation in California, Arizona and other States would "collapse" if cut off from this source of common labor.

Despite the seemingly overwhelming case against restriction that has been built up at the hearings, the House committee is apparently ready to report favorably on a combination of the Johnson and Box bills, either of which would limit Mexico to approximately 2000 entries a year. It appeared today that the only thing that possibly can stop such a report is really aggressive opposition by the State Department, or a statement by the Department of Labor that restriction is not necessary as a relief for unemployment in this country.

IMMIGRATION REDUCED

Whether representatives of the State Department will be invited to testify has not been decided. The diplomatic branch is greatly concerned lest a restriction act be passed, but with its customary caution is hesitant about using the full force of its influence. It has contented itself to date with the issuance of a report showing that already within the last year it has reduced Mexican immigration by 71 per cent through more strict enforcement of existing passport regulations. That report was deemed by the department sufficient to stop the exclusion movement in Congress. But this was reckoning without consideration of the fact that most of the members of the House Immigration Committee find that agitation against Mexican immigration is a useful issue in their coming campaigns for re-election.

Of all twenty-one members of the committee, only one—Representative Free of San Jose, Cal.—can be said to have any real appreciation of the importance of leaving immigration from Mexico undisturbed. Mr. Free is fighting the pending bills. Chairman Johnson hails from Hoquiam, Wash., and has no Mexicans in his district. However, he does have a lively union-labor organization, and at the last election he came near being defeated. Representative Box, although from Texas, represents a northern district, which has few, if any, Mexicans within its borders. He and Johnson are authors of the pending restriction measures.

Actress and Fiance

NEW YORK, Jan. 24. (Exclusive) Clara Bow of Hollywood, who tagged Harry Richman for her sweetie, gave out an important statement at her suite in the Park Central Hotel tonight.

She said she had decided that she couldn't marry Harry because she is expecting a nervous breakdown.

And Harry, she argues, may be an all right guy on a cabaret floor, singing about how he is on the crest of a wave, but he is no sedative in a sick room.

Furthermore, Clara is going back to Hollywood in three weeks, and she said she wouldn't know, if she annexed herself a husband here, how to get him out there.

When Clara felt the breakdown coming on today she dashed out to the home of a friend on Long Island. She wants to be ill in the proper surroundings, her secretary, Miss Daisy Devoe, told reporters at the Bow suite.

GRAND OLD LADY OF GEORGIA DIES

while Congress was in special session. She served as a Senator for only twenty-two hours, making a dramatic speech just prior to her retirement.

While her term of office was only for a day the ceremony crowned with success the efforts made by the aged Georgian to "blaze the path for American womanhood" in the Senate. Gallery crowds, largely composed of women, overflowing into the halls, cheered Mrs. Felton, termed a breath of "lavender and old lace from the old South," as she appeared on the floor of the upper house to claim her seat.

Mrs. Felton was born in DeKalb county, Georgia, June 10, 1835, the daughter of Charles and Eleanor Latimer. She was married in 1853 to Dr. W. H. Felton, who died in 1909. Five children were born to them.

The first woman Senator was the author of two biographies which were widely read throughout the South, and she also contributed regularly to various publications for many years. She began her political career early in life. Her husband served as a member of Congress for several terms, during which she managed his campaigns and stumped the district in his behalf.

During the last twenty-five years she was regarded as a political leader in Georgia and took active parts in gubernatorial and Senatorial campaigns.

She was active in the business world and managed her own investments, which included large farm holdings in North Georgia.

Mrs. Felton was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, for seventy years. She gained State-wide reputation as a devout church worker and for twenty-three years toured the State in the interest of temperance.

Reds Not Yet Notified of Diplomat's Recall

Minister Now in Berlin; Secretary in Charge

No Papers Have Been Sent Concerning Legation

MOSCOW, Jan. 24. (AP)—Russian diplomatic circles today expressed surprise at the announcement that the Mexican government has recalled its entire legation staff in Moscow because of recent Communist demonstrations in front of Mexican legations in Washington, Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro.

The soviet Foreign Office and the Mexican Legation said that they had had no official notification of Mexico's action. The Mexican Minister is absent in Berlin and the legation is in the charge of the first secretary, who said papers of recall for his staff had not been asked from the soviet government.

RED AMBASSADOR GETS NO INSTRUCTIONS

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 24. (AP)—A. M. Makar, Ambassador of the Soviet Union to Mexico, this afternoon said he had not yet been advised by Moscow of what steps to take in consequence of the withdrawal of the entire staff of the Mexican Legation at Moscow. Until he does receive such advices he said he is unable to comment in any way on the situation on his plans.

The statement by Foreign Minister Estrada last night explaining the reasons for the action by Mexico has been transmitted to Moscow but it was learned from an authoritative source that Minister Makar has not yet received any official communication from the Department of Foreign Relations.

The Russian Minister denied that either he or the legation here is under guard or that the movements of his staff are restricted in any way.

fold disaster to our country. We recognize, however, that the most effective way of gaining freedom is not through violence.

"We will, therefore, prepare ourselves by withdrawing all voluntary association from the British government and practice civil disobedience, including nonpayment of taxes.

"We are convinced that if we withdraw voluntary help and stop the payment of taxes without doing violence, even under provocation, the end of this inhuman rule is assured.

"We, therefore, solemnly resolve to carry out the congress' instructions for the purpose of establishing our complete independence."

The national Congress' decisions are meeting with enthusiastic response all over the country. Huge demonstrations have been organized. A great many members of the official legislatures have resigned in obedience to Congress's mandate.

The national Congress' executive meeting will take place February 14, next, to determine further action.

DINNER PLANNED BY SUPPORTERS IN EAST

NEW YORK, Jan. 25. (NANA)—American and Indian supporters of the movement for India's freedom will hold their Independence Day dinner at the Ceylon India Inn tonight.

The Indian national Congress, according to cable advices received by T. H. K. Rezmie, executive director of the India Independence League of America, has fixed the 26th inst. as the day on which every city, town and village in India will hold meetings, and pass resolutions in favor of independence of India.

The celebration organized by the India Independence League here is to be held at 7 p.m., which will correspond with 7 a.m. of the next day in India, thereby making the New York gathering simultaneous with the India-wide demonstrations.

Dr. J. T. Sunderland, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., will preside over the dinner-meeting which will be addressed, among others, by Rev. C. F. Andrews, Mahatma Gandhi's closest English colleague; Dr. Charles Fleischer of New York, Syud Hossain, Indian lecturer, and T. H. K. Rezmie.

Among those expected to be present are United States Senators Blaine, Republican of Wisconsin; Royal S. Copeland, Democrat of New York; Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of the Nation, and M. Paul Richard.

A special message from the president of the Indian National Congress will be read by the director of the league, which stands for nonviolent methods of struggle only.

CAPT. EAKER CRACKS UP AS HUSBAND

Hero of Question Mark's Endurance Hop Divorced on Cruelty Charge

LAS VEGAS (N. M.) Jan. 24. (Exclusive)—Capt. Ira Eaker, a hero of the record-breaking endurance flight of the Question Mark, was far from a hero to his wife, it was revealed here today, when his matrimonial ship cracked up in divorce court.

Mrs. Eaker, who obtained her divorce on the grounds of cruelty, said that Eaker was almost impossible to get along with, that he was quarrelsome, ill-tempered, and made her life a burden. Particularly since the mantle of fame has fallen on him he has been quarrelsome, she charged.

From the time they were married on Long Island in 1923, Eaker's temperament has kept her in ill health, and caused her to lose thirty-five pounds within a few weeks after her marriage, she asserts. The couple separated in October, 1929.

CRUISER AIMS PUSHED AHEAD

progress made," said M. Tardieu after the meeting.

Tonight Prime Minister MacDonald was at his official country home, Chequers, not for any crowded weekend conferences, but simply to entertain at a luncheon tomorrow the Dominion delegates, a luncheon that will be the first of Chequers' social events for visiting envoys.

Secretary Stimson was also at his rural retreat and the formal work of the first week of negotiations virtually has ended to the entire satisfaction of the chief American delegate. The French and Italian delegates tomorrow will hold important conferences in which Foreign Minister Briand of France will participate.

In a conference with newspaper men at St. James' Palace today Secretary Stimson said:

"In my opinion, the progress made at yesterday's meeting of the delegations was very satisfactory and encouraging. The decisions reached seemed to meet with unanimous approval. They certainly met with mine."

Discussing the eight hours of continued conferences yesterday and again today, the Secretary added: "This is very hard work, but it is absolutely necessary for the success of the conference. It represents neither bad news nor a crisis nor does it represent unneccessary work or social entertainment."

It was then that Secretary Stimson broached the subject of having three American reporters occupy seats at business sessions such as yesterday. He said he is sure the other delegations do not differ from his views and that it is likely they will make similar arrangements. It is understood tonight that Secretary Stimson is planning to carry this arrangement into effect.

It is generally recognized in conference circles that much of the delicate work of negotiating informal understandings must be continued privately, but when considered opinions are arrived at and are made in formal statements such as each chief delegate made yesterday there is felt to be no reason why full publicity should not be possible.

One reason why this has not been done is the smallness of the chamber used for meetings of the full delegations and the large number of newspaper men covering the conference.

NORWAY GRANTS HELP FOR BYRD

Whaling Ships in Antarctic Ready to Aid Explorer

Belief Expressed Ice Pack Will Break Up Soon

British Vessel Also Ordered to Wait Near Barrier

OSLO (Norway) Jan. 24. (AP)—Norwegian whaling ships in the Antarctic are ready to aid the expedition of Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd, locked in by the ice packs in the Ross Sea, but the Norwegian Whalers' Association believes that the barrier will break up as usual and permit Admiral Byrd's supply ships to get through.

The Norwegian government today informed the American government, in a reply to a request for aid from the United States Minister, that it would do all it could to assist Admiral Byrd. The government approached the Whalers' Association, which promised that if Admiral Byrd were short of provisions a whaling factory ship would be sent to the rescue.

Whalers familiar with conditions in the Antarctic believe that there is still time for the ice to break up. Several large whaling factory ships passed through the pack ice into Ross Sea accompanied by several small whalers some time ago, and one of the factory ships recently left the Ross Sea again.

BRITISH VESSEL TOLD TO OFFER ASSISTANCE

LONDON, Jan. 24. (AP)—The British whaler Southern Princess is standing by in Antarctic waters waiting for an opportunity to get in touch with the expedition of Rear-Admiral Byrd, held in by pack ice in the Antarctic.

The Liverpool owners of the whaler received a request from Ambassador Dawes for assistance and immediately sent instructions to the master to take whatever action he could.

An official of the American Embassy said the Southern Princess was in Antarctic waters, but outside the Ross Sea, whereas Admiral Byrd in inside.

The Southern Princess is not an ice-breaker and cannot break through the pack ice, but she is standing by and will presumably be able to help Admiral Byrd later.

The embassy official added there were other whalers in the neighborhood, including one or two Norwegian ships inside the Ross sea pack ice.

NAVY WILL HELP IF NEED ARISES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. (AP)—Acting Secretary Jahncke gave assurance today that the Navy will do "everything possible" to rescue the personnel of the Byrd expedition if life is endangered, but at present he is satisfied that such is not the case.

LEATHER TARIFF PLAN DEFEATED

Hides and Shoes Likewise Back on Free List

Western Men Strike Back With Vengeance

Surprise Move in Senate Ends Bitter Fight

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. (AP)—Denied their demand for a higher tariff on hides, western Senators struck back with a vengeance in the Senate today and swept hides, leathers and shoes back to the free list where they have been for nearly twenty years.

Twice the western group tried to raise the duty on hides above that carried in the Hawley-Smoot bill but eastern Republicans and southern Democrats were too strong against it.

Immediately Senator Borah of Idaho, a leader of the western Republican Independents who had voted for a higher hide tariff, was on his feet with a proposal to deny duties then to hides, leathers and shoes. With the support of the southern Democrats it carried, 46 to 28. Twenty Republicans, all from the West, stood with the Idahoan.

ANOTHER FIGHT ENDS

Thus another major tariff issue was added for settlement in later conference with the House, whose bill provided rates of 10 per cent on hides, from 12½ to 30 per cent on leathers, and 20 per cent on shoes.

Party lines divided on all three roll calls. On the Borah motion twenty Republicans, twenty-five Democrats and the one Farmer-Labor, Senator Shipstead of Minnesota, supported it, and twenty-four Republicans and four Democrats voted against it.

The first vote came on an amendment by Senator Oddie, Republican, Nevada, to increase the proposed flat rate of 10 per cent on hides to 5 cents a pound on the green and 9 cents on the cured product. This was rejected, 39 to 31.

The Nevadan then modified his proposal, cutting the rates to 4 and 8 cents, respectively. This was turned down, 37 to 30. The 5 and 9 cent rate, it was estimated, would have been equivalent to 35 per cent or thereabouts.

WALSH IN PLEA

With two exceptions, all of the Republican Independent group, which has combined with the Democrats in an attempt to limit the revision as far as possible in the interest of agriculture, supported the increase. The exceptions were Senators La Follette and Blaine of Wisconsin.

Advocates of a higher hide tariff contended the committee rate of 10 per cent represented "a delusion." They said whatever benefit might accrue to the cattle raiser through it would be more than offset by the proposed levies on leathers and shoes, and the latter are not needed because imports are negligible.

Proponents of protection for leather tanners and shoe manufacturers regarded the Oddie rates as excessive and said they would be ruinous to the manufacturers, regardless of what duties were placed on leatners and shoes.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, argued heatedly for protection from shoe importations. Supporting his plea before the vote on Borah's proposal, the New Englander exhorted those who stand for the protective policy not to "destroy one of the greatest industries in America" by denying it relief. Every country in the world, he said, maintains tariffs on American shoes.

Wife Acquitted of Slaying Mate

CHICAGO, Jan. 24. (AP) — Mrs. Genevieve O'Brien was acquitted last night of participation in the murder of her husband, William J. O'Brien, for which crime Samuel Howard Dorr was convicted a week ago.

The jury returned the acquittal verdict on the fifth ballot after three and one-half hours of deliberation.

The State had charged Dorr and Mrs. O'Brien with conspiring to kill O'Brien and collect money on an insurance policy sold O'Brien by Dorr.

ANNULMENT FOR COPPER HEIRESS

WEDDING OF GUGGENHEIM GIRL VOIDED

New York Court Nullifies Runaway Marriage to Real Estate Man

WHITE PLAINS (N. Y.) Jan. 24. (AP)—An annulment of the runaway marriage last April of Natalia Guggenheim, 18-year-old heiress to the copper millions, and Thomas Gorman, Long Island real-estate man, has been granted by Supreme Court Justice Morschauser, it was learned today.

Justice Morschauser said it was granted at a private hearing in his chambers here Tuesday night, but the papers have not been signed. The annulment was granted on the grounds that Miss Guggenheim was not 18 when she and Gorman eluded her parents April 6, 1929, and were married. The action was brought by Edmond A. Guggenheim, her father.

The marriage of the young copper heiress and Gorman, son of a railroad employee, created considerable stir when it first became known. Shortly afterward Mrs. Gorman sailed for Europe with her parents, leaving her husband behind.

The Guggenheims are said to have opposed the marriage mainly because of the difference in religion of the young couple. Gorman is a Catholic, while Miss Guggenheim subscribes to the Jewish religion.

King and Queen Held Up by Fog Hitch Hike Home

BELGRADE (Jugo-Slavia) Jan. 24. (AP)—King Alexander and Queen Marie, returning from a shooting expedition near Belisce, Slavonia, were marooned today aboard the royal yacht in a dense fog on the Danube River.

They had intended to make the trip by water to Belgrade but had to give up the idea and wireless the commander of the Danube fleet, who sent an automobile to pick up the royal party.

Meanwhile the King and Queen had started on foot for Novisad. They were picked up while walking along the road toward the city and brought to their destination.

GIBRALTAR TUNNEL SURVEY CONTINUED

MADRID, Jan. 24. It would connect Europe and Africa near the Pillars of Hercules, western limit of the world known to the ancients.

Love and Marriage in the Great Society

Virtue is a product of human experience. The moral commandments do not depend for their validity on being the laws of God. They are binding on us because experience has shown that they are necessary to the preservation of life and the attainment of happiness. The fool considers only the immediate pleasure his act brings to a fragment of himself. The wise man looks to the remote consequences for his whole personality, his friends, and ultimately for all humanity.

E. Burdette Backus will apply these principles to the absorbing problems of love and marriage in an address Sunday, 10:50 A.M., at the First Unitarian Church, West Eighth Street, just east of Vermont. The public is invited. Music by double quartet from the A Capella Choir of U.C.L.A.

Frederick W. Roman

will give his lecture on "Contemporary Russia" at 8 P. M. This is the first of a series on conditions in Europe as he saw them last summer.

RIVER PROBLEM STILL UNSOLVED

Fate of Tristate Parley Hangs in Balance

Donovan Awaits Word on Rival Demands

Water Allocation Engages Commissions First

BY CHESTER G. HANSON
"Times" Staff Representative

RENO, Jan. 24. (Exclusive)—The fate of the conference between Arizona, California and Nevada appeared to hang in the balance throughout today as all interested parties sought to find a sound basis on which they could get together and start "trading" with one another. Col. W. J. Donovan, who is here representing the President and acting as chairman and intermediary between the States, announced that he has received no final answer from the several States on the proposal for a basis of discussion which he submitted to the States yesterday.

A number of criticisms or suggestions were received from the States today, and out of all of them he submitted what might be considered a composite of all of the suggestions, in the form of what he termed "a method." Everyone concerned with this conference is extremely careful of what and how things are said and without quoting anyone in particular so that nobody's toes will be tramped on, this seems to be the situation tonight:

WATER ISSUE FIRST

The "method" referred to by Col. Donovan is that the three States are trying to agree, first and foremost, on how much water they have to divide among themselves, then how it is to be divided and then what will be the result. When they can agree on that, then they will come into general conference and see what the chances are for agreement on other matters, including the division of power and the price to be paid by California. As the colonel put it, "We have to agree first on the allocation of water and then we take up power."

Col. Donovan, after going the rounds of the several States, called the newspaper reporters into conference and revealed the status of affairs at the close of the day. He could not reveal what each State was contending for, or what the ultimate outcome might be. He is striving in every way to avoid letting the situation get out of hand by some ill-advised "wise crack" from any individual. As he said, "we are first trying to find out on what points we can agree." It is apparent that all parties here recognize the importance of arriving at an agreement, and their attitude makes it evident that all of them are trying to arrive at a basis for discussion, Col. Donovan added.

HARMONY REIGNS

When asked whether there was "light ahead" he said that it was certainly too early to say that any insurmountable obstacle would arise to prevent a successful solution of the problem.

As for the California commission here to negotiate on behalf of their State, it was stated that there is present a feeling of harmony within the commission such as has not existed before. The same is said to apply to other commissions.

From official sources it was reported that Arizona and California are not more than between 200,000 to 500,000 acre feet apart on their estimates of how much water each ought to receive.

WILBUR SAYS FUTURE OF WEST AT STAKE

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 24. (Exclusive)—The future of the West rests upon the shoulders of Colorado River conferees now in session at Reno, Secretary of the Interior Wilbur told students of the university in an assembly hall address today.

"Water supply," he said, "is the determining factor in the population and wealth of that great semi-arid area in the Southwest. Therefore, the Boulder Dam project is tremendously vital."

Political considerations, the Secretary averred, must be relegated to the background if general good is to result.

"To accomplish our ends there," he said in this respect, "we are faced with the problem of co-ordinating artificial political units with natural laws. Politicians striving for re-election and at conflict in their views are using the Boulder Dam project as a lever."

Development of the Owens River water project by the city of Los Angeles is a case proving the necessity of water to stable growth, he pointed out, saying the water table of the West also is a most accurate gauge of our financial strength.

BOW LEG OPERATION HELD MALPRACTISE

CHICAGO, Jan. 24. (AP)—Dr. Henry J. Schireson, who styled himself "the greatest plastic surgeon in the world," was threatened with revocation of his license today. He was found guilty yesterday by the Illinois State Medical Committee on charges of fraud, gross malpractice and character unbecoming a physician.

The charges against Schireson were brought by Miss Sadye Holland, who said the plastic surgeon performed an operation to straighten her bow legs. This operation, she charged, later necessitated the amputation of both legs.

PAJARO VALLEY RIOTS QUELLED

Close Guard Maintained to Prevent New Clashes

Unusual Number of Filipinos Seen on Streets

Commissioner for Islands Protests to Congress

WATSONVILLE, Jan. 24. (AP)—The Pajaro Valley, scene of numerous clashes this week between white residents and Filipino laborers, was quiet last night and today, but official watchfulness continued, fearful of a resumption of rioting.

Three of the seven white men jailed yesterday on rioting complaints are additionally charged today with assault with deadly weapons with intent to commit robbery. They are R. Smith, George Sha and Ted Spanger. All previously had denied that they carried firearms in their visits Wednesday night to three ranches near here seeking a Filipino Smith said had insulted a white girl of his acquaintance.

WHITE YOUTH STABBED

Jesus Tabaso swore to the complaints of assault against the three men. All three were still in jail today at Salinas, as was Ramon Dayis, arrested yesterday with the others on the rioting charges. Charles Morrison and Fred Majors, the others charged with rioting, are at liberty on $2000 bond each.

Alfred Johnson, 22 years of age, white, was stabbed last night during a series of street fights in San Jose, in which four Filipinos were beaten. His condition today was serious.

In Washington, D. C., Resident Philippines Commissioner Pedro Guevara announced on the floor of the House of Representatives that he had been assured by Gov. Young of California that the situation here was well in hand, but he protested that "the lives of the 10,000 to 20,000 Filipino workers on the west coast are in daily danger."

GIRLS CAUSE RIOTS

Many Filipinos than usual were to be seen today on the streets of Watsonville, but reports that more of them had come to town from the Lower San Joaquin Valley, from the Imperial Valley and elsewhere, could not be confirmed.

The cause of the rioting this week was social—the employment of white girls as dancing partners at the Filipino Social Club at Palm Beach, near here, starting the disorders. The president of the club announced today that the clubhouse had been closed and will remain closed until the present situation passes. The white girls still were living at the clubhouse today with their matron, but the Filipino spokesman said they will not be re-engaged as entertainers. Filipino or Mexican girls will be hired instead, he explained.

INDEPENDENCE HELD TO BE ONLY CURE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. (AP)—Pedro Guevara, Philippine resident commissioner, said on the floor of the House today that clashes between Filipinos and Americans in California proved "that Filipino-American relations under the same flag are on a false basis, for which the only cure is Philippine independence."

"If similar mobbing and killing of Americans occurred in the Philippines," Guevara added, "there is no doubt the American government would send battleships and armies to meet the situation. The Philippines cannot do the same for obvious reasons."

He asserted that while "we are under the American flag we feel entitled to come here and engage in the same kind of work in which Americans engage, and we will expect the fullest protection of American law."

Guevara told Congressmen he would be the last to encourage Filipino immigration to the United States, saying it is his personal belief the Filipino would be better off at home.

"They are lured to this country by promise of many magnificent things they will see," said the commissioner. "For a time the illusion of living in a perfect country lasts under the influence of their novel situation, but it is invariably followed by keen disappointment bred in their inability to secure race equality.

"All of these things—mobbings, inadequate recognition for Filipinos from labor unions, incompatability of our commercial interests and race prejudices go to show that the only way of solving this troublesome Philippine question is to grant us our independence."

FILIPINO AGENT HERE FLIES TO SCENE

Apolinar Velasco, secretary of the Filipino Protective Association, left Los Angeles yesterday by airplane for Watsonville to make a full investigation of the riots there.

Mr. Velasco, who helped to settle the recent labor disputes between Filipino and white laborers at Exeter, said that the riots at Watsonville were caused by transient laborers "who do not represent the best type of American citizen" and voiced the opinion that the trouble will not become widespread.

MASS MEETING CALLED TO CONSIDER PROBLEM

With a view of adopting means of preventing recurrences of the recent clashes between Filipinos and the citizens of Watsonville, a mass meeting to which the public is invited will be held at 1 p.m. tomorrow at 223½ South Main street, under sponsorship of the Philippine Chamber of Commerce, it was announced yesterday by M. E. Hansen, secretary. It is the desire of the chamber, according to a statement issued by Hansen, to seek a solution of what it regards as an "unhappy economic problem."

CONIVANCE CHARGED TO CITY OFFICIALS

MANILA (P. I.) Jan. 24. (AP)—A charge that authorities of Watsonville, Cal., had connived with rioters who attacked Filipino laborers there this week, was contained in a cablegram received today by Representative Francisco Varona, prominent labor leader of the Philippine Islands. The cablegram was signed by Secretary Tagle of the Filipino Community League of Salinas, Cal.

Tagle said in the message that Watsonville city authorities knew of the intended attacks at least two weeks before they occurred, but did nothing to prevent trouble.

Political leaders here are finding in the Watsonville difficulties a new argument for intensification of the independence movement.

Below is Justice of the Peace Rohrback, whose anti-Filipino resolution introduced before the Chamber of Commerce at Pajaro is credited with having led to the recent clashes.

MAROONED SICK CHILD WILL LIVE

Doctor Who Went by Air to Ice-Locked Patient Lauds Skill of Portland Pilot

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 24. (AP)—Dr. Ernest L. Boylen, local physician who yesterday braved the dangers of a night flight from here to ice-locked Puget Island in the middle of the Columbia River eighty miles west of this city, to give medical attention to 9-year-old June McGilvray, seriously ill with pneumonia, returned to his offices here late today with the announcement that the girl will live.

The physician was reticent as to his share in the daring mission but was voluble in his praise for Pilot Tex Rankin's skillful landing of the tiny, ski-equipped plane in a small tree-hemmed field on the north shore of the island.

Receiver Asked for Operators of Fox Theaters

SEATTLE, Jan. 24. (AP)—A receiver for the Pacific-Northwest Theaters, Inc., operators of Fox motion-picture houses in a number of Pacific Coast cities, was asked in Superior Court here today by the C. S. Jensen Investment Company of Portland, Or., and Mrs. Mary G. Von Herberg of Seattle. The West Coast Theaters, Inc., was named co-defendant. Theaters in Washington, Oregon and Montana are involved in the proceedings.

The plaintiffs, who claim to hold 2500 shares, or the entire issue of the Pacific-Northwest Theaters, Inc., 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock, contended they were being deprived of dividends because of asserted mismanagement, excessive salaries and overhead assessed against the corporation. They say their stock is being rendered valueless.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24. (AP)—Antone Parmagini, asserted "King of Dope Peddlers" on the Pacific Coast, and his asserted aide, William Levin, were sentenced to thirty-two years in Federal prison by United States District Judge St. Sure here today.

Each also was fined $24,000.

VETERANS PAY TRIBUTE TO EVANS

Harrison Gray Otis Post Confers Honorary Medal on Representative

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. (Exclusive)—The first and only honorary membership medal ever given by the Harrison Gray Otis Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, of Los Angeles, was presented tonight to Representative Evans of Glendale for services to veterans, at the annual gathering of the Washington division here tonight.

The presentation was made before the six posts of the Washington district organization by the Robert E. Peary Post, a naval unit, at the request of the Otis Post in Los Angeles.

Few such honors have been conferred upon nonveteran honorary members of the organization. Following the presentation Mr. Evans made an impromptu address to the several hundred veterans gathered in the auditorium of the national press building for their annual meeting. He said that in his Congressional service he had personally handled more than 1400 veterans' claims, of which more than 800 already had been passed on by Congress.

He closed his speech by telling of his fight to appoint a handless war veteran to the postmastership at Bell, a Los Angeles suburb.

Navy Dirigible in Double Test

PARRIS ISLAND (S. C.) Jan. 24. (AP)—The navy dirigible Los Angeles late today completed a twenty-four-hour flight from Lakehurst, N. J., to the Marine Corps base here, with a successful mooring to a new seventy-five-foot mast recently erected here by naval engineers.

The flight was intended primarily as a test for the new mooring mast and for a ground crew which had been trained here.

HELL-BENT SINNER MERELY SICK

New Dogma Puts Backslider in Ailing Class and Brings Necessity for Preacher Who Can Give Proper Diagnosis to Aid Cure

CHICAGO, Jan. 24. (AP)—What used to be hell now may be merely tonsilitis, Dean Shailer Matthews of the University of Chicago said today.

Diagnosis, as an essential of the ministry, was launched today by the divinity school of the University of Chicago and the paths of science and religion have been drawn closer.

The announcement of this change in the trend of ministerial training was made by Dean Shailer Matthews at the opening of a course of lectures sponsored by the school and delivered by noted exponents of the theory of psychiatry in religion.

The minister of the future, Dean Matthews said, must fill something of the place of the country doctor or the general practitioner of medicine. He must give over "scaring people" into being good and substitute for threats of hell fire an intelligent knowledge of what is psychologically or pathologically wrong with his parishioner-patient, so that the patient may be sent to the proper specialist for cure.

"It amounts to the establishment of clinics of specialists in connection with the ministry," Dean Matthews explained. "Religious workers can do and have done a great deal of wrong by using wrong physchological methods. It seems wrong to me, for instance, to frighten people still with threats of hell when their 'sinfulness' may only be a case of bad tonsils."

If the curing of sick souls is the purpose of religion, Dr. Matthews said, the minister must have some scientific knowledge of how sick minds and sick bodies create sickness in the soul. This theory, he said, will be adopted in the course of the university divinity school.

STATE HELP CALLED FOR BY CHICAGO

Council Asks Special Session of Legislature in Financial Crisis

CHICAGO, Jan. 24. (AP)—The Chicago City Council today voted to ask Gov. Emmerson to call a special session of the Legislature in an effort to rescue the city from financial chaos.

A resolution passed by the Council directs the Finance Committee to request that the General Assembly be called to consider "consolidation, unification and reorganization of the various local governing and taxing bodies within the city of Chicago in the interest of efficiency and economy, in so far as the same may be possible under the provisions of the present State constitution."

The ordinance and judiciary committees of the Council were instructed to draft for consideration of the Assembly legislation which will enable the collection of general taxes at or near the close of the calendar year for which such taxes are levied.

To avoid what he termed "a state of chaos," Mayor Thompson late today announced he would give up his fight with the City Council over the "economy budget."

More than 40,000 employees of the city, county and school board now are in arrears in pay. Banks have refused to lend the authorities further cash because they doubt the legality of tax-anticipation warrants offered as security.

The County Commissioners, without a cent of money to spend for twenty months, bestowed what they regarded as the most practical blessing upon employees by voting to pay salaries semimonthly in tax-anticipation warrants.

MR. BUTT SAYS SUIT SUITS HIM

"It's O.K." He Replies, When Told That Wife Had Filed Annulment Action

HONOLULU, Jan. 24. (AP)—Wilfred Lawson Butt, apprised here tonight that his wife, Mrs. Eugenia Bankhead Hoyt Butt, had filed an action against him in Reno, seeking annulment of their marriage, said: "It's O. K."

He denied his wife's reputed assertion that he had tried to take her forcibly off the steamer when she left him here to return to the mainland. He asserted he had bought her a ticket and left her on the steamer.

"I like Hawaii and will spend my time here surf riding until I get work," he said. Butt told reporters the divorce decree which freed him from a former wife was effective the 18th inst. It was on a charge of "too many marriages" that Mrs. Butt filed her annulment action in Reno today.

Butt understood, he said, he could marry before the 18th inst. if he took the step somewhere other than in California. He said he had not heard from his attorney, Sam Crawford of Santa Monica, Cal., relative to the annulment action, which he said he would not contest.

Blasphemy Law Abolition Moved

LONDON, Jan. 24. (Exclusive)—A proposal to abolish an old English blue law occupied the House of Commons today when Ernest Thurtle, Laborite, moved for a second reading of the blasphemy laws bill abolishing criminal proceedings for schism, heresy, blasphemy, blasphemous libel and atheism. The present blasphemy statute dates from the time of William III.

The Bishop of Birmingham would be put behind the bars if the law were enforced today, Mr. Thurtle stated in moving for abolition.

Albania Revolt Not Confirmed

BELGRADE (Jugo-Slavia) Jan. 24. (AP)—The Albanian frontier has been closed for several days, making impossible close investigation of reports of existence of a revolt against King Zogu in parts of that country.

Albanian circles in Serbia, however, declare rumors of a subversive movement there are without foundation.

BRITISH WIZARD SENT TO PRISON

Clarence Hatry Sentenced to Fourteen Years

Associates in Fraud Deals Also Given Terms

Millions Involved in Great Stock Debacle

LONDON, Jan. 24. (AP)—Clarence Hatry, for many years head of the widespread Hatry interests, was sentenced to fourteen years penal servitude at the Old Bailey Court today and an additional five years on charges of defrauding.

Hatry also was sentenced to two years on a charge of conspiracy, all sentences to run concurrently.

Edmund Daniels, codefendant with Hatry, was sentenced to seven years' penal servitude and five year to run concurrently, and also two years on annother count and a further five years on a second indictment, all to run concurrently.

Albert E. Tabor, a second codefendant, was sentenced to two periods of three years to run concurrently and also a further two years at hard labor also to run concurrently.

John Graham Dixon, the third codefendant, received five years of penal servitude and two years at hard labor as well as a further period of five years penal servitude all to run concurrently.

SURPRISING MOVE

Hatry, Daniels and Dixon today had entered pleas of guilty on all counts except the conspiracy charges. They had previously entered a not guilty plea but decided to follow a new course today. Tabor pledaed not guilty to charges against him.

The development was most surprising to those close to the trial. The four men were on trial for asserted frauds involving nearly £2,000,000 (about $10,000,000.)

The financial collapse of the Hatry companies several months ago, which was serious enough to depress the entire market in London and have its repercussions even as far away as New York, reawakened public interest in the hectic career of the promoter.

His first stroke which brought him notice in the financial district was when he bought and reorganized the City Equitable Fire Insurance Company in a deal that involved something like $1,000,000. He was only 25 years of age at the time and only a few years before he had been an obscure clerk in an insurance office.

RAPID RISE

By the time he was 30 he had established a reputation as a brilliant financier and was particularly active in the post-war boom, one of his most important deals being the acquisition of the Commercial Bank of London. The bank was given a new name and was used as a base for the negotiation of other deals involving more than $150,000,000.

In 1924 the boom came to an end and one of Hatry's industries wound up with a loss of about $15,000,000. Hatry soon came back, however, and resumed his promotion work with success. Early in 1929 he was in such a strong position financially that he was able to acquire the Steel Industries of Great Britain, Ltd., with a capitalization of $40,000,000.

Last fall the Hatry companies crashed on the stock exchange and Hatry soon after was arrested on charges of stock frauds, he and several codefendants being accused of financial frauds involving nearly $10,000,000. Their trial opened several days ago and until today had been filled with accountants' testimony involving fabulous sums and indicating the colossal financial structure which Hatry had reared.

WIDOW OF CELEBRATED AUTHOR DIES

End Comes to Relict of Anatole France at Villa Where He Worked

PARIS, Jan. 24. (AP)—Mme. Anatole France, widow of the celebrated author, died today.

Death occurred at the Villa Said on Bois de Boulogne, scene of the mostmost brilliant years of France's career.

She was born Emma Leprevotte, a native of Alsace and lived in St. Louis, Mo., with her parents from the time she was 10 until she was 22 years of age. Members of her family still live in Los Angeles.

She always retained her interest in things American and a few years ago joined the National Women's party championing the cause of French suffrage. For many years before she married France in 1920 she was governess and housekeeper in his home.

France, whose real name was Jacques Anatole Thibault, was 76 at the time of his marriage.

DRY TRANSFER HEARING TO END

Mrs. Willebrandt Invited to Testify Tuesday

May be Last Witness Before House Committee

Court Bills Attacked as Unconstitutional

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. (AP)—An invitation was extended tonight to Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former assistant Attorney-General, to testify Tuesday before the House Expenditures Committee on the Williamson bill to transfer the prohibition bureau from the Treasury to the Justice Department.

MABEL WALKER WILLEBRANDT

Chairman Williamson of the committee sent the invitation after the committee had overridden him by a vote of 8 to 7 on a motion by Representative Schafer, Republican, Wisconsin. Her testimony is expected by Williamson to conclude the hearings on this legislation recommended by President Hoover and the Law Enforcement Commission.

The decision to invite Mrs. Willebrandt came after Schafer had charged that Williamson was applying the "gag rule" and "steamroller methods" in the hearings. Earlier, the committee had debated and rejected a motion of Representative Cochran, Democrat, Missouri, to broaden the hearings to inquire into all phases of prohibition enforcement.

BILLS ATTACKED

During these developments the House Judiciary Subcommittee considering the Christopherson bills to broaden the powers of the United States Commissioners to handle petty violations of the liquor laws heard Jesse C. Duke, a Washington lawyer, attack the proposed legislation as unconstitutional.

An explanation of the Christopherson measures, which also were recommended by the National Law Enforcement Commission to relieve the congestion in Federal courts was made in the House by Representative Stobbs, Republican, Massachusetts, a member of the Judiciary Committee. He declared that there is no proposal whatever to deprive the people of their constitutional rights to a trial by a jury.

Prohibition Commissioner Doran revealed today that the authorities charged with responsibility for enforcement had an understanding with real estate boards in various cities looking toward clearing up confusion caused by padlocking procedures.

The Washington Real Estate Board announced yesterday a policy of co-operation with Dist.-Atty. Rover here to detect bootlegging establishments, with a view to ousting those found guilty of violating the law from properties they are using. Doran approved this step.

PAC TEXPLAINED

The commissioner, who did not name the cities in which the boards mentioned by him are situated, said the understanding provides that property owners and realty dealers exercise "care and diligence with respect to leasing to property to tenants," and, in return, dry officials "will bring to the attention of the owners and dealers instances of law violation before launching proceedings with a view to padlocking the premises."

Officials of the local real estate board today said its action was intended solely to protect realty men and their clients from "the effect of bootlegging operations" and from "the serious consequences of padlocking."

PUBLIC DOMAIN PLAN APPROVED

House Passes Colton Bill for Conservation Study

Vote by Other Legislative Branch Now Awaited

Oregonians Decide on Close Scrutiny for Proposal

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. (AP)—After two days of bitter debate the House today passed the Colton bill authorizing President Hoover to appoint a commission of twenty-five to study the conservation of the 187,000,000 acres of public domain. The measure now goes to the Senate, 241 to 106 votes having approved it in the House.

The legislation, which was requested by the President, was opposed by many Democrats on the ground that the commission is unnecessary and that the regular House Public Lands Committee should handle the problem.

AMENDMENT MADE

The measure was amended to require the commission to submit a report to Congress by the first Monday of next December. It also would authorize the expenditure of $50,000 for the expenses of the commission, the members to serve without compensation.

Governors of the eleven States in which the public domain is located each would appoint one member to the group and President Hoover would name the remainder. A nucleus for the commission already has been selected by the Chief Executive.

PRESIDENTIAL AIM

President Hoover and Secretary Wilbur desire the commission to determine whether the surface rights of the public domain should be turned over to the respective States for administration.

Representative Colton, Republican, Utah, chairman of the House Public Lands Committee, contended the commission is necessary to ascertain information on overgrazing and other misuse of the lands by cattle and sheep men and squatters.

COURSE OUTLINED AT PORTLAND MEETING

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 24. (AP)—An exhaustive study of President Hoover's plan to turn over to the State great tracts of Federal land, but retaining for the government timber, oil and mineral rights, will be undertaken by a committee to be appointed by Gov. Norblad.

This decision was reached at a conference here by prominent bankers, educators, foresters, agriculturists, publishers and business men, who were called together by the Governor to discuss the effect of the proposed gift.

Questions raised at the meeting indicated considerable opposition to the plan.

Liquor Running Laid to Grund

DETROIT, Jan. 24. (AP)—A statement that Walter Grund, 27 years of age, was attempting to land a cargo of beer at a wharf in the down river suburb when shot by a customs border patrol inspector Wednesday night was said today to have been obtained by Federal agents from the man who was accompanying Grund in a rowboat on the Detroit River.

The man, Roy Fountain of Detroit, was arrested by a special investigator for the border patrol when he appeared at the Wyandotte General Hospital last night and offered himself for a blood transfusion to save Grund's life.

Fountain was allowed to give the blood and after the operation made his statement to Federal authorities. He subsequently was released.

CHINESE JAIL BRITON FOR AUTO DEATH

Arrest of Navy Man When Car Kills Coolie Held Test of New Policy

HANKOW (China) Jan. 24. (AP)—The arrest today of a British naval officer whose automobile killed a Chinese coolie may result in a test of the Nationalist government's decree of December 28 abolishing extraterritoriality in China.

Upon representation of the Chinese Mayor to the Chinese police, coupled with the written guarantee of the British Consul assuring the naval officer's appearance for investigation before Chinese officials, the officer was released.

Chinese police said that they were "acting upon specific instructions from Nanking (capital of China,) saying that all foreigners under Chinese jurisdiction will be tried in Chinese courts."

The British officer was driving the automobile this afternoon when it struck a coolie laborer, who died soon afterward. The Chinese authorities arrested the Britisher, placed him in a Chinese jail and for a time refused British consular representations that he be freed.

Birth Rate of Britain Lowest of All World

LONDON, Jan. 24. (AP)—The birth rate in England and Wales last year was the lowest on record—16.3 per thousand. In 1920, admittedly an abnormal year, the rate was 25.5 and in 1918, the last of the war, 17.7.

The death rate increased from 11.7 to 13.7, so that England and Wales have nearly reached the stage where the number of deaths equals the number of births. The increase in the number of deaths is attributed to the influenza epidemic of last spring and to an unusually severe winter.

Britain now is at the bottom of the world's list of birth-rate percentages. Spain is highest with 29 per thousand; Italy next with 27; Canada third with 24; Holland fourth with 23; Austria fifth with 22; Denmark sixth with 21; Australia seventh with 20; the United States eighth with 19. Next to Britain, France has the lowest rate—18 per thousand.

Library Funds for Blind Asked

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. (Exclusive)—Two bills to provide for additional reading facilities for the blind came before Congress today when Representative Crail of Los Angeles and Mrs. Pratt of New York introduced bills allocating $100,000 and $75,000, respectively, for libraries for the sightless.

The Crail measure grants $100,000 annually to the Braille Institute of Los Angeles, a nonprofit organization for the dissemination of reading matter to the blind.

Mrs. Pratt's measure allocates $75,000 a year to the Library of Congress for additional lending libraries, distributed through local libraries of literature for the blind.

NEW TAXATION PLAN OFFERED

Real Estate Convention Gets Relief Suggestions

Abolition of Constitutional Requirements Urged

Full Value Assessments in All Cases Favored

BY ROSS GRANT
"Times" Staff Representative

PHOENIX, Jan. 24. (Exclusive)—Proposing a plan looking toward a simple system of taxation, under which the tax burdens, national, State and local, would be precisely calculated and equitably distributed, Prof. Simeon E. Leland, of the University of Chicago, and tax consultant to the National Association of Real Estate Boards, today struck the keynote of the annual mid-winter meeting of the association.

"The first task of any organization of property owners," Mr. Leland declared, "should be to rescue one third of the States from their compulsory observance of the venerable property tax. This organization should take a definite stand for more liberal constitutional requirements relative to taxation. Indeed, it might even go so far as to suggest the abolition of all constitutional requirements relative to taxation after investigation of the adequacy of the guarantee provided under the Federal constitution and under the common law.

TWO OBJECTIVES

"Amendment of State constitutions is imperative if many States are to have any fundamental tax reform.

"Full value assessments in every jurisdiction in which property taxes are employed is a second proper objective for property owners.

"Assessments throughout the country should be placed upon a full value basis in the interest of equal treatment for all taxpayers and in the interest of increasing the degree of control which taxpayers may have over tax levies. Under a system of illegal under-valuation, taxes may be increased by raising the standard of assessments. But if assessments represent actual values, taxpayers can more strategically control government costs.

"Most jurisdictions by law now require assessments to be made in full, fair or cash value, but in no jurisdiction have assessments attained this standard.

PUBLIC WASTE HIT

"Where scientific or appraisal systems for the assessment of property have been adopted, realtors have played an important part in their success. The National Association of Real Estate Boards, is, therefore, in a position to campaign for property assessments and the professionalizing of tax valuations in all assessment offices.

"All taxpayers should insist upon the complete elimination of graft, 'payrolling,' and 'soldering' in public service.

"There is need for a careful study of existing exemptions and a re-examination of the theories upon which exemptions have been granted.

"In the long run, all taxpayers will be benefited more by a constructive fiscal program than by a plan to whittle down governmental costs. Much waste and inefficiency can be eliminated in public expenditures. Private organizations devoted to the watching of public expenditures have frequently been productive of good results. But the normal growth of government and socially desirable programs, must not be obstructed merely because these activities involve additional costs. The balance between new functions and added costs must be determined on the basis of the utility of the new service relative to costs."

Sudden Storm Forces Arctic Patrol to Land

BEACH (N. D.) Jan. 24. (AP)—A sudden blizzard whooping across the Dakota prairies halted the eastward flight of the army arctic patrol today, forcing the sixteen pursuit ships which left Miles City, Mont., this morning to land three miles east of here.

One flyer, Lieut. E. K. Warburton, was cut in the head and his ship was badly damaged in landing. Lieut. Warburton's wounds required several stitches but he was not seriously hurt.

Leaving Miles City under favorable weather conditions, the arctic flyers encountered bad weather before reaching the Dakota line. Entering North Dakota in the face of the snowstorm, which was driven by a forty-mile wind, the aviators decided not to attempt a flight across the bad lands, approximately forty miles of the roughest country in the State.

Seven Injured in Taxi Riots

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 24. (AP)—Seven men were injured today in fights resulting from a strike of taxicab drivers that has tied up cab service here for the past twelve days.

Police answered several riot calls this morning and broke up clashes between strike sympathizers and men who came here from outside the city to obtain employment. A group of twenty-five men on their way from the Pennsylvania Railroad station to a cab company garage were stoned as they marched through the downtown district. A window in a bank building was broken. The injured men were taken to hospitals. Some of them were stabbed.

ATOM SITS FOR PHOTOGRAPH

Last Division of Matter Shown by Scotch Savant; Electron Spider-like, He Declares

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 24. (AP)—An electron—the tiniest unit of matter known to the physical world—sat for an enlarged portrait last night in Franklin Institute. The demonstration, given by Prof. G. P. Thomson of the University of Aberdeen, Scotland, before scientists, showed the smallest of all known units not only to be a particle of which every atom is made up but also a spider-like net of electrical waves which can expand many times. In its spider state it was revealed as a powerful agent for transforming the general conception of space and substance.

The scientist obtained his results by the combined use of X-ray and the latest radio tubes. On a vacuum tube provided with a cathode pole emitting electrons and sealed at the opposite end with films of metal that could be changed at will, he sealed another tube to which was attached a photographic plate.

When the electrons pierced the thin metal films into the plate chamber they were reflected according to the structural nature of the metal through which they passed. By microscopic measurements of the impressions they made on the photographic plates Dr. Thomson said he was able to tell exactly what sort of metal it was through which they passed and the amount of alloy, if any, in it.

By bouncing the electrons off another piece of metal outside the metal film, he said, he found how to determine the nature of the outside surface of these metals for use in his study of catalyzers. The electrons dug into the metal for a microscopic distance and then flew out onto the electric plate. The patter there, he said, told him the story of their brief dip into the coatings of the metal bars.

Dr. Thomson described the electron when free from atomic constraint and traveling through unhampered space as assuming a form roughly conforming to the body of a spider with electric tentacles and legs stretching out in every direction. Whenever one of the electric tentacles struck an object it diverted the course of the electron, he found, but the electron continued to move forward with apparently undiminished velocity. Yet back in the atom an electron drew in these tentacles and became chiefly body, like a dead or unconscious spider.

Experiments, conducted by the scientist first at the University of Aberdeen and continued at Cornell University, proved conclusively, Dr. Thomson said, that the orthodox physicist's view of electrons merely as particles will have to be abandoned.

TAPIA SUPPORTS NEW LABOR LAW

Mexican Executive Asserts Capital Protected

Foreign Investors Told to Obey Government

Governor's Policies Revealed at Mexicali Banquet

MEXICALI, Jan. 24. (Exclusive)—"Mexico needs foreign capital to develop its resources and provide employment for its people but it can extend protection only to those who are willing to comply with its laws," said Gov. Tapia during an address delivered last evening to 1500 of his friends and political supporters who gathered at a banquet in his honor. The newly appointed executive of the northern district of Lower California made this dinner the occasion for a detailed announcement of the policies which will be enforced during his administration.

Referring to the new labor law which is now being drafted, Tapia asserted that it is much less radical in its provisions than Americans have been lead to believe.

"It is being designed to give the worker adequate pay, protection against injury and schools for his children," Tapia said. "We are not short-sighted enough to believe that labor can profit at the expense of capital. Both interests must be protected and it is the policy of the Federal government to see that they are protected. Mexico has unlimited resources, but it lacks capital and will extend a welcome to investors who will come here and accept Mexican laws as their legal guide."

STUDENT FLYER KILLED IN FALL

Robert Glenn Dies in Plane Crash at Imperial

Emerson T. Showell, County Airport Instructor, Hurt

Latter Unconscious, Unable to Explain Flat Spin

IMPERIAL, Jan. 24. — Robert Glenn, student flyer, 23 years of age, of La Mesa, was killed instantly and Emerson T. Showell, instructor at the Imperial county airport here, was seriously injured when the Travelair plane in which they were flying went into a flat spin and crashed into a field a half-mile southeast of the port at 10:15 a.m. today.

Showell was unconscious when lifted from the wreckage and rushed to El Centro Hospital. He has not recovered sufficiently to explain the cause of the accident. He formerly was radio instructor at an air training school in San Diego and came here three weeks ago to operate a taxi and instruction service. He carried a Department of Commerce license.

Witnesses stated that the plane was banking at an elevation of about 700 feet when it began to drop, spinning in a wide circle as it came down.

City to Pay for Bridcott Return From Honolulu

SOUTH GATE, Jan. 24.—Funds for the return of Frank C. Bridcott, ex-Chief of Police of this city, who was arrested in Honolulu, a few days ago, will be furnished by the city of South Gate, this action having been taken at an adjourned meeting of the City Council. It is stated that an officer from Los Angeles will be detailed, probably by the District Attorney's office to go after the man, and he may sail tomorrow. Bridcott, with a number of other officers, was dismissed from police service here, after irregularities in the finances of the department were said to have been discovered.

Earl Cunningham, former Chief of Police of this city, who was suspended, after a charge of embezzlement had been placed against him, was found not guilty by a jury in one of the Los Angeles courts this week, and he has been restored to duty here as a captain of police.

Druggist Files Damage Action

REDLANDS, Jan. 24.—Miles V. Harnly, druggist, today filed a suit for $6550 damages against the Pacific Leaseholders' Corporation charging that much loss in his business as a result of failure of the company to adhere to the terms of the lease he had on the building at State and Orange streets regarding remodeling.

The complaint asserts that Harnly leased the premises from the defendant December 15, 1928, for a ten-year period and that the defendant promised not later than July 1, 1929, to alter and improve the building.

The premises are unfit and inadequate for the plaintiff's business and the physical condition of the building is such that it destroys the confidence of patrons and endangers their safety, the complaint asserts.

Damages of $7500 and the additional sum of $1050 for rent advanced are asked by the plaintiff, who is represented by Attorney Bruce G. Sebille of Redlands.

Hospital Plans Meet Opposition

PASADENA, Jan. 24.—Opposition to the proposal that the Pasadena Hospital take over the work of the Emergency Hospital developed today as city officials expressed the opinion that "public opinion never will permit the abolition of a city-owned and operated first-aid station." R. L. Daugherty, chairman of the Board of City Directors, asserted that he is not in favor of any radical action in the matter.

"I think the Emergency Hospital should continue, but with proper facilities and arrangements," he asserted.

"I do not believe that the proposed merger with the Pasadena Hospital would be favored by a majority of the taxpayers."

Girl-Wife, Scheduled to Appear for Trial With Her Husband on Check Charge, Now in Hospital

GLENDALE, Jan. 24.—Mrs. R. E. King, 17 years of age, will be unable to take her place in court to face a charge of issuing a fictitious check, with which she is charged jointly with her husband, who appeared in court today. Mrs. King is now in the Queen of the Angels Hospital in Los Angeles, where, her husband told Judge F. H. Lowe, she is anticipating a visit from the stork. King and his wife are asserted to have passed a $20 check on a local market without having funds to cover it.

The check, according to the complaint, had been written by the woman and indorsed by King. Detective Lieutenant Charles P. Blake, who brought King here from the County Jail, states that he has also been bound over from Whittier to the Superior Court on a bad-check charge.

Judge Lowe held King in $1000 bond to appear for trial on the 29th inst.

NECKERS LOOK LIKE THIEVES TO GUARDIAN

UPLAND, Jan. 24.—L. Chavez, watchman at the A. H. Bridge ranch in Alta Loma, informed Chief of Police J. F. Sawyer that it is hard to tell a necking party from orange thieves at night. Consequently when he saw such a party in an automobile near the groves he was ordered to guard, he approached for investigation. The party fled and Chavez is asserted to have fired a revolver three times to halt them. They kept going and Chavez pursued. The police station was the end of the trail and there an Upland young man and an Ontario young woman said they were merely counting stars when Chavez "butted in." The molested pair said they would take no action against the watchman.

WIFE GIVEN LION'S SHARE

Woman So Successfully Defends Herself Against Suit for Divorce, Judge Awards Her All Property

SANTA ANA, Jan. 24.—Mrs. Della C. Reed of his city defended herself so successfully against the divorce suit brought against her by her husband, James O. Reed, that when Superior Judge James L. Allen decided the case late yesterday, he gave Mrs. Red the divorce decree, all the community property of the couple, custody of their three children and $125 a month alimony.

Reed, in bringing the action against against his wife, charged her with cruelty and complained of her behavior at a cafe operated by her niece at Huntington Beach. Mrs. Reed, it was said, had objected strenuously to the friendship between her husband and her niece.

Testimony introduced by Attorney O. W. Wettlin, counsel for Mrs. Reed, threw more light on matters to which Mrs. Reed had objected, and when the court decided the case, the wife had won all the issues in sight.

REVIVAL HINTED FOR ROSS FIELD

Arcadia Tract May Become Army Reserve School

Modern Structures Would Replace Old Barracks

City Opposes Use of Land for Private Business

ARCADIA, Jan. 24.—Establishment of a permanent United States Army reserve officers' training school on the 186-acre Ross Field tract is being considered seriously, it was learned here today from authoritative sources, following an inspection of the old balloon school property by War Department officials. Plans to raze all the old buildings at Ross Field are also under consideration.

Although official confirmation of the plans cannot be obtained until the inspectors submit their report at Washington, it is understood that following refusal of private applications of aircraft interests to use the field, and requests by the city and Los Angeles for return of the property for park purposes, the War Department has decided to eliminate fire hazards and erect modern structures for a permanent training school. The new barracks and two hangars constructed after the war at a cost of $120,000 each, would be maintained as the nucleus of the proposed reserve training unit.

The recent application of Roy Knabenshue and associates to lease the airfield was turned down by the local Chamber of Commerce and City Council because of the length of the proposed lease, twenty-five years.

For large airplanes, the runway is considered inadequate, and a new proposal is the acquisition of the eighty-six-acre Clara Baldwin Stocker property south of the field, and closing a segment of Huntington Drive to enlarge the landing facilities.

The Ross Field property was acquired from Mrs. Anita M. Baldwin during the World War. Los Angeles county contributing $80,000, and Mrs. Baldwin $50,000, toward the total cost of $140,000.

A slough near the Bolsa Chica Gun Club, four miles west of here, has been filled, and the work of paving is pushing along as fast as the fill is settled.

A twenty-foot strip of paving is being added on the highway, making a fifty-six-foot paved road. Through the populated section of the city there is an eighty-foot paved highway and the widening will be done east and west to this strip.

STATE CHAMBER'S PURPOSES OUTLINED

John L. Steinbarger

INGLEWOOD, Jan. 24. — The aims and purposes of the State Chamber of Commerce, formerly the California Development Association, were reviewed here today by John L. Steinbarger of this city, chairman of the public safety committee of the Southern California advisory board of the organization, in an address before the local Chamber of Commerce at its regular weekly meeting. Chief among the objectives of the State chamber brought out by Steinbarger were local market expansion through a more extensive consumption of California products, this being fostered by the publicity committee; agricultural promotion, chiefly the eradication of pests, by the agricultural committee.

Through the highways committee the State chamber has worked for adequate appropriations by the Legislature, and has also succeeded in bringing to fruition a long-cherished hope for better accommodations at points on the border where tourists must undergo inspection.

The restoration and maintenance of historical markers is another phase of the work of the highways committee, which is one of the most active in the organization, it was said.

Steinbarger briefly outlined the work being done by the aeronautics committee, which is devoting its efforts largely to the establishment of a plan for controlling aerial traffic, looking forward to the day when such a program will be immediately essential. The committee also works for the "greatest good for the greatest number" in the selection of airports, and uses its influence on the side of such proposed sites as will best serve the general public need.

A mineral survey is being worked for by the industrial committee, with special attention to facilities that will attract such industries as will be self-supporting, and an industrial economic research is also one of its main objectives. Industrial exhibits in the schools are fostered by this committee.

The establishment of a department of forestry in the State University is being worked for through the activities of the conservation committee.

FORTUNE TELLER BELIEVED

Woman Reports Jewel Robbery to Police and Later in Phone Message Seems Jubilant; Expecting Clews, Sleuths Disappointed at Her Information

GLENDALE, Jan. 24.—The latest wrinkle designed to improve the practice of the science of criminology was sprung on two local sleuths today in the course of their investigation of a jewel robbery. While Detective Sergeant Hegi and Officer Doty were puzzling themselves over the lack of clews in the theft of the jewels, the woman who suffered the loss in the robbery telephoned police headquarters with a jubilant note in her voice. Hegi and Doty jumped into a fast police car and sped out to the woman's home to learn what the good news meant.

The woman told them that she had crossed the palm of a fortune teller with the customary piece of silver and had been told that two men and a woman had been involved in the theft, but that they were worried about it now, and that the victim of the robbery was likely to get at least a part of her jewelry back any time.

The wizard failed to furnish any exact information as to the identity of the thieves and was generally vague about the whole affair, but the police are determined that the woman who lost the gems must not lose faith in the predictions of the fortune teller if they can help her out by arresting the thieves and recovering the loot.

POLLUTING SAND RESULTS IN FINE

Santa Barbara Justice Metes Punishment to Oil Men

Beaches Must Be Kept Free From Petroleum, He Says

Summerland Operators Told to Keep Wells in Repair

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 24.—Declaring it was not the court's purpose to inflict drastic punishment but to administer justice and make the oil operators around Summerland keep their wells in repair, Justice of the Peace Thomas Poole this morning fined Roscoe Ames, representative of George F. Getty, and C. L. Wright of the Lincoln Drilling Company $200 each for violation of the State law against beach pollution.

"This fine isn't just to collect money but it is to impress upon the officials of your company that we mean business in Santa Barbara county and are going to keep beaches free from oil and other pollution at all times," said the judge.

It was admitted in court that the wells of the Getty and Lincoln companies had not been in the best condition during the recent storm, and consequently the drains overflowed. Another complaint against the Seaside Company is pending.

All three of the actions were brought by Capt. S. H. Lyons of the district fish and game patrol, following an investigation of the field. Some companies were cited several months ago for being negligent with their wells. They cleaned up their properties at that time but the recent rains disclosed weaknesses in the drains and lack of provision to take care of overflows from sump holes, according to Lyons.

NO MEDAL AWARD TO BE MADE

Santa Barbara Legion in Answer to Declination By Citizen, States Position

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 24.—Decision to recommend that there be no award made of the Frederick Forrest Peabody Memorial Medal for the year 1929, was reached by the committee representing various clubs and organizations of the city last night. The medal is awarded each year to the citizen performing the most conspicuous community service for the year.

It was awarded to Attorney Francis Price for 1929 for his services in successfully defending Santa Barbara's rights to the flood waters of the Santa Ynez River. Price refused to accept the medal on the ground that he received compensation for his efforts in the water suit and also that the victory in the Superior Court here resulted from team work.

Dr. P. C. Means, chairman of the committee and Commander of the local post of the American Legion, last night sent the following letter to Price:

"The committee on award of the Legion Peabody Medal met again today to consider your letter of refusal.

"On motion made and seconded, it was voted that the committee appreciates the high-minded ideals prompting your action; that it still believes in the wisdom of its choice, but will accept your decision and that it will recommend that there be no award this year."

Woman Expects Alimony From Bootleg Profits

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 24.—Gloria Lucy, who won a court order for $75 a month alimony from Carl Lucy and who asked for more, had no hesitation in telling the court that she expected her payments to come out of bootleg profits.

"What does your husband do?" asked the court.

"Bootleg," was the reply, as prompt as it was short.

"What else does he do?" asked the court.

"Nothing," said Mrs. Lucy.

Mrs. Lucy in her divorce complaint now before the court asserts that her husband earned $500 a month from his "occupation." The complaint did not explain "occupation."

Lucy told the court he was an auto mechanic earning $35 a week.

Dr. Victor L. Duke

REDLANDS, Jan. 24.—The midyear meeting of the board of trustees of the University of Redlands has been called for Tuesday, next, by the president of the board, Mattison B. Jones of Los Angeles.

President Victor L. Duke will make a semiannual report of the work of the university concerning scholarship, discipline, changes in personnel and other matters. A detailed report of the work of the newly established offices of student adviser and of the director of publicity will be called for at this time.

This meeting will mark the completion of fifteen years of service in the presidency of the university by Dr. Duke. Coming to the college as professor of mathematics at the founding of the institution in 1909, he has served successively as professor, dean, treasurer and president, succeeding Dr. Jasper N. Field, founder and first president, on the latter's retirement in 1915.

Members of the board at present include Jones, Weymouth Crowell, D. K. Edwards, Mrs. Martin Bekins, all of Los Angeles; Roy L. Kent, Glendale; Judge J. H. Merriam, Pasadena; Dr. W. H. Geiswelt, San Diego; Judge J. W. Curtis, San Francisco, and S. L. Berkeley, Santa Monica.

Espy Victorious in Student Body Presidency Race

REDLANDS, Jan. 24.—Edwin Espy, popular senior at the University of Redlands, will be the president of the student body for the next semester. In the semiannual election he won over John Ackley, also a popular student and a distinguished forensics man.

Henry Belden, athletic star, won a position on the finance board of the student body, defeating Scott Everton. Miss Martha Logan was elected secretary of the student body, defeating Miss Betty Glass for that position.

Espy, president-elect, is the retiring president of the senior class, retiring president of the Interfraternity Council, past president of the University Y.M.C.A., and secretary of the Pacific-Southwest division of the National Student Y.M.C.A. He was a delegate to the national convention of that organization held in New Jersey last summer, and during his sophomore year was a delegate to the Detroit International Student Volunteer convention.

Winner of the recent extempore speaking contest for the universities and colleges of Southern California, he has been a member of the university debate squad all four years of his college experience. As chairman of the Redlands-in-Burma committee, his sophomore year, he distinguished himself as in his activities on the Honor Council for three years, and as student member of the finance board the last two years. Work in various student activities including editorial position on the Campus and Spectrum, and in dramatics, have earned for him memberships in four national honorary fraternities. He is a member of the Pi Chi Fraternity.

"FIXING" CASE GOES TO JURY

Fourteen Defendants' Fate May be Decided Soon

McNabb, Federal Attorney, Deplores Buck-Passing

Denounces Attempt to Shift Blame to American Legion

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 24.—The case of the fourteen defendants charged with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act, went to the jury at 4:10 p.m. today, following lengthy instructions from Judge Paul J. McCormick.

Arguments in the [illegible] case, as it has been generally known, were made before the jury in the United States District Court by Assistant McNabb, United States attorney, who opened the arguments with a statement that the case is based on a penal statute providing in effect that "where two or more individuals get together and plan to violate the law, a conspiracy exists regardless of lack of success of the plan."

The Federal indictment charges that the defendants conspired to supply liquor to delegates who attended the American Legion fish convention here last August.

McNabb declared the defense tried to shift responsibility to the American Legion. He said the "conspiracy plan" had its inception with local legionaires discussed the preceding convention held at Stockton. The delegates agreed that "Stockton put on a show," and that liquor supply purportedly available at the Stockton convention was also "good," he said. The case is unfortunate in that it assumed a political angle, McNabb commented in the course of his argument. He said it was a "monstrous proposition" that an outlegger should be led to think he has a protected monopoly to sell liquor to the convention [illegible].

He urged that testimony of Chief of Police Arthur Hill be accepted as true that the chief at no time consented to the plan. He denounced the "group" that allegedly tried to "intimidate" the jury. McNabb said he was convinced that Charles Mulock the "[illegible]" in the case, was a "remarkable witness" for having testified at such length without material variance under the crossfire of questions from defendants and defendants' attorneys.

The real culprits showed themselves in the hotel room when the Mayor was taken, the prosecutor stated. He added the prosecution had no evidence of what the Mayor did. "But the fact remains that liquor was not turned back" as was asserted "fixers."

Clive Wayland, one of the defendants, made an impassioned plea in his own behalf. Wayland charged the "real ones who shielded him" over a long period of years as a bootlegger," should have been at the bar but were not present. Wayland denied he tried to "fix" the chief. He merely asked the chief to make a drive on all bootleggers and not to protect Mahon, he declared.

Emanuel is Knocked Out in Second Round of Go

JIM MALONEY

Maloney started working on Emanuel's body at the poening bell but the Californian's rapid-fire left jab prevented him from scoring heavily. They clinched frequently during the opener and Emanuel often scored with his left after the break.

GIANT OF ITALY 'BUTCHERS' FOE

European Man Monument in Gala Unveiling

Louisianan No Match for Venetian Wonder

Bout Witnessed by 18,000 Howling Fanatics

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 24. (AP)—In the midst of tremendous excitement generated by 18,000 howling fanatics, Primo Carnera, the man monument from Italy, scored his first knockout in America, blasting one Big Boy Peterson from the picture in something less than half a round.

PRIMO CARNERA

After appropriate unveiling ceremonies, the 269-pound ambling Alp turned the party into a Roman holiday, smiting Peterson to the floor three times for assorted counts before finishing him in one minute and ten seconds of what was to have been a ten-round joust. With remarkable speed and the knowledge of what to do with it, Carnera dropped the startled westerner for tolls of three, eight and four before applying the right-hand quietus.

This Peterson stands six feet four himself and weighs 209 pounds, but as far as effectiveness was concerned he might just as well have tangled with a fast freight. The sum total of his attack consisted of two waves with the left hand that either brushed or came close enough to Carnera's head, looming six feet six inches above the deck, to be called direct hits.

PETERSON STARTLED

For the remainder of the abbreviated exhibition, Peterson, from his expression apparently very much startled at what was going on, was either rising, falling, or resting on the carpet. At the opening bell, Carnera broke from his corner and swept the Big Boy to the canvas with a short right to the head. A right sock sank the sacrifice for the eight toll, a right uppercut scored the third down and another long right, delivered decisively while Peterson's head was cocked in the best possible position by the Italian's left, finished the evening's entertainment.

While on the floor for the fourth time, still apparently amazed by it all, but determined to carry on the battle, Peterson smote himself lustily about the jaw with both hands in an effort to gather together his failing senses as he sat in the slag of his haunches, whether from his own punches or Carnera's sock, the Big Boy collapsed as he tried to make his feet at the count of ten and was carried away from there.

The brief appearance of Carnera, drawing a capacity house to the Garden, gave little line on his fighting ability, but established him securely as a showman of the first water. The big fellow, tremendous in his leg and chest development and without a surplus ounce on his body, danced neatly about the ring before and after and seemed perfectly willing to embrace everyone within reaching distance.

PUSH 'EM UP CARNERA

Carnera displayed a fast left hand that seemed to push, however, rather than snap and his right, swung with his terrible left behind it, was a most dangerous weapon despite its lack of finesse. At close quarters he tossed the bewildered Peterson around like an adagio dancer and hit him where and when he pleased.

It was all very exciting to the spectators, who stood in their chairs to cheer when Carnera was led in and then Peterson led out. The receipts totaled $67,263.

Tigers Invade Leopards' Court Tonight; Kienholz Changes Line-up

La Verne is favored to take the Occidental cagemen into camp tonight when the two teams clash at La Verne in a third-round basketball tilt of the 1930 Southern California Conference race. San Diego State and Caltech of Pasadena will tangle in the south in the only other game scheduled.

COACH ED. KIENHOLZ

Pomona, Redlands and Whittier all draw byes this week. Pomona's next foe is Oxy on February 8, while Redlands and Whittier tangle on that date also. The Bulldogs head the conference with a clean slate of three wins, and Pomona is also unbeaten with two triumphs.

Comparative scores are the basis for favoring the La Verne quintet over the visiting Tigers tonight. The league-leading Bulldogs drubbed the Tigers, 33-18, while in the recent La Verne-Redlands series of two games, one tilt went an extra five-minute period, and both results were in favor of Redlands by only five points.

FIELDS IN DECISIVE WIN

World's Welter King Easily Whips Vince Dundee in Ten-Rounder at Chicago Stadium

STADIUM, CHICAGO, Jan. 24. (AP)—Jackie Fields, world's welterweight champion, decisively defeated Vince Dundee in their ten-round battle tonight, flooring him four times in the third round.

Fields and Dundee set a dizzy pace during the first three rounds, starting off with a slugging toe-to-toe exchange in the first round with honors fairly even. Dundee smacked the champion with right crosses to the chin in the first, but in the second Fields made him retreat by continually charging and setting the pace.

JACKIE FIELDS.

They mixed it again furiously in the third with Fields flooring Dundee four times. He first upset Dundee for a count of eight with a right to the jaw. Dundee backed into the ropes and went down a second time from a left hook, taking another count of eight. Fields floored him the third time with a right to the jaw, Dundee taking the count of nine. Fields battered Dundee from one side of the ring to the other and finally knocked him down for the fourth time as the round ended.

By the time the fourth round opened much of the fight had been knocked out of the courageous Dundee. Fields chased him around the ring forcing him on the defensive. Then Dundee suddenly lashed out with a right swing that clipped Fields squarely on the chin, knocking him into the ropes.

Fields, however, came back strongly in the fifth and tried desperately for a knockout in the sixth. He gave the retreating Dundee an unmerciful leathering, ripping rights and lefts to the jaw with the Baltimore fighter in no condition to fight back.

Fields spurted out in front in the seventh and eighth, keeping Dundee in retreat. He draped Dundee over the ropes with an attack to the head in the seventh. In the

BITTO STOPS SHERIDAN IN HOLLYWOOD RING GO

Joe Bitto, former clown boxer who has changed his ways, won on a technical knockout in the eighth round over Homer (Poison) Sheridan of Iowa in the main event of the Hollywood Legion bouts last night.

Bitto, who is taking his battles seriously, won the fight when Sheridan failed to answer the bell for the start of the eighth. Homer's handlers claimed that an injury to the Iowan's leg, caused the baldpated battler to lose the struggle.

Nevertheless, Bitto won the first round by a wide margin. The second canto was even, with Joe taking the third by a shade. Sheridan made his best showing in the fourth and fifth, closing Bitto's left eye with hard head smashes. Bitto rallied in the sixth and almost put Homer away in the seventh, the bell saving him.

UNBEATEN BRUINS FACE FOES ON SHRINE FLOOR

Victory Over Trojans Will Put Westwood Tossers in Line for Southern Division Crown

BY BRAVEN DYER

There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight, particularly at the Shrine Auditorium, where basketball teams of U.C.L.A. and S.C. are slated to clash at 8 o'clock for the city championship.

Interest in the game is at such a high pitch that only 1000 tickets are available for the public. They are on sale tonight. Early comers will gobble these up and it appears that disappointed ducat seekers will have to fall back on the radio for their excitement.

FRANK LUBIN

U.C.L.A. is the only undefeated team in the southern division of the Coast conference. Stanford, California and S.C. have each lost two games. If the Bruins win tonight it will take a complete flop on their part during the remainder of the games if they are to lose the title.

EVEN TO DATE

Southern California and the Westwooders are all even in their basketball rivalry to date. In 1928 the Bruins won two of the three-game series. Last year Troy turned the tables.

The Bruins would like to slap the Trojans down rather handsomely tonight. U.C.L.A. rooters have cause to recall that 76-to-0 football defeat of last fall, and their wounded feelings would be considerably soothed should Troy take a real pasting.

CARDS HOPE FOR VICTORY OVER BEARS

Stanford Host to Foes on Palo Alto Court Tonight

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 24.—The cellar basketball title of the southern division of the Pacific Coast Conference will probably be at stake here tomorrow night when the Golden Bear of California meets the embattled Cardinal quintet of Coach Husky Hunt in the first game of the annual "big series" between Stanford and the University of California.

Having both been defeated once by S. C. and once by U.C.L.A. and having both taken one game from the Trojans in their three conference tilts to date, the Bears and the Cards will enter tomorrow's fracas on a par, as far as dope goes.

The Bears, however, are being given whatever edge exists. Nibs Price's squad has been improving steadily during the past few weeks and its showing against the Bruins was vastly superior to that of the Cards.

Although Stanford has not won a basketball game from the Berkeley hoopmen in five years, Coach Husky

Lincoln Basketball Quintet Defeats Hollywood, 41-18, to Take Fifth League Con

TIGER CAGERS IN EASY WIN

Pazdra and Guttero Lead Point Scoring

Franklin Five Loses Tilt to L. A. High Team

Toiler-Poly Game Postponed Until Thursday

Coach "Pop" Bates's Lincoln Tiger cagers once more proved to prep basketball followers that they are the cream of the City League when they snowed Bill Paige's Hollywood five under a 41-18 score in a game held on the Tigers' floor yesterday afternoon.

A tigerish offense and an unassailable defense were too much for the Redshirts, who finally succumbed to the superlative antics of the Batesmen after four periods of strenuous floor pounding. The victory is the fifth for the Tigers in the City League championship play, and elevated them a notch nearer the coveted title.

The Railsplitters, as usual, started the fireworks. Capt. Billy Pazdra flipping in a beautiful side shot after a spirited dash down the length of the court. The Lincoln boys kept up a rapid-fire succession of shots that besieged the Hollywood goal.

The second canto was a signal for an uncorking of a lightning-like aggressiveness which had the Redshirts puzzled. Due to the ability of Capt. Billy Pazdra and Lee Guttero, Lincoln forward and center, respectively, to sink the ball, fourteen more digits swelled the Tigers' score. Two well-executed shots from the middle of the court by Kitch, Redshirt forward, were all the Hollywooders were able to account for in the third stanza.

In the curtain raiser the Lincoln lightweight basket shooters lost a close game to the Hollywood babes by a 30-28 score.

ROMAN QUINTET WINS OVER FRANKLIN FIVE

Evidently the way a basketball player kicks up his heels when shooting has a strong effect on the success of his shots, for the Los Angeles High School boys did the hoofing act yesterday afternoon in their own gymnasium and beat the Franklin cagers by a 32-to-10 score. The Kiteflyers played as good a floor game and got as many shots at the basket as the Romans, but their inability to kick their heels in the approved fashion limited them to three baskets and four free throws.

The Romans are evidently the fair-haired boys in this town, particularly with the officials. Fred Cowes of U.C.L.A. refereed, and one of the Haney boys umpired, and between the two of them, the L. A. High five got all the breaks in the matter of fouls and outsides.

Jerry Nemer was the best tapdancer on the Roman cage team yesterday, and, therefore, scored 10 points on five baskets. Jaments and Wilcox of Franklin scored 3 points to lead their own basketeers. Franklin was unable to score on anything but free throws in the first half, which ended, 13 to 4, ringing up their three baskets in the second half.

In the preliminary game, the Roman Class B aggregation defeated the Franklin lightweights by a 32-to-16 score. The score at half-time was 13 to 7.

The line-ups:

Franklin (10)		L. A. High (32)
Bowers (2)	F.	Nelson (6)

Coach Bill Barnett's Loyola High School cagers defeated the invading basketeers from San Diego Army and Navy Academy yesterday afternoon on the locals' court by a 29-to-15 margin. Los Angeles Yacht Show Indorsed

The National Association of Boat and Engine Manufacturers went on record yesterday as indorsing the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce Civic Regatta Boat Show, which will be held at the Ambassador from March 8 to 15, next. It is the only time that the national association has done this except for the annual boat shows in New York, local officials in charge of the affair announced. The boat show here will preceed the fourth annual national yachting regatta, which will be staged off Los Angeles Harbor. Halsey Denman is chairman of the committee.

PILOTS READY FOR AUTO RACE

Drivers Tune Motors for Tomorrow's Event

Automobile race pilots and motorcycle speed demons, preparing for tomorrow's program at the American Legion Speedway on Alhambra Boulevard, are in town in large numbers and the mechanics are scheduled to spend a busy day getting the castor oil-burning chariots in tip-top condition.

Babe Stapp, the San Jose pilot, announced the arrival yesterday of his Bobby Special from Watsonville, and if the machine proves as fast as it has in the past, the Babe figures to go to the post as one of the favorites among the betting fraternity.

The Bobby Special at present holds the course record here. In the closing race of 1929, "Speed" Hinkley of Pasadena pushed the mount around the Legion curves in 28.8s., which is recognized as a sensational performance by Gasoline Alley here.

Home James in Win at Border

AGUA CALIENTE (Mex.) Jan. 24.—Home James, aptly named gelding from the stable of A. A. Baroni, Reno sportsman, showed the way home to the field in the featured number at a mile and one-sixteenth here this afternoon. Home James won by two lengths from Wirt G. Bowman with Tanist getting the show.

JACKIE FIELDS ANNEXES BOUT

eighth Fields had all the better of it, with Dundee showing only a flash in a toe-to-toe rally as the round ended. Fields directed his attack to the body in the ninth. Dundee brought the crowd to its feet by opening up once in a lightning exchange in midring.

Dundee made a sensational finish by fighting Fields to a standstill in the tenth round. He clipped Fields with a roundhouse swing on the jaw and then piled in to battle the champion in a vicious rally.

The match, the fourth meeting between Fields and the Baltimore warrior, attracted less than 10,000.

Jimmy Lundy, Los Angeles, 140-pounder, won the verdict over Hershey Wilson, Danville, Ill., in the opening six-rounder.

Referee Bob White stopped the fight in the first round, giving Miller a technical-knockout victory, after Rodriguez had been on the floor for a nine count and had absorbed a terrific beating. A stiff body punch was the cause of the knockdown.

Don Burchard nosed out Leo Lomelli in the six-round special event. The affair was speedy and interesting all the way.

Midget Wiswell and Frankie Mitchell scrapped to a draw in one of the four-rounders. Ringsiders gave Mitchell an edge, however. Jimmy Valentine defeated Andy Diaz in the curtain-raiser.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY

REVENGE IN THE AIR

IT LOOKS as if that basketball engagement between the U.C.L.A. Bruins and the Southern California Trojans tonight will be as red-hot as some of the skirmishes during the late football season.

One of the biggest reasons for this state of affairs is the horrible 76 to 0 licking the Trojans handed the Bruins on the gridiron last fall.

The memory of that blow still stings, and with a great chance for revenge at hand the Bruins are bound to overlook no opportunities.

They enter the game against the Trojans as favorites by virtue of a bad beating handed Stanford at the Olympic two weeks ago while the Trojans were only able to split even in their two-game series with the Card team last week-end.

However, basketball form charts are about as unreliable as football charts sometimes, and the Trojans might upset the old applecart.

At any rate a capacity crowd of 7000 is expected at the Shrine when the two teams tangle tonight.

This is a record gathering for a hoop game in this city and indicates the popularity the game has gained as well as the great natural rivalry between the two local institutions.

A LA BARBA PREDICTION

MR. HARVEY PETTIT predicts his boy Johnny Torres will beat Fidel La Barba, the former flyweight king, at the Olympic next week.

This statement doesn't come under the head of hot news, it being quite customary for fight managers to at least put on a front for their boys.

But Mr. Pettit speaks in a different strain, and his boast has the ring of faith.

Having seen La Barba in a great many tough engagements the conductor of this column is not prepared to string with Mr. Pettit, but he gives him the benefit of the doubt at least.

"My boy," says Mr. Pettit, "has had twenty-two fights since I became his manager. Twelve of them were knockouts.

"It is perfectly true that my boy (he wasn't my boy then) was knocked out by Young Nationalista fifteen months ago.

"But he overcame that handicap, and he is ready for La Barba.

"We watched La Barba beat Ignacio Fernandez the other night, and while La Barba won easily we made up our minds that La Barba has nothing but a left hand.

"Now my boy has a right as well—and it is a knockout hand—so you just keep your eyes peeled and watch the fur fly next week."

SPEED BASKETBALL

HERE'S one that comes under the head of the unusual.

When the March Field flyers' basketball team plays the DeMolay team at San Diego a week hence the flyers will all travel to their destination by separate planes.

There are twelve players on the March Field team, and that means twelve planes traveling south.

Mr. Paul Mannen of San Diego writes in that the DeMolays are defending State champs and have lost but one game this season—that to the San Diego Y.M.C.A., 35 to 32, and have won fourteen games.

corner. The Californian tried to left-jab his way out, but Maloney swung a heavy left hook to the body and dropped him on the spot.

Emanuel fell directly in front of Boxing Commissioner Eugene Buckley, who described Maloney's blow as a "cleanly landed left hook to the pit of Emanuel's stomach," when the foul claim was raised.

Maloney, who had fifteen pounds on his opponent, paid little attention to Emanuel's light blows and appeared bent on ending the affair long before the ten-round limit.

GLENDALE FIVE IN WIN OVER SANTA ANA

MRS. MELVIN JONES ANNEXES GOLF TITLE

EDGEWATER GULF (Miss.) Jan. 24. (AP)—Mrs. Melvin Jones, Chicago, defeated Mrs. Marion Turpie Lake, New Orleans, defending champion, 5 and 4, today to win the Pan-American women's amateur golf championship.

RIIS WINS TITLE

The Jacob Riis basketball team defeated the Bell quintet, 25 to 18, yesterday in the Riis gym. The win marked the sixth straight victory for the home boys, and cinched the Marine League title for them.

The score at the end of the first half was, 9 to 2, in favor of Bell. Starting the third quarter the Riis team launched a terrific offensive which finally overtook the leaders.

BREA-OLINDA IS VICTOR

In a slow, somewhat ragged basketball game, the Brea-Olinda quintet defeated the Huntington Beach five, 29 to 14, in the Beach gym last night. The Brea team although only playing a fair brand of basketball, managed to easily hold their lead which was gained in the first quarter.

great deal of form. Local polo followers expect the South Americans to give some very sensational performances during the Pacific Coast open championships which start at Midwick Tuesday.

On the Argentine team are Manuel Andrada, captain, Jose Reynal Juan Reynal and Alfredo Harrington. They rate at twenty-four goals, but judging from their mallet work they should be even higher than that. Andrada and Juan Reynal are outstanding players. The former is one of the best backs that has ever played on the Coast. Winston Guest, America's nine-goal star, was the best to show here but he will not participate in the tournament this winter.

Tomorrow Laddie Sanford's Hurricanes and the Cypress Point four match mallets at Midwick. This game is expected to draw a capacity crowd as Sanford and his Hurricanes are known wherever polo is played. The team will have the following in the saddle: Sanford, Lindsey Howard, Gerald Balding and Carlos Uranga. Howard is a Coast star, Balding an English player and Uranga an Argentine.

STAR RIDERS

The Cypress Point riders are: Arthur Perkins, former Midwickite, W. W. Crocker, Selby McCreery and Capt. Forrester. The last two are British army aces. The Cypress Pointers are scheduled to open the Coast championship play on Tuesday with a Midwick four.

Roche Beaten by Dave Shade

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24. (AP)—Dave Shade, middleweight title contender, transplanted from California to New York, gave Joe Roche of San Francisco an all-'round lesson in ring workmanship tonight when he scored an easy ten-round decision over the local boy.

WHITTIER WINS

Whittier High nosed out the South Pasadena Tigers, 28-26, last night in a thrilling extra-period game played in the Poets' gym. Arrambeide of Whittier led the scoring with 14 points. McDavid of South Pasadena was next with 11 points. The score at the end of the regular four periods was 24-24.

OILERS HAVE BIG TASK TRYING TO HALT SHEIKS

Desperate situations require desperate treatment, and it is just this kind of treatment that the Los Angeles Richfields will give the serious problem of stopping the impetuous title rush of the champion Oakland Sheiks in a California Hockey League struggle at the Winter Garden Ice Palace Monday night.

Trying to stop the Sheiks not only is serious, it's chronic. Hockey men believe that if there is any team in the circuit that can halt this pellmell rush it is the Oilers, who have stayed right in second position for a couple of weeks now in the face of a raft of bad luck in the form of injured players.

Cliff Coleman leads his husky Sunfreze Bears against Al Claman's fast-skating Union Oil Pirates at the Winter Garden tonight. Both these teams have been setting a terrific pace the last few weeks of play and unless all advance signs fail will be ahead of the Gilmore Lions shortly.

The Union and Sunfreze outfits were away to a bad start in the local amateur loop, but hard work and good coaching has put the clubs back in the running. These two teams clashed last week at the Garden in one of the best-played games of the year. When the game was over the score stood 3-3 and officials ordered an extra period, but even that failed to break the tie. Tonight's game will be called at 8:30 o'clock.

SARAZEN OFF FOR FLORIDA

Pros Scatter After $25,000 Open Championship

Hagen, Kirkwood Leaving for Australia Soon

Harlow Says 'The Haig' Still Greatest Money Player

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Scattering to the four winds, the majority hitting the "money trail" eastward into Texas, the professional golfers who have made their headquarters on the Pacific Coast for the past two months, were leaving Agua Caliente yesterday by rail and air seeking new fields to conquer.

Gene Sarazen, richer by $10,000, boarded a train yesterday morning for Port Ritchie on the west coast of Florida, where he holds down a winter job.

Gene will not stop off in Texas for the San Antonio $7500 open, scheduled for the 30th inst., to February 2, next, but will be content with winnings of $10,800 in his last two tournaments for the season.

Walter Hagen, $80 richer after two months of tournament competition, remains on the Coast until the first of February, when he sails for the Antipodes with Joe Kirkwood, the Australian trick-shot expert.

Kirkwood and Hagen expect to be gone five months on their tour, which takes them to Hawaii, Pago Pago, Australia, and other stops in the Southern Seas. It will be Walter's first visit to Australia, and Bob Harlow, "The Haig's" manager, tells us that the Anzacs are waiting with bated breath to see the four-time winner of the British open championship.

Hagen should make a neat bit of change on the trip, enough, possibly, to make up for some of his recent losses.

Harlow will not accompany Hagen, but plans to chaperone Horton Smith, who is busy gathering coin of the realm for his Joplin bank. Harlow plans to take Horton to Mexico City in the near future for a series of exhibition matches, and is holding out for $1000 appearance money and the gross receipts.

At the present time, four out of five golf bugs are dragging the old story out of the mothballs that Hagen is through.

Harlow was burned up at Agua Caliente one day earlier in the week at the suggestion and offered to bet any amount that "The Haig" will make more money in the next ten years, just as he has in the past decade, than any other golfer living.

Bob does not consider Smith near the showman that Hagen has been and believes Walter is still the best bet in any competition.

At the same time the story is going around that Walter's legs are going back on him and his judgment of distance has soured. That may be so, but the story of Hagen's demise is twelve years old now and Walter is still winning championships whenever he settles down to business.

Hagen also had a miserable season last year in Southern California's money tournaments, but managed to win his fourth British open championship in the spring, nevertheless.

This 10 per cent business for the P.G.A. tournament bureau ended amicably, when the pros stepped up with a smile after receiving their Agua Caliente checks and turned over a portion of their winnings.

Macdonald Smith was the only one who did not pay on the line and he promised to turn over his percentage at a later date, as he did not have a checking account.

The tournament bureau, which may or may not be in force next year, appears to meet with the approval of most of the foremost pros. Organized for the purpose of promoting a string of major tournaments from the East Coast west and back to Florida, the bureau, under Hal Sharkey, has prospered and more money was at stake this year than ever before.

PALOS VERDES TOURNEY SCHEDULED SUNDAY

Members and guests of the Palos Verdes Golf Club will compete in a regular semi-monthly tournament on Sunday. Play will be match against par with credit for handicap. Prizes are offered for the two best scores.

VEGETABLE GROWERS PLAN ANNUAL CHAMPIONSHIP

Elmer Sears, major domo of desert golfers, yesterday announced that the second annual Vegetable Shippers' golf tournament will be held over the Del Rio Country Club course, Brawley, on February 11, 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16. A qualifying round is scheduled for the first two days with match play to follow.

The Del Rio course, 119 feet below sea level, is the lowest-down golf course on earth, but that hasn't prevented the Del Rio club from being one of the most enthusiastic in the Southern California Golf Association.

Lettuce being the principal product of the valley, the tournament is financed by the sale of several carloads of lettuce, the proceeds going toward prizes.

Last year a field of more than 200 competed in the tournament, and all records are expected to be broken this year with interest general throughout the valley regions.

POTRERO WOMEN LEAD IN WESTERN DIVISION

Blanking the Virginia Country Club team, 12 to 0, women golfers of Potrero are leading the Western Division in team matches with a total of 55½ points. Matches were played Monday at Potrero. In other clashes, Fox Hills defeated Long Beach, 12 to 0, and Rio Hondo won from Palos Verdes, 10½ to 1½.

Fox Hills is in second place, seven points behind the league leading Potrero team, with 48½ points; Virginia, 43; Rio Hondo, 31½; Long Beach, 29, and Palos Verdes, 17½.

Following are the results of Monday's matches as announced yesterday:

BRUINS TACKLE TROJAN OUTFIT

clip that they go into tonight's battle heavily favored to win. However, basketball is basketball, and the Trojans are by no means defeated at this early writing.

Reports from the rival camps indicate that sickness and injuries may hamper both teams. Carl Shy, star running guard of the Bruins, is said to be laid up, but will probably get in for at least part of the game.

Bill Pierce of the Trojans is not in the best of shape, and Wilbur Caldwell, huge S.C. guard, will be somewhat handicapped, due to an ankle sprain received against Stanford last week.

Both Works and Sam Barry, however, are well supplied with capable reserves, and the game will be played at a rapid rate no matter who's in there.

Bruin rooters are so hopped up over their team's chances of winning the Coast title that they will turn out 4000 strong tonight and there is a strong possibility that the roof of the Shrine may be blown off in the excitement.

U.C.L.A. is banking on the basket-shooting prowess of Capt. Larry Wilds and Carl Knowles to roll up enough points to outscore the Trojans. At the same time Bruin rooters feel that Sam Barry's boys will be unable to penetrate the adamant defense, which consists mainly of the towering form of Frank Lubin, the long-legged, leaping Lithuanian, who plays a very impressive guard position for the Westwood quintet.

Lubin has been plain poison to Bruin foes all season. His arms are as long as his legs and this enables him to cut passes that would sail by the ordinary human being. His work under the basket is a cause for constant depression on the part of U.C.L.A.'s opponents. Standing 6ft. 5in. tall, Lubin will even tower over Caldwell of the Trojans, who checks in at 6ft. 3in.

MAKE IT HOT

If the Trojans show the form they displayed against Stanford last Saturday night they will make it very hot for U.C.L.A. this evening. This means that Pierce must be on his best behavior and that the Trojan guards, Capt. Lehners and Caldwell must find some way to annoy Wilds, Knowles and Von Hagen during the evening's festivities.

It may be that Jess Mortensen will be in good enough shape to pull the Trojans through to victory. Big Jess, to my way of thinking, is the best all-around basketball player on either team, and if he should be right tonight the Bruins will find the going anything but easy.

If Shy is unable to play his post will be filled by Dave Williams. Should Pierce be out for S. C., either Cano or Nibley will go in.

There is a preliminary game between frosh teams of the two institutions, this affair to start at 6:30.

LA BARBA MAY FACE TAYLOR

Wadhams Likely to Arrange Bout if Fidel Wins Over Torres in Olympic Battle

Fidel La Barba is practically certain to box Bud Taylor late in February if he defeats the hard-hitting Johnny Torres. The Mexican and Fidel box Tuesday night at Doyle's.

Matchmaker Wad Wadhams was busy yesterday trying to line up the bout. It is a fight of long standing on the calendar. Accidents to first one principal and then the other kept it from materializing.

A year ago Taylor would have been the favorite. Tables will be turned this time. La Barba is conceded by boxing experts to be a better featherweight contender than he was a flyweight world's champion.

Taylor, while not the same blond terror of old, is still a dangerous fighter. He claims he knocked himself out when he fought Earl Mastro a few months ago in Chicago. After flooring Mastro he fell through the ropes and injured his back in such a way he was partially paralyzed for a time.

Bud is here again with his family, while Eddie Long is to arrive here shortly.

La Barba is due back from Soper's ranch late today after taking his last workout for the Torres bout. He expects a torrid battle, since punchers have always given him the most trouble.

While they are betting 3 to 1 on Fidel, the little Italian and George Blake are not expecting anything so easy. Torres has won twenty-two straight fights—twelve by knockouts in the last year. It was his splendid record that earned him the La Barba shot.

Torres worked at the Main-street Gymnasium yesterday before a packed gallery of Mexicans. While Johnny hasn't quite the following that Jose Peregrina had, he hopes to pack the Olympic gallery with his countrymen.

ICE SPORTS CARDED BY SOUTHLAND

Winter Carnival to Open Today at Mountain Camp; More Events Tomorrow

With arrangements complete for the first snow carnival of the season at Camp Seeley, the Los Angeles municipal mountain playground, which will take place today and tomorrow, city playground department officials in charge of the event were preparing to receive a record number of visitors at the camp.

Every overnight accommodation at the playground has been filled to capacity, and those wishing to witness the carnival were being advised yesterday to plan on spending only one day at the camp, preferably Sunday, when the principal features of the program will take place.

Camp Seeley is located in the mountains fourteen miles north of San Bernardino, and is reached by driving from that city up the Waterman Canyon high-gear highway, from which intersecting roads leading to Seeley will be marked by signs.

ALL-STAR COLLEGE PUCKS TANGLE

An all-star college ice hocked team will play another star team composed of U.S.C.-California pucksters a week from Sunday at Camp Seeley. Playing for the all-stars will be Morley Drury of Southern California, Dutton of Winnepeg, Brady of Syracuse, Hunt of Michigan, Tafe of Ohio, Claw of U.C.L.A., Scott of U.C.L.A., and Noble of Occidental.

CARDS HOPE TO DEFEAT BEARS

Hunt is paradoxically looking for the jinx to be broken tomorrow night. The Cards have a slight edge over California in material and if they can hit the form they showed scoring 35 points against College of the Pacific, they should win.

WELKER COCHRAN COPS TWO BLOCKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 24. (AP)—Welker Cochran of Hollywood took both blocks today in his 700-point match with Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago and now leads by 31 points. The aggregate score is 500 for Cochran; 469 for Kieckhefer.

Cochran won by scores of 50 to 45 in forty-nine innings and 50 to 35 also in forty-nine innings. Each had a high run of 4 in the afternoon block. Cochran had a cluster of 8 tonight while the Chicagoan's best run was 4.

EAGLE ROCK WINS THREE

The Eagle Rock High School made a clean sweep in Class A, Class B and Class C basketball games yesterday afternoon in the home gymnasium over the North Hollywood High School teams. The Class A quintet won by a 16-to-15 score, Clark, Eagle Rock forward, being high-point man with eight digits. The Class B team won by a 21-to-6 score, and the Class C's overwhelmed their opponents by an 18-to-3 count.

ONEONTA CADETS WIN

The Oneonta Military Academy basketball team defeated the Los Angeles College quintet yesterday afternoon on the latter's court in Hollywood by a score of 17 to 7. Becker, forward, was high-point man with 7 points scored for Oneonta's cadets. Osborne, forward, scored 4 points for the losing team.

There could be no doubt; this girl was the same who had been stolen from the Sheik several years before. "Well," asked Kovudoo, "Is she not young and beautiful?" "She is not old," replied Malbihn, pretending no interest. "But even so she would be a burden to us." Meriem stood looking straight at the white men. She expected nothing from them. They were to her as much enemies as the blacks. She feared them all. Malbihn addressed her in Arabic.

Malbihn appeared to be turning ...over in his mind.

Then he answered: "It would only add to our troubles. No, Kovudoo, we do not wish her; but if you want to get rid of her we will take her away." Now Kovudoo knew he had made a sale, so he commenced to bargain. In the end Meriem passed into the possession of the two Swedes in exchange for six yards of calico, three empty brass cartridge shells, and a shiny, new jackknife from New Jersey. And all but Meriem were more than pleased with the bargain.

NEW RAIL PLAN ADVANCES

Moffat Tunnel Stock Purchase Accredited to Either Missouri Pacific or Burlington

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Purchase of a 40 per cent interest in the Denver and Salt Lake Railroad by George H. Burr, New York investment banker, is undoubtedly preliminary to a new consolidation project, either with the Missouri Pacific or the Burlington. The 250-mile line is of strategical importance to either of the larger systems for its control of the Moffat tunnel, a short-cut through the mountains on a new transcontinental route.

Missouri Pacific, through the Denver and Rio Grande Western, in which it owns a 50 per cent interest, is the more likely purchaser behind the Burr deal. Both the Missouri Pacific and the Denver and Rio Grande are grouped together in the tentative consolidation plan outlined by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

BURLINGTON MAY FIGURE

But there is no certainty that the consolidation program of the commission will be final, and it is possible that the Burlington may have a voice in the destiny of the Moffat Tunnel road. The Western Pacific is the owner of the other half of the Denver and Rio Grande Western, and the James group, controlling owners, have long considered the union of this road with the Denver and Salt Lake and the Burlington to provide a short route from Chicago to San Francisco.

The Moffat Tunnel, named for the late David H. Moffat, builder of the Denver and Salt Lake Railroad, provides a route seventy miles shorter between Chicago and San Francisco than any other transcontinental lines. Between Denver and Salt Lake City, it cuts 173 miles off the distance, and between Eastern and Western Colorado, twenty-three miles. The tunnel was completed in February, 1928.

Under a fifty-year contract and an option for forty-nine years more, the Denver and Salt Lake Railroad leases the tunnel. By use of the six-mile bore through the Continental Divide the Denver and Salt Lake shortens its distance of 250 miles from Utah Junction, outside Denver, to Craig, Colo., by approximately twenty-two miles.

SYSTEM EXTENSIVE

If the Missouri-Pacific System turns up as the purchaser of the Denver and Salt Lake stock, the approval of the purchase by the Interstate Commerce Commission will give to the Missouri-Pacific a comprehensive system of lines radiating from St. Louis to New Orleans on the Gulf Coast, and to San Francisco on the Pacific Coast. The tentative consolidation program includes the Western Pacific, the Denver and Rio Grande Western and the Denver and Salt Lake with the Missouri-Pacific.

Missouri-Pacific already holds control of such important lines as New Orleans, Texas and Mexico, International Great Northern and Texas and Pacific.

If this system intends to proceed with the commission's proposals regarding the acquisition of the Western Pacific and its one-half interest in the Denver Rio Grande Western, negotiations must be opened with Arthur Curtis James, controlling owner of Western Pacific. He is accredited with the ownership of 350,000 shares of Western Pacific common and 35,000 shares of preferred.

Mr. James is also reported to hold 50,000 Northern Pacific, 50,000 Great Northern and 51,000 Southern Pacific. He is the largest holder of railroad common stocks.

NET INCOME OF DU PONT UP SHARPLY

Annual Report Reveals $14,000,000 Increase in Net Earnings

NEW YORK, Jan. 24. (AP)—The annual report of the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co., Inc., for 1929, made public today, showed that the company's volume of business increased 13 per cent during the year, and that the general level of operations was greater than in the previous year, resulting in an increase in net income of more than $14,000,000.

The income report showed net profits of $78,171,730, which, after deducting dividends paid on the debenture stock, is equal to $7.09 a share on the common stock. This compared with net income of $64,097,797, or $6.27 a share, in 1925.

Of the total income for 1929, which amounted to $81,999,782, it was shown that $42,939,452, or more than one-half, was from the Du Pont company's investment in General Motors. Operations of the company during the year netted $34,212,150, and the income from "miscellaneous and marketable securities" was placed at $4,848,179.

The company closed the year with total current assets of $106,996,046 and total assets of $541,986,714, including its interest in General Motors, which was valued at $164,690,130, and which shares were carried on the books at a value of $16.50 each. Trade Recovery Held Retarded by Bad Weather

NEW YORK, Jan. 24. (AP)—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Complaints of weather conditions retarding the orderly progression of distributive trade from the quiet of the year's opening, are even more marked this week than in recent preceding periods, this mainly based on very severe low temperatures in and west of the central valleys. On the other hand, a slight improvement is noted in industrial areas, where factory industry has made further encouraging progress. On balance, wholesale and jobbing trade has not expanded much, whereas, retail trade, aided by reduction sales, shows a slight gain.

Industry, in fact, led by the heavier trades, notably iron, steel and automobile manufacturing and coal mining, the latter reflecting exceedingly cold weather, have made quite fair advances, considering the extent of the quieting down visible in December. In some of the lighter trades, as, for instance, shoes, leather manufacturing, silk and rayon manufacturing, operations have also broadened. Cotton manufacturing still runs under close curtailment and in the mining industry copper production is held down pending a clearer view of future price conditions and of stocks of metal on hand.

Weekly bank clearings, $10,153,226,000, a decrease of 26.1 per cent from a year ago.

BANK STOCK ANALYSIS OUT

Semiannual Study by Banks, Huntley Shows Status of Local Institutions Advances in Year

Despite the inevitable drain on bank deposits and the drop in bank stock quotations occasioned by the recent drastic collapse of the stock market, combined net earnings of Los Angeles banks during 1929 again reached new record levels, and the average annual appreciation in the market value of their shares over the past fifteen years remained relatively unimpaired.

In the semiannual analysis of Los Angeles bank stocks issued yesterday by Banks, Huntley & Co., attention is drawn to the increase in net earnings available for dividends on the common stocks that has been reported by practically every institution in the city. The rapid growth of the same institutions is even better illustrated by the rise in book values per share as set out in the compilation.

The review states at the outset that, while it is a generally recognized fact that New York bank stocks have always sold on a higher basis with relation to book value and earning power, and on a lower cash yield basis than the shares of Los Angeles institutions, Los Angeles bank stocks are yielding about three-quarters of 1 per cent more in cash dividends and are paying a 17 per cent larger proportion of their earnings to share-holders.

While it would be unfair to place too much emphasis on the comparisons in market premium above book value, since the New York published book values do not include wholly owned subsidiaries, it is worthy to note, according to the review, that the eastern bank stocks registered a more severe decline in market quotations than the Los Angeles issues. The group of New York bank stocks dropped 47 per cent from the 1929 high to December 31, last, and the Los Angeles stocks 18 per cent.

At the peak the New York bank stocks were selling at more than thirty-seven times 1929 earnings, as against twenty-four times here. At the 1929 high market price the premium above book value of the New York bank stocks was 395 per cent and for Los Angeles 110 per cent. On December 31, last, the premium in New York was 175 per cent and for the Los Angeles bank issues 68 per cent.

BUYERS ON WOOL MART HESITANT

Trade Reported Quiet and Mills Holding Off Waiting Developments

BOSTON, Jan. 24. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

Business is quiet on Summer street, although the effect of the London wool decline was largely discounted, through the steady decline which had taken place in the foreign primary markets. Unfortunately, the decline in the primary markets appears not to have run its course and the wool trade as well as the manufacturers are disposed to wait eventualities.

London is steadier, since the opening, at about opening prices. The primary markets are about 5 per cent lower for the week.

Opening of the new heavyweight staples by the American Woolen Company showed little change in prices from the level of six months ago on medium-quality fabrics. Nine grade cloths and woolen filled items were down 9-10 cent a yard.

The National Wool Marketing Corporation is setting up its selling program steadily, although many details are yet to be determined.

Mohair is dull and hardly changed in price.

The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1930, to January 23, 1930, inclusive, were 11,559,000 pounds, against 12,318,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1930, to January 23, 1930, inclusive, were 14,770,900 pounds for the same period last year.

MENACE OF REDS TOLD ROTARIANS

University Head Depicts Radicals' Campaign in Industry

Left to right—H. Clay Best, vice-chancellor Lincoln Memorial University; Ora E. Monnette, member finance committee, State Chamber of Commerce; Dr. John Wesley Hill, chancellor Lincoln Memorial University; Prof. W. A. Osborne, dean of the faculty of medicine, Melbourne University.

THE grinning threat of the Red, leering from Russia and spending millions of dollars in threading its emissaries into the heart of American industry, confront this country at the present crossroads of its history, Dr. John Wesley Hills, chancellor of the Lincoln Memorial University and authority on economics and the history of Abraham Lincoln, told 500 members of the Rotary Club at a luncheon meeting yesterday noon at the Biltmore.

"Lincoln would say," Dr. Hill declared, "let reverence for law become the political religion of America.

"Bolshevism—the Red—spells decapitation of the wage system, of education, of religion.

"We are at the crossroads of our history. To the left is the grinning insignia of Socialism, Lenin and the rest, and to the right the highlands of freedom.

"Russia is reaching out all over the earth with its Red workers taking out union cards, fomenting strikes, tearing down our economic and industrial structure to overthrow our government by revolution.

"Load these Reds on a ship of stone, the wrath of God for a sail and Hell for the nearest port.

"Progress is nothing sudden or sensational—it is growth. Reaction is not progress; revolution is not progress.

"Abraham Lincoln was the ideal progressor.

"There was no glow of the Red flag on his program."

Ora E. Monnette, member of the finance committee of the State Chamber of Commerce, declared that the death knell of former sectional animosity in California has been sounded.

The State Chamber of Commerce, he pointed out, has worked for and accomplished unity in the affairs of California, regardless of their scope or their sectional characteristics.

"Our organization," Monnette stated, "is manned by State leaders of industry and commerce, to build the State into a unified body such as your local chamber has done for Los Angeles."

He had reference to the occasional squabbles over water allotment and legislative representation between cities and the "cow country," pointing out that the benefits derived by the commercial areas reciprocate in the proportion they are received.

Dr. Hill announced that Mr. Monnette has been selected as the Pa-

BY EX-CONVICT NO. XXXXXXXX

This is the seventh of a series of daily articles, written especially for The Times, in which a convict, just released after a long term in San Quentin prison, tells of his life there. It is published by The Times as throwing some needed light on the convict viewpoint and on the reasons for the present epidemic of prison rebellions over the country. It goes without saying, however, that The Times does not necessarily indorse as true or meritorious all the complaints of Ex-Convict XXXXXXXX nor share his views on prison reform.—Ed. Times.

When a major riot occurs at San Quentin, as it will, the subsequent investigation will show that drugs constituted one of the principal underlying factors in the rebellion. Dope addicts at San Quentin are numerous; they are in every detail, every cell block, everywhere. If it were possible to enumerate the dope-users of the prison the figures would be staggering. And among them would be not only those who contracted the habit before commitment, but numerous others, especially the younger convicts, who have started taking "the junk" since incarceration.

During my term in the prison I discovered—and I had every opportunity to learn the extent of the evil, having been employed in several departments—that dope is constantly smuggled behind the walls and if a prisoner has sufficient money in the office he may connive to obtain his coveted "shot" any time he desires.

With dope always obtainable behind the walls, indubitably it must come in through the gates and past all administration offices. But how? Guards are on every hand.

HOW IT GETS IN

Some Sunday a dope addict in the yard hears the "runners" singing out his number—a call to the reception room. He responds, and alas, finds his visitor has suffered a minor injury. He or she is wearing a fingerstall to protect the damaged member. The convict is glad to see the caller—usually a woman—and there is much shaking hands, holding of hands, perhaps an embrace before separation. As the visitor leaves no one observes the finger-

MRS. BRYAN PAID TRIBUTES

Sorrowing Friends of Commoner's Widow Hear Words of Solace at Funeral Service

"Let not your hearts be troubled, neither let them be afraid."

"I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, whence cometh my help."

These and other scriptural passages to which Mrs. Mary Bryan had turned throughout her life came like a benediction to the sorrowing hearts of friends and relatives to bring them a measure of peace and tranquillity, when they gathered at a private service yesterday afternoon in the Little Church of the Flowers in Glendale to pay final tribute to the widow of the "Great Commoner."

Dr. James Hamilton Lash, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Hollywood, who conducted the brief and simple services, said:

"There are uncounted others around the world today who will bow their heads and give thanks for Mrs. Bryan's beautiful life. She told her own life story in the gracious influence which radiated from her personality and no words today can add to it. Yet we should pause to note the elements which gave her greatness.

CHARACTER PRAISED

"She was well-born of Scotch-Irish ancestry; she was gifted with a gracious personality and a charming presence; she had a fine mind and made the best use of it; in the truest sense she was an educated woman and she never ceased to be a student. She had keen business acumen which was of inestimable value to her husband through his long public career, and through her help to him she rendered an undying service to the world.

"But greater than all of these things, she was a true wife, a wonderful mother and an ideal homemaker. She never allowed her aspiration for her husband to turn her aside from what she considered her greatest calling, that of motherhood. She was loved for her sympathy and tenderness, and a friend once said of her, 'the keynote of her character was unselfishness.'"

A woman of great courage, physical as well as moral, Dr. Lash said that she was put to the test

FITTS WILL TELL PLANS ON MONDAY

Candidacy for Governor Will be Decided Over Week-end, He Says

Dist.-Atty. Fitts will announce definitely next Monday whether or not he will be a candidate for Governor at the fall primaries, he asserted in a signed statement released for publication yesterday.

Although the question of Fitts's candidacy has been raised repeatedly during the last six months he has refused to discuss the subject or to make any definite statement as to his political intentions.

The statement issued yesterday follows:

"From throughout California requests are coming into this office as to whether or not I have arrived at a decision on the governorship matter.

"I have been far too busy in the past to give the matter the thought it deserves. I shall devote the week-end in arriving at a decision. What that decision will be, I am not able to say. However, I will make a positive decision next Monday morning."

Appellate Court Job for Fleming

Superior Judge Fleming yesterday received notice that he had been appointed to serve on the Appellate Court for three months beginning February 1 in place of Superior Judge Burnell, who will return to the Superior bench.

Judge Fleming was appointed by Gov. Richardson in 1923 and later elected at the primaries, leading the judicial ticket. He has been trying civil jury cases.

LON CHANEY TO APPEAR IN TALKING PRODUCTION

LON CHANEY

Lon Chaney, filmland's "man of a thousand faces," is going to break his silence on the screen. One of the few players of silent pictures not to have his voice recorded for the talkies, Chaney yesterday affixed his name to a new contract to appear in spoken films, according to announcement made by Irving Thalberg, vice-president of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

By the terms of the new contract, Thalberg said, Chaney is to remain an M.-G.-M. actor for a period of five years. His first picture has not been selected.

Chaney was one of the few outstanding actors of the screen to balk when talking pictures became the vogue. Charles Chaplin is another and he has yet to relent, although there have been reports he is considering a talking picture.

Chaney, who has appeared on the screen in scores of different makeups, even to the grotesque, was recently voted the most popular male star at the box office by independent theater owners. His first talkie will create interest within the industry as well as among the fans.

Thalberg said yesterday the company has ambitious plans for Chaney's future.

COST MAP APPROVED

The City Council yesterday approved, on recommendation of the Public Works Committee, the assessment district map for the improvement of the Joy-street and Marmion Way Improvement District.

T.A.T. EXPECTS LOSS INDEMNITY

Insurance for Those Killed in Crash Indicated

Adjustments to be Handled from New York

Last Rites Conducted for Oceanside Victims

While final rites were being conducted yesterday for the last two victims of the fatal air liner crash near Oceanside last Sunday and that took a toll of sixteen lives, an unofficial report from a T.A.T.-Maddux representative indicated that the lives of those on board were covered by blanket insurance.

The insurance matter, or any settlement by the transport company with survivors of the fourteen passengers will be handled from the New York offices of the line, it was stated by David R. Fairies, local legal adviser for the company.

QUESTION NOT RAISED

Insurance covering the loss of the $55,000 airplane was known definitely to have been in effect, but the question of passenger insurance had not been touched on before Fairies's statement.

At the local offices it was announced yesterday that any passenger has the option of purchasing travelers' insurance at a very low rate, but it was not known whether any of the Sunday victims carried any when they stepped aboard the plane at Agua Caliente.

Bishop John J. Cantwell presided over solemn requiem mass conducted yesterday morning in St. Vibiana's Cathedral at the final rites of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Bowen, 336 South Hudson avenue. Father Bernard J. Dolan celebrated the mass, which marked the closing of nearly twenty years of work here in the interests of charity and their church by Mr. and Mrs. Bowen.

TAKEN TO BAY CITY

The bodies of the couple were taken to San Francisco last night for interment in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Bishop Cantwell preached a sermon in which he pointed to the achievements of Mr. and Mrs. Bowen and to the friends they had made during their long residence here.

Honorary pallbearers were Lewis E. Spear, Morgan L. Sweeney, Emerson Spear, Waller Taylor, D. J. Cahill, Luther D. Dim, Dr. Giles Hall, Joseph Scott, James Costello, C. C. Ganahl, Bernard E. Alfs, H. D. Ivy, E. T. Pettigrew, Stewart M. Salisbury, Benno M. Brink, John B. Leonis, Emil Ducommun, Charles Herman, David E. Llewellyn, Frank A. Milliff, Charles Baad, Arthur Brown, H. J. Kister, Robert Atwood and Leonard M. Bardet.

SURVIVORS OF PAIR

Mr. and Mrs. Bowen leave two sons, Edward, 17 years of age, and Jack, 13. Mr. Bowen leaves three sisters in Oakland, Lydia and Mary Bowen and Mrs. Catherine Saglaw. Mrs. Bowen leaves three brothers, James, John and Robert Gaffney of San Francisco, and two sisters, Mrs. Charles Casey of Stockton and Mrs. Victor Jenkins of Seattle, Wash.

Mr. Bowen was president of the Union Tank and Pipe Company, secretary of the Pacific Wire Rope Company, treasurer of the Weber Baking Company, and a member of the board of directors of the Citizens' National Trust and Savings Bank.

MOTORS EXAMINED

Examination by expert mechanics of the three 425-horsepower motors of the all-metal liner was started yesterday on order of the local aeronautics division, United States Department of Commerce.

No testimony in the crash investigation indicated that the three radial engines were to blame for the fatal plunge, but the Federal men will continue to run down every detail before submitting their final report to Washington, they reported last night.

The damaged motors, practically every extending part ripped away in the impact, will be taken apart carefully in a final check on whether they were functioning properly, a report from the Federal office stated.

DATE FIXED FOR CAMPUS DEDICATION

Two-Day U.C.L.A. Fete Scheduled for Opening on March 27, Next

Delegations from many famous national and foreign schools have been invited to attend an elaborate two-day celebration on March 27-28, next, marking the dedication of the new University of California at Los Angeles campus at Westwood, according to an announcement yesterday by the university authorities. Invitations will be sent this week to many prominent educators to participate in the program.

According to the tentative plans announced yesterday for the dedication, President Campbell of the University of California, will be in charge of the program. Complete details of the celebration will be announced in about two weeks, the university office says.

The Associated Students of the university yesterday announced that its council has approved the reappointment of W. T. Bogart and J. R. Osarenko as editor and manager, respectively, of the California Daily Bruin, for the next semester.

PRINGLE GIRL ASKS MILLION

Pantages Sued by Dancer as Attack Case Sequel

Civil Action Filing Comes as Complete Surprise

Accused Magnate Refuses to Comment on Move

Coming as an aftermath to the sensational trial and conviction last October of Alexander Pantages, multimillionaire theater magnate, on a charge of attacking Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer, a suit for $1,000,000 damages was filed in Superior Court yesterday by Miss Pringle against Pantages.

The civil suit is based on Pantages's asserted mistreatment of the dancer in his private office in the Pantages Building on the afternoon of August 9, 1929, and recounts, briefly, the charges on which Pantages was tried in criminal court.

The short complaint, prepared by Attorneys Theodore Gottsdanker and Hugh L. Dickson, recites that Miss Pringle went to see Pantages on the fateful afternoon of August 9 in an effort to place her dancing act on his vaudeville circuit.

SURPRISE MOVE

As a result of the asserted attack on her by the theater magnate, Miss Pringle states, she was "bitten, bruised and suffered great anguish and humiliation" as a result of the publicity attendant to the criminal prosecution of Pantages.

The suit was filed for Miss Pringle through her mother, Mrs. Irene D. Pringle, who appears in the case as her legal guardian.

Filing of the damage case in County Clerk's office came as a complete surprise at the Courthouse, as it had not been indicated during the Pantages trial that Miss Pringle would seek civil recourse against the multimillionaire.

Pantages, convicted of a statutory offense against Miss Pringle, is in the County Jail awaiting decision on his appeal from a sentence of from one to fifty years in San Quentin. He was tried before Superior Judge Fricke, who recently denied a motion of his attorneys to admit him to bail because of his physical condition.

PANTAGES SERVED

Pantages was served with a copy of the complaint in the County Jail. Under ordinary procedure, the theater magnate will be given ten days from date of service in which to file an answer, after which the case will be set for trial.

At the hearing of the criminal charge in Judge Fricke's court, Pantages denied attacking Miss Pringle and asserted he was the victim of a "frame-up." A number of damage suits have been filed against him in connection with the case, including one for $500,000 instituted by Nicholas Dunaev, playwright who wrote the act. Miss Pringle said she was trying to place with the theater owner when the asserted attack occurred. Dunaev charges Pantages slandered him by accusing him of a "frame-up."

Miss Pringle, former University of Southern California student, was the State's principal witness at Pantages's trial on the felony charge. She also appeared as a prosecution witness at the two trials of Garland Biffle, Alhambra law-book salesman accused of perjury in connection with the testimony he gave in Pantages's defense.

In her civil suit, Miss Pringle asks $500,000 as actual damages and an additional $500,000 as punitive damages.

FITTS KEEPS ALOOF

Attaches in the District Attorney's office in some instances expressed surprise that Miss Pringle had filed the damage suit against the millionaire vaudeville magnate, but Dist.-Atty. Fitts declined to comment on the subject except for a short signed statement.

"This office has no comment whatever to make on the action filed by Miss Pringle for damages for the attack occurring on August 9," he said

"The fact that a criminal action was prosecuted does not, under the laws of California, deprive a person of the civil remedy vested in every citizen to secure redress for wrongs done them.

"This office has no comment whatever to make, nor will it participate in the slightest degree, in the civil action just filed."

PRINGLE SUIT UNDER FIRE

Biffle Trial Marked by Move for Court Inquiry Into Dancer's Action Against Pantages

Court investigation of the circumstances surrounding the filing yesterday of Eunice Pringle's $1,000,000 damage suit against Alexander Pantages looms today in Superior Judge Henderson's court, where Garland Biffle, Alhambra law-book salesman, has been on trial for the past week. He is charged with perjury as a result of testimony he gave for the defense at Pantages's trial on a charge of attacking Miss Pringle.

The investigation was demanded by William T. Kendrick, Jr., attorney for Biffle, who openly charged in court late yesterday that a "fraud has been perpetrated on this court" by the filing of Miss Pringle's suit.

Arguments to the jury had just got under way in the Biffle trial when Attorney Kendrick was advised of the filing of Miss Pringle's suit. Halting the argument, he asked permission to reopen the case for the purpose of taking testimony of Miss Pringle and her attorneys regarding the preparation and filing of her suit against Pantages.

In charging that the court had been subjected to fraud, Kendrick argued that Miss Pringle, Nicholas Dunaev, playwright, and Theodore Gottsdanker, of counsel for Miss Pringle, all had testified at Biffle's two trials that the possibility of a damage suit by Miss Pringle against Pantages had not been discussed by them except possibly on August 10, 1929, the day following the asserted attack on Miss Pringle.

"Filing of this damage suit shows definitely that it must have been discussed," shouted Kendrick, "and we think the jury in this case ought to know about it."

Judge Henderson, however, refused to reopen the case, but ordered a hearing this morning in his department on the issues raised by Kendrick. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Frampton, prosecuting, promised to have Miss Pringle, Dunaev and Mrs. Irene D. Pringle, mother and legal guardian of the dancer, in court, while it was said Attorneys Gottsdanker and Hugh L. Dickson, who filed the damage suit, also will be asked to appear.

In ordering the hearing this morning, Judge Henderson excused

by Harry Carr

DR. FOSTER KENNEDY of Cornell Medical College has found, by experiment, that the noises of a city reduce the vitality of a rat more than 17 per cent. He assumes that humans are likewise affected.

If noise were all . . .

COMPLEXES

In other ways than noise city life is taking the sap and the sanity out of the human race.

For instance, an amazing number of people have an unreasonable terror of subways, tunnels and elevators; yet they have to ride in these contraptions. The theory used to be that it was noble and proper to force oneself to "do it anyhow." Modern psychologists know that these complexes can sometimes be removed—but never ridden down.

The point that I seem to be trying to make is that modern life offers so many of these artificial strains that we will inevitably turn into a race of neurasthenics. A hopeful sign is, however, that countrymen used to save up their money to go to town to retire. City men now strain to save money to go back to the country. Airplanes and fast automobiles will further this movement.

A CANARY BIRD GIANT

Mr. John Wun Lung, the Chinese giant who has come to Los Angeles for the Shrine circus, is in my bad books. He represented a soul-shattering disappointment in my life.

Moon Quan, the Chinese poet, invited me to have dinner in Chinatown with John. I rushed to the scene in a state of excitement. I thought that he would fill up his eight-feet-one-inch anatomy with whole Virginia hams, washed down by guzzling Niagaras of near-beer. I had every reason to hope that he would gnaw up whole loaves of hard cartwheel bread and imbibe chop suey by the bale. But John cruelly deceived me. He pecked at a thimbleful of dry rice and washed down enough chop suey to fill a salt cellar with a tiny half-cupful of tea.

THAT'S THE WAY

But I imagine that's the way all giants are. Goliath was probably crying because some one hurt his feelings when David sneaked up on him.

"NO QUARTER"

The execution of six mutineer convicts at Folsom should be a notice to all crooks that California has stiffened its official spine.

There was a time—and not so long ago—when this State was a crook's paradise. Between the sob sisters, the delays in court and the extreme technicality of the courts of appeal, it was a miracle if any criminal ever got to the gallows. Criminal trials were a contest between tricky lawyers rather than an attempt to get justice.

TECHNICALITIES

A change in the law now permits the Supreme Court to uphold faulty criminal trials if the technical mistakes have done nothing to deprive the defendant of his reasonable rights. The later governors are not so lachrymose in the matter of pardoning condemned murderers.

Any frail human is likely to fall from grace and commit crime; but a ringleader of a prison revolt is beyond the pale and entitled to nothing but death—a lot of it.

NEW BUILDINGS TO RISE SOON

Limit-Height Structures to Total $9,500,000

Hotel and Conservatory to Go Up on Wilshire

Laemmle Project on Site at Hollywood and Vine

Three limit-height buildings to be erected this year and to involve a combined expenditure of $9,500,000, featured announcements of Los Angeles building activities yesterday.

Two of the improvements were announced for Wilshire Boulevard while the third will rise in Hollywood following the conclusion of plans for its lease to a large New York department store.

The Wilshire structures will be known as the Wilshire Apartment-Hotel, a 2000-room hostelry, costing $5,000,000, and the Conservatory, Music and Arts Building costing $3,000,000. They are scheduled for erection in the vicinity of Western avenue.

LAEMMLE TO BUILD

The third project is that of Carl Laemmle, president of Universal Pictures Corporation, who is planning the improvement of the northwest corner of Hollywood Boulevard and Vine street, 118x183 feet, with a limit-height building of unique French design. This project, including land, building and furnishings will approximate $3,000,000 in cost. The announcement was made by M. S. Berberman, son-in-law and personal representative of Mr. Laemmle.

Both Wilshire Boulevard projects are declared completely financed by eastern capital and the apartment-hotel is said to be backed by eastern hotel men who operate a number of hostelries and desire a house in this city. Both will be of modernistic type architecture, of reinforced concrete construction with terra-cotta exterior ornamented with art stone. Architect H. J. Knauer is preparing the plans.

LAVISH IN DESIGN

The hotel will occupy a site 280x225 feet, with a central tower and towers at each corner. It will contain one and two-room suites, lobby of Italian marble, guest and service elevators, dummy elevators for the serving of meals in rooms, several dining-rooms, dance hall, clubrooms, restaurant on the top floor, basement and sub-basement connected with a one-story garage. There will be eighteen storerooms on the ground floor.

The Conservatory plans provide a structure devoted entirely to music and art studios with one wing, limit-height, containing studio apartments. Stores on the main floor will be confined to dealers in art goods and music.

The structure will contain a roof garden, concert stage, theater and radio broadcasting studio. It will occupy a ground space 195x245 feet on a corner location. The corner will be surmounted by a high tower rising 100 feet above the roof. The building will descend to various lower levels as it extends back from the street.

OPTIONS TAKEN

Options have been taken on sites for both improvements and formal announcement will be made later as to their locations.

Plans for the Hollywood Boulevard improvement provide for a structure declared by Berberman to be the most unique ever erected here. The entire upper portion of the building will be of glass, permitting the maximum of light in the interior.

Plans have been prepared by a French architect in collaboration with an architect of Los Angeles. Negotiations are under way at the present time with the New York mercantile firm and it is expected a definite announcement of their completion will be forthcoming soon.

FUND VOTED TO OBTAIN JAIL PLANS

City Chiefs at Conference in Move to Join County on Prisoner-Farm Project

The latest conference over the City Jail problem made some progress yesterday when it was decided to appropriate $2000 for preliminary plans and sketches for such a structure, while a committee was appointed to confer with the Board of Supervisors concerning a joint city-county jail farm.

Present at the meeting were the members of the Finance Committee and the Police and Fire Committee, Police Captain Shand, City Health Officer Parrish, Efficiency Director Knox, Construction-Superintendent Britton and members of the Police Commission.

The Police and Fire Committee was instructed, in company with two Police Commissioners, to meet with the Supervisors on the jail-farm question.

The $2000 will be expended in working out further plans for a permanent structure.

Britton submitted rough sketches of a proposed T-shaped building, of basement and three floors, at an estimated cost of $260,000.

Gravel Concern Files Damage Claim With City

The Los Angeles Rock and Gravel Corporation, which has been engaged for many years in litigation over its operations in the Arroyo Seco, yesterday filed with the City Council a claim for $675,000 damages asserted to have been done its business by the city in taking property without compensation.

The claim was transmitted to City Attorney Werner for investigation.

The city and the corporation have been at outs for nearly twenty years, with a long procession of suits, injunctions and criminal proceedings, designed to oust the corporation from the arroyo, where it has maintained steam shovels, railroads and rock crushers.

the jury in the case from further attendance until Monday and this, together with the court's refusal to reopen the Biffle case, precludes any possibility of statements made today getting in the hands of the jury.

Kendrick asked permission to examine Dunaev, Miss Pringle and Gottesdanker in an effort to support his charges that false testimony had been given by State witnesses at Biffle's two trials.

The jury was excused yesterday while defense and prosecution counsel argued back and forth over the issues raised by Kendrick and, in an effort to clarify the situation to some extent, the complaint in Miss Pringle's suit was brought into court for inspection.

EXPERT MAY BE CALLED

The complaint, as filed, shows that it was verified by Miss Pringle yesterday, but Kendrick charged another mark on the document indicates it might have been prepared on the 10th or 20th inst. It appeared yesterday that a handwriting expert may be summoned to examine the notarial seal in an effort to determine if the complaint has borne any date other than the 24th inst.

Biffle is asserted to have testified falsely at the Pantages trial that he saw Miss Pringle and Dunaev together in the lobby of the Pantages Building on the afternoon of August 9, last, date of Pantages's asserted attack on Miss Pringle. Miss Pringle testified she entered the building alone and Dunaev asserted he spent the greater part of the afternoon at Attorney Gottsdanker's office.

Biffie repeated the questioned testimony at both of his trials on the perjury charge, and yesterday his wife, Mrs. Floy Biffle, was taken into court on a stretcher to corroborate part of her husband's testimony.

She said she was with her husband on the afternoon of August 9 and that she saw a woman and man in the lobby of the building who resembled Miss Pringle and Dunaev. Mrs. Biffle recently underwent an operation and her presence in court on the stretcher was made necessary by the failure of a stipulation to read testimony she gave at Biffle's first trial.

Opening arguments were delivered during the afternoon session by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Frampton for the prosecution and Kendrick for the defense. It is expected the case will go to the jury Monday or Tuesday.

Biffie's first trial resulted in a disagreement of the jury.

SCHOOL PRINCIPAL'S RITES TO BE TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Murdock, principal of the Allesandro School, will be conducted at 8 a.m. today at St. Vincent's Cathedral. Interment will be in Calvary. She died Wednesday at the Inglewood Sanitarium. She was 59 years of age, and was born in San Francisco. She was educated at State Normal, San Francisco, and at the University of Southern California. She served as a school teacher for forty years, developing Allesandro School from a one-room bungalow to its present twenty rooms. She leaves a daughter, Miss Imelda Murdock of 1929 Estrella avenue.

JACK PICKFORD IMPROVES

Jack Pickford, brother of Mary Pickford, was back at his home again yesterday following a short siege of illness at the St. Vincent's Hospital. It was learned his illness was not of a serious nature and that he was in no danger. While at the hospital he was under care of Dr. Karl Lewis.

Two Girl-Show Operators Must Serve Sentence

Sam Landesman and Minas Simon, convicted in the Municipal Court on a charge of operating an indecent girl show at 541 South Main street, must pay fines and serve jail sentences, for yesterday the Appellate Department of the Superior Court affirmed the men's conviction in the lower court. Landesman will have to pay fines totaling $1600 and serve 360 days in the City Jail, and Simon must pay a fine of $500 and serve 180 days.

Landesman was convicted on two counts and Simon on one before Municipal Judge Lahey on December 3, last.

Several young women who participated in the show, posing as Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter while scantily clad, were acquitted at the trial. Arthur H. Penrose, another defendant, forfeited $500 bail by failing to appear.

Governor Will be Here Today for Conferences

Facing a busy program, including a two-day session of his council, Gov. Young is scheduled to arrive here today from San Francisco. The executive expects to leave for Sacramento Wednesday evening.

The Governor's council will meet Tuesday and Wednesday in the assembly room at City Hall. The meeting will be the council's second in Los Angeles. The first meeting was held in August and it was followed by numerous requests that the executive and the thirteen heads of the State departments meet here twice a year if possible.

It is said that the forthcoming session was arranged in response to those requests.

Girl Beckons Officer While Being Held Up

A crooked finger, wiggled by pretty Iris Nudson, cashier of the B. & G. Sandwich Shop in the Paramount Theater Building, 331 West Sixth street, brought the arrest of a nameless bandit last night, who had taken $90 from her till at the point of a gun.

According to her report to police, the man entered the restaurant with a gun and handed her a note demanding money. As the girl complied she noticed Patrolman Broome walk by outside and a shyly wiggled finger summoned aid.

At the Central Police Station the man refused to give his name or address but was forced to give up the cash taken from the register.

ANGELIC 'VOICES' FEATURE TRIAL

Mrs. Blackburn's Secretary Asserts He Listened

Inaudible Ones Also Stated to Have Been "Heard"

Hot Water Poured on Horses Described as Ritual

Horses' hoofs, hot water, watermelon, umbrellas and angelic voices, audible and inaudible, got all mixed up yesterday at the trial of Mrs. May Otis Blackburn in Superior Judge Fricke's court, and when adjournment time came indications were that they probably never would be satisfactorily straightened out.

The mixed ingredients made their appearance in the testimony of Gale Conde Banks, secretary to Mrs. Blackburn and "Whirlwind of the Four Great Whirlwinds of the Divine Order of the Royal Arms of the Great Eleven," religious order founded by Mrs. Blackburn.

Banks, a defense witness, was under cross-examination by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Ferguson. The prosecutor was trying to learn the significance of various "concords" referred to by Banks. Clifford Dabney, prosecution witness, had previously testified that "concords" had cost him $45,000.

HOT WATER ON HORSES

Banks admitted there was a concord known as "the horses' hoof and the breathing in." It developed that the ceremony included pouring hot water on a horse's back and had some connection with "Hot Water," a film that was current at the time the concord occurred.

"It would take a long time to explain it," said Banks. "I would have to sit here a year."

"We won't wait," decided Ferguson, "let it go."

It developed also that Banks was in the habit of hearing "inaudible" voices.

"I have had an inaudible voice talk to me lots of times," he said.

"What did they say?" inquired the prosecutor.

It spoke in a spiritual way that probably would be hard for the ordinary citizen to understand, Banks indicated.

"Did it speak in a foreign language?" inslated Ferguson.

"No," replied the witness, "the voice spoke like this, you see, I have certain knowledge that I already know."

"I see," said Ferguson. "I mean I heard you."

WATERMELON EATING

That brought up the subject of watermelons and Ferguson asked Banks if it was true that he (Banks) one bright day in Santa Monica walked around the streets with an umbrella over his head eating a watermelon. Banks said that it was, but denied that it was part of a concord.

Despite other denials, however, Banks was positive that on one occasion he heard divine voices audibly speaking to some of Mrs. Blackburn's followers. He recited that some of the members, including Mrs. Blackburn, had gathered at a place on Hollywood Boulevard for a concord, then there was a flash of light in the room and an unnatural voice spoke, warning those gathered that there should be more harmony among the church members. He maintained that Mrs. Blackburn was in the room at the time.

"And was there another time when Mrs. Blackburn had you all get down on your hands and knees and then tapped each of you on the head with a hammer—gently, of course—and then rubbed a piece of cheese behind your ears?"

Banks denied any such happening.

Mrs. Blackburn's secretary finished his testimony shortly before adjournment time and Defense Attorney Cochran called Harrison Fisher, another of Mrs. Blackburn's followers, as his next witness. Fisher testified briefly that he was formerly a street-car man in Portland, Or. He will resume the stand Monday.

Boy Faces Trial in Crash Death

Haskell Fair, 19 years of age, of Redlands, must face Superior Court trial on manslaughter charges, Municipal Judge Russill ruled yesterday at the conclusion of his preliminary hearing. He was held under $3000 bail.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Broker called Edward Hickman of Redlands as his chief witness. Hickman declared that on the night of December 22, last, he and Joseph Story, also of Redlands, left there in an automobile, which Fair was driving, for Long Beach. All three had been drinking heavily, he said. Six miles west of Pomona, he said, Fair lost control of the automobile, which crashed into a tree, causing Story fatal injuries. Both Fair and Hickman were injured slightly, the latter declared.

CHURCH INTEREST URGED

Speaker at Brotherhood Conference Pleads for Enthusiasm by Men of Congregations

Speaking before the membership of the Federated Church Brotherhoods of California last night, Dr. John Bunyon Smith of San Diego pleaded for a larger enthusiasm for church work on the part of the male members of congregations.

Dr. Smith was the principal speaker at the banquet and opening session of the second annual convention of the brotherhood, which will continue its sessions through today and conclude tomorrow afternoon. The meeting was in the Chamber of Commerce Building.

"If we could have as much enthusiasm for our church as we have for our business," declared Dr. Smith, "and if we would talk as much about our church as we do about the weather, then I am sure we would make some real progress."

Dr. Smith was preceded by Mayor Porter, who welcomed the delegates to the convention. The delegates, numbering approximately 1000 men, will meet this morning at 7:30 o'clock for a breakfast conference and organization in Boos Brothers' cafeteria, and later in the morning will be the guests of the Chamber of Commerce on a sightseeing tour of the city. The meeting this evening will be in the First Baptist Church.

One of the featured conference meetings will be held tonight in a restaurant at 3070 West Seventh street, when talks by boys on parole from the Preston School of Industry will be given, in addition to a discussion of the problems of the Ione School by Preston L. Hatch and L. T. Nutting, chaplains of the school.

ONLY THREE PALS HUNT PILOT NOW

Rest of Thirty-six Ships Seeking Graham Abandon Efforts and Go Home

Three airmail pilot buddies of Maurice Graham, down in the snows for more than two weeks between Las Vegas, Nev., and Salt Lake City, will stay on the job until they find him, but the rest of the thirty-six airplanes, which have scoured the country for Graham, gave up the search yesterday.

The ships, criss-crossing 40,000 square miles, have investigated every canyon and peak from above and their continued flying can do no good, it was reported at Western Air Express headquarters here last night.

The last to abandon the search were six pursuit ships, which returned to their base at Rockwell Field yesterday.

Jimmie James, Jimmie Carson and Fred W. Kelly, however, will continue to comb the Nevada-Utah district, continuing to hold hope that Graham will be located alive.

Boeing Air Transport will loan pilots to Western Air Express for the Los Angeles-Salt Lake run while the Western Air trio continue the hunt.

Both Sides Rest Their Cases in Gas-Tax Trial

Both defense and prosecution attorneys yesterday rested their cases in the trial of Clement R. Bird, superintendent of the Hercules Oil Company, accused of defrauding the State of gasoline taxes by misrepresenting the quantity of fuel exported from the State. Judge Hardy then adjourned court until 9:30 o'clock Monday morning, when the arguments will be heard.

Joe Ryan and John Hall, representing the defendant, spent the afternoon introducing documentary evidence. Ben J. Scheinman, deputy District Attorney, contends that Bird evaded the State gasoline tax on several occasions by reporting that gasoline had been sold for export when in fact it was sold to local retailers.

Discord Denied by Whiteman

Rumors that Paul Whiteman's picture at Universal is being held up on account of friction between the "jazz king" and executives at the studio were denied yesterday by both Whiteman and Carl Laemmle, Jr., general manager of the Universal organization. It was reported throughout Hollywood that Whiteman had quit the set on which his orchestra is at work making "The King of Jazz," because of lack of co-operation from the management.

CARL LAEMMLE JR.

Whiteman stopped work at the studio yesterday to make an emphatic denial of the reports and give assurance that he is delighted with the progress of his production. Laemmle, Jr., was jovially greeted by the portly musician when the former appeared on the set, and the two shook hands cordially, demonstrating harmony prevails. Work already is being mapped out for the second Whiteman production, young Laemmle announced.

Mrs. Vermilyea Wins Appeal

Minerva D. Vermilyea, 70 years of age, convicted of a violation of the State Labor Act and given a sentence of sixty days in jail, will not have to serve her time under a ruling of the Appellate Department of the Superior Court, handed down yesterday. The decision was given by Superior Judge Bishop and concurred in by the other two members of the tribunal, Superior Judges McLucas and Shaw. The reversal was on the grounds of insufficient evidence to convict Mrs. Vermilyea.

According to the records in the case, Mrs. Vermilyea had been appointed by the court as receiver of an oil well. The well went dry. The money backing the venture gave out and wages were not paid. Mrs. Vermilyea was accused of obtaining labor by false pretenses and failing to keep a record of the time wages were paid.

BAUMGARTEKER "TIP" RECEIVED

Police Officers Surround it With Secrecy, However

Man Declares Friend Knows Merchant's Location

Detectives Seeking Further Details in Search

Withholding the name and all details concerning the reported transaction, Chief of Detectives Taylor and Captain of Detectives Cato, homicide squad commander, admitted yesterday that they had interviewed a man who asserted he had information which will lead to the solution of the mysterious disappearance November 25, last, of Frank Baumgarteker, wealthy local wine merchant.

"We are not prepared at this time to disclose the nature of the information," said Capt. Cato, "as we do not know whether it can be verified. All we can say is that a man who lives out of town told us he knew of another man who knows where Baumgarteker is. He wanted $350 expense money, so we were somewhat dubious as to the authenticity of his information. However, we have detailed two detectives to accompany the man and investigate his assertions."

MORE SECRECY

The manner in which the tip reached the police was shrouded in as much mystery by the detective executives as their explanation of the supposed information. Shortly before noon Chief Taylor, Capt. Cato, Detective Lieutenants Allen and Goudaffer and Investigator King of the District Attorney's office, departed suddenly from Central Police Station. They left no indication of their destination.

A few minutes later it was found that two detectives from Wilshire division had gone to the Seventy-seventh-street police station on the Baumgarteker case. It then was learned that the inquisitorial party had gone there and questioned the mysterious stranger.

On his return to Central Station Chief Taylor declared that no one is in custody and that the Baumgartaker case remains as much a mystery as ever. He denied also that he had received information that part of the missing man's body had been found as it was rumored about police headquarters.

CONTINUED SEARCH

The disappearance of Baumgarteker has formed one of the most baffling problems which ever confronted local police and one in which county and State officials have joined local authorities in a continued search.

Through an attorney Mrs. Baumgarteker has offered a reward of $10,000 for the arrest and conviction of any person or persons responsible for her husband's death and $5000 for the arrest and conviction of any person or persons who have forcibly kidnaped him.

Owner of two wineries and a transportation company Baumgarteker was last seen by an attorney and his business partner, Robert Demateis, a few minutes after a lunch in a cafe near Spring and Eighth streets, November 25, last.

Several days later his purple sedan was found in a garage at San Diego. Police learned that a man in outing clothes and leather jacket had left the machine in the garage late on the night of the wine merchant's disappearance.

Since that time numerous tips purporting to disclose the missing merchant's whereabouts have been received and investigated by police without result.

Little Change in Weather Sighted

No great amount of variety was promised last night by the United States Weather Bureau in its forecast for today, which said, "Cloudy Saturday and probably Sunday, with moderate temperatures."

However, the possibility of further rains is indicated, the observers said, from scattering reports of moisture falls from Northern California cities and from Idaho. The storms gave no indication of moving south, the bureau said, but reports due today might show such a move.

Actress Sights Peaceful Suit

Mildred Harris, former wife of Charley Chaplin, screen comedian, will get her divorce without opposition, it appeared yesterday, when Everett Terrence MacGovern, her present husband, filed an appearance in the suit, through his attorneys, Louis Greenbaum, and Sidney A. Wilson.

MacGovern, who is living in Jacksonville, Fla., was sued last November by Miss Harris, on the ground that he objected to her film career, and deserted her.

BEATING OF JAIL INMATE FACES QUIZ

Police Commission Wants to Know Whom to Blame for Fight With Jailer

An official investigation into the beating of William A. Lucas, a prisoner in the Georgia-street jail, will be undertaken by the Los Angeles Police Commission, Commissioner Drake announced yesterday following a conference with Daniel Beecher, chief of the District Attorney's trial department.

George Bohmfalk, a jailer at the Georgia-street prison, was to have appeared at the District Attorney's office yesterday to make a signed statement concerning the fight between him and Lucas, in which the officer asserts the prisoner bit his fingers, fracturing one of them. He failed to appear, however, and was reported out of town.

The matter first came to the attention of the District Attorney's office when two detectives requested a complaint against Lucas, charging him with mayhem. After hearing the evidence Dep. Dist.-Atty. Richardson declined to file a complaint.

Chief Trial Deputy Beecher asserted he will take no definite action in the matter until the Police Commission inquiry has been finished and it is definitely established whether the prisoner is the victim of brutality or whether a complaint should be charged against him for assaulting an officer.

RESCUE BY AIR SOUGHT FOR SNOWBOUND WRITER

Fear for the safety of George Bruce, former American war ace and a writer of aerial romances, and his wife and children, snowbound on the Bar 37 "dude ranch" near Prescott, Ariz., was expressed at Santa Monica yesterday when a request to rush airplane relief to Bruce and his family was sent to Prescott authorities.

J. W. Glenister, a New York publisher and a friend of Bruce who is spending the winter at Santa Monica, started the relief move after receiving a delayed letter from the writer, which was written the 12th inst., and said that food supplies on the ranch were dwindling.

The publisher immediately wired officers of the Prescott Chamber of Commerce asking them to spare no expense or time in sending aloft an airplane bearing food and supplies to be dropped to Bruce and his family at the snowbound, blizzard-swept ranch.

The letter which Bruce wrote to Glenister on the 12th inst. said that the supplies could not last much longer. Through desperate effort a ranch hand carried the letter from the ranch to a small postoffice miles away. It started from that office on the 16th inst., and was received by Glenister yesterday.

While Bruce and his family enacted in real life roles from his stories, it was indicated from Arizona that a relief airplane would take to the air at once. The Bar 37 ranch is said to be fifty-five miles from Prescott.

Bruce is one of the prominent aces produced by the World War, and in the last few years is reputed to have amassed a fortune from his realistic writings of the romances and adventures of flyers.

Glenister, who is requesting the necessaries of life be sent in to the beleaguered Bruce family, is a close friend of the writer, and both have spent much time with the aviators and airplanes at Clover Field near Santa Monica.

From the contents of the delayed letter from Bruce his friends fear that already his supplies have been exhausted and the family is in critical circumstances.

Witness in Trial of Officers Has All-Day Ordeal

Trial of M. B. Sheffield, Roscoe C. Washington and Richmond Dunn, suspended colored police officers, who are charged with six counts of bribery, proceeded slowly yesterday in Superior Judge Wilson's court. One witness occupied the stand all day.

The witness is Sebe Hendricks, from whom the accused officers are asserted to have taken "protection" money to refrain from pressing Wright Act charges. Hendricks, who testified he had given a diamond stickpin valued at $1500 to Sheffield as security for a "debt" of $1000 was under cross-examination the greater part of the day.

The trial will be resumed Monday. Dep. Dist.-Attys. Dennison and McKay are prosecuting.

Woman to Face Forgery Trial

Mrs. Frances Clayton Hedman, 26 years of age, was held for Superior Court trial on two counts of forgery yesterday by Municipal Judge Ambrose. Bail was fixed at $1000.

Mrs. Hedman is accused by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Russell of forging the name of her aunt, Mrs. Lillian Bartels, of 119 Seventeenth street, Santa Monica, to checks for $350 and $250 on December 24, last. In defense she declared that she had previously signed her aunt's name to checks for $50 each on four occasions, all of the checks being honored. She maintained there was no intent to forge her aunt's name, which she believed she had authority to sign.

convict. I doubt not that San Quentin would be one of the best prisons in the country if these abuses were abolished or ameliorated.

True, a man may appeal to Warden Holohan, but his offices are outside the prison walls and letters to him are answered by his secretary. Because of this he knows little of the many appeals made to him, and many of the men feel that he is not interested in their condition. It is fair to say, however, that once a reasonable request for an interview, based upon substantial ground, reaches the warden it is seriously considered by him.

All the inmates regard the warden as their friend. Personally, I have a most excellent reason to know his kindness. He is a generous, strong, silent man, not a softy, mind you, but stern and just as the occasion demands. He does the best he can with the material he has to work with; the major fault lies with the State.

Missing Bank Employee Held on Board Ship

Word was received yesterday by Asst. U.S.-Atty. Layng that Claude Daniels, 24 years of age, once a book-keeper for the First National Bank of Fresno, is under arrest on board a steamer bound for Liverpool, Eng. He is accused of embezzlement of about $7000 of bank funds.

After Daniels's disappearance on November 30, 1929, bank officials checked up and found, it is reported, a shortage in his books. He was traced to Galveston, Tex., where he is said to have boarded the steamer for Liverpool. He is the son of a police officer at Fresno.

with 10,000 wage earners employed. There were important expansions also in the automobile and accessories industries, cement and oil refining.

FILM INDUSTRY GROWS

The motion-picture industry, now regularly employing 30,000 persons, increased output during 1929. The production budget ending in 1930 is reported as $165,000,000.

As in other parts of the State, the iron and steel industries showed marked development. The entry of the United States Steel Corporation and the Bethlehem Steel Corporation foreshadows the important future developments in this basic activity.

Torrance reports the addition of a $38,000,000 refinery and a $4,000,000 cement plant as outstanding developments of 1929. Six large manufacturing plants were located in Compton.

The most important developments in Long Beach were reported as the purchase of fifteen acres on the water front where Procter and Gamble Company have contracted to build a $5,000,000 nitrogen fixation plant. Detroit Aircraft Corporation and Consolidated Aircraft Corporation also were reported to have acquired factory sites in the Long Beach district.

Increased production by canneries and farm plants and the acquisition of the site for a $4,000,000 plant by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company were some of the steps reported from Santa Ana.

San Diego reported that establishment of faster railroad service, new trucking lines and air express service aided in increasing industrial expansion and employment throughout the county last year, the report points out.

BANDITS IMPRISON FAMILY

Robbers Lock Koehls in Closet, Then Plunder Wilshire Boulevard Apartment and Escape

After forcing their victims into a closet at the point of a gun and then locking the door, two bandits last night rifled the apartment of James A. Koehl, attorney, at 6128 Wilshire Boulevard, and escaped in an automobile with $50 in cash and three diamond rings valued at $1300.

Koehl was at dinner with his wife, his son, Frederick, and his brother, William, when the robbers knocked on the door, and announced they wished to talk to Mrs. Koehl. The attorney admitted them, whereupon they whipped out revolvers and commanded the family to step into a closet. Turning the key, they then ransacked the apartment, found the money and rings an fled.

Throwing his weight against the door Koehl later broke through it and notified police. Detective Lieutenant Sauter of Wilshire division is investigating.

In another hold-up last night a lone bandit obtained $30 from a Clarence Saunders store at 1600 South Vermont avenue. While a dozen customers stood in line behind him waiting to pay for their purchases, the robber leveled a gun at Theodore Ittner, cashier, and with his other hand reached for the cash drawer. He, too, escaped in a waiting automobile.

BIRD CHARGED WITH MURDER

New Complaint Filed Against Sportsman in Killing

More Evidence Uncovered in Watson Slaying

Original Manslaughter Count Dismissed by Court

Maj. Owen R. Bird, prominent sportsman who is asserted to have shot and killed Percival Graham Watson in his home last November, yesterday was charged with murder in a new complaint filed by the District Attorney's office.

The murder charge was made after Superior Judge Wood, in whose court Maj. Bird was scheduled to go to trial, denied a motion of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Penney to file an amended information charging murder instead of the manslaughter count on which the case was brought into Superior Court.

Following Judge Wood's action denying the motion, Penney asked for a dismissal of the information. The request was granted and the new complaint charging murder then was filed in Municipal Judge Ambrose's court.

Maj. Bird was arraigned on the new complaint, and his preliminary hearing was set for February 4. An application for bail was denied and Maj. Bird was remanded to County Jail.

It is said the District Attorney's action in seeking to press the case to trial on a murder charge is due to newly discovered evidence.

Maj. Bird is asserted to have shot Watson with a pistol the sportsman was accustomed to use in starting races. At the time of his arrest, Maj. Bird told police Watson was his "best friend" and had been living at his home for some time prior to the shooting.

MRS. BRYAN PAID TRIBUTE

many times during her career and she never failed. She was a woman of high ideals, who lived in a realm of the true, the beautiful and the good, a great Christian and of great faith.

ESSAY QUOTED

And as a final source of comfort to those who mourn Mrs. Bryan, Dr. Lash read an extract from William Jennings Bryan's essay on "Immortality" in his book, "The Prince of Peace," which Mrs. Bryan had requested read at her funeral service because it best expressed her own belief in immortality. The essence of the essay lies in the line, "I am as sure that we shall live again as that we live today."

Frank E. Geiger, soloist, sang several numbers throughout the service and at its conclusion, those who had known and loved Mrs. Bryan in her life, filed solemnly past the blossom-banked bier to say their last farewell.

Members of the family who were present at the service were her daughter, Mrs. Grace Bryan Hargreaves and Mr. and Mrs. William J. Bryan, Jr., and their children, Helen Virginia Bryan and Arthur S. Ballinger. Another daughter, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, Representative from Florida in Congress, was in Washington, D. C.

Following the services the remains were cremated and at a later date will be taken to the Arlington National Cemetery, Washington, where they will be placed beside the grave of William Jennings Bryan.

Fisch Arraigned on Usury Charge

Harold Fisch, official of the Fisch Financial Company, 254 South Broadway, was arraigned in Municipal Court yesterday on usury charges. Judge Curtis granted him until the 29th inst. to plead and ordered him released on $250 bail.

Frank A. Stone, 10607 Lou Dillon avenue, who was recently awarded triple damages in a civil action growing out of the asserted usury, signed the complaint against Fisch, which accuses him of accepting $30 interest on a loan of $320 for two weeks.

Mabel Normand and Cody Sued

Lew Cody, film actor, and his wife, Mabel Normand, actress, are named defendants in a suit for $1200 filed yesterday in Municipal Court. The money is asserted to be due for medical services rendered by Dr. Frank E. Smith of New York.

Dr. Smith asserts that the account has been due jointly from Cody and Miss Normand since January 21, 1929. The amount originally due was $1485, of which $285 has been paid, he declares.

Woman Finds Revolver and Radio on Front Porch as Burglary Sequel

Deputy sheriffs yesterday sought an explanation for the return of articles taken early this week in a burglary of the home of Miss Blanche Elliott, 1804 Juniper avenue. According to a report on file in the Sheriff's office yesterday, Miss Elliott stated some one rang her doorbell and, answering it, she found a radio and revolver, stolen from the house some time between last Sunday night and Monday morning, on the front porch.

Miss Elliott stated she was in time to see an automobile turn a corner a short distance away at a high rate of speed.

Why not take candymaking lessons, personally or by mail? The Liberty Candy Co. reports this week find their students busier than ever; this speaks well for their wonderful candies (which have just been introduced from Europe.) If you want to make money get their plan at once. Phone TUcker 4186, call personally or write for booklet. Liberty Candy Supply Co., fourth floor, Grant Bldg., 356 So. Broadway.

A small safety pin will serve as a bodkin for threading ribbon through underwear, etc. Keep a crochet hook in the sewing basket for use when a drawing string or tape disappears within its casing; it can be easily drawn out by using the hook.

You cannot realize how superlatively good Mayflower Potato Chips are until you try a package. The quality is noticeable at once—the crispiness and freshness of them are at once apparent. Now, when you order, be sure to see that you get the Mayflower brand, "sold by better grocers." They are winners!

For a good stocking darner, use a discarded electric light bulb. When darning holes in children's socks, cut a round piece from an old sock or stocking of the same color, put it underneath the hole and darn neatly around it; it will scarcely show on the right side and is stronger and more comfortable than the usual bulky yarn.

Some day or other you will have need for the name of a first-class upholsterer and so with that thought in mind we hasten to recommend the wor of H. E. Simank or 735 W. 9th St. He will re-cover your overstuffed pieces of furniture beautifully and not be excessive in his charges either. Phone him any time for an estimate. TUcker 3462 is the number.

The strong brown paper that comes around the laundry is just the thing for the pantry shelves, where we keep our pots and pans. It is much more durable than shelf paper and does not soil nearly so easily.

To wash silk stockings and underwear—First soak them for ten minutes in fairly strong borax water; then wash rapidly through lukewarm water; rinse thoroughly in two waters of lukewarm temperature. Never rub soap directly on silk in washing it.

Have you not some pieces of jewelry which you would wear if they were mended?—Then by all means take such articles up to Mr. Kent of the Peerless Platers, 239½ S. Spring (upstairs.) He is very reasonable in his charges and does such very good work. He can copy any articles you want him to.

In the sewing basket, keep a small horseshoe magnet, attached to ribbon or tape of sufficient length so that it may be dropped to the floor to pick up the scissors, needles, broken needles, etc. Also keep a small pill vial in the basket, or machine drawer, in which to put bent pins, broken needles, etc.

I am not supposed to be conducting a health column in my department, but I feel that the following valuable information will be of so much benefit to my readers if acted upon, that I am going to publish it anyway.

On every side I hear of so much suffering from acid condition of the system. Headaches, indigestion, rheumatism, neuritis, high blood pressure, are most always certain results of an acid condition in the system.

The average cup of boiled or percolated coffee contains from 2.65 to 2.95 grains of tannic acid, a fixed acid which our digestive juices cannot turn to alkaline, and when taken as a regular dose or doses by the daily cup or cups of coffee, sooner or later is going to accumulate to a degree that will cause distress.

This problem has been solved for coffee lovers in the combination of new Ben-Hur Healthful Drip Coffee, which has been developed in every way with the objective of making a most healthful beverage, and the Ben-Hur Healthful Coffee making appliances which have been developed especially for the use of this new coffee.

Science has determined that tannic acid commences to release into the beverage after ninety seconds of boiling. By the healthful drip method of making, the coffee is not boiled at all, therefore the release of the tannic acid is checked. The average cup of coffee made by this method only shows 0.29 of tannic.

Among hundreds of letters which I happen to have had the privilege of seeing read what Mrs. F. A. Delamarter of the Santa Barbara School for Boys, has to say—just a portion of a very enthusiastic letter in praise of Ben-Hur Drip Coffee:

"The most important of all, are its healthful qualities, the real test today demanding consideration in our daily menus. What means more to a housewife than the health and happiness of her husband, the provider who enjoys delicious coffee, the universal but supposedly harmful drink. A testimonial comes from my husband, a coffee enthusiast, troubled with acid stomach, unable comfortably to drink percolated coffee but who now drinks all he desires of Ben-Hur Drip Coffee made the healthful way. He says to friends often dropping in for coffee at our home, 'I drink this coffee any time without loss of sleep, nor acid trouble from its use.' To Ben-Hur Drip Coffee we gladly give credit for this. During months past I have counted it a real service to have recommended this coffee to my personal friends and passing acquaintances.

You are certain to require the services of Arthur M. Werner, the Custom Shirt maker of 111 S. Spring street, MUtual 1589, who in an unusually expert manner attaches collars to shirts—turns cuffs—shortens sleeves and does all kind of altering so very reasonably.

A piece of carpet sewed on the tread of the sewing-machine makes for more comfort in sewing.

To avoid rusty hooks and eyes—Before sewing on hooks and eyes, boil them in strong soda water and they will not rust in the wash.

You can always find a place in your home for fluff rugs which can be made from old carpets by the Hoffman Rug Works, 2914 W. Jefferson St. (KEdpire 2048.) They also make stunning oval Colonial rugs from rags. The cost, by the way, is very small.

A little maple syrup or a teaspoonful of strained honey added to whipped cream instead of sugar gives the cream a welcome change of flavor.

One or two drops of glycerine, or one-half teaspoonful of cornstarch, added to the cream will make it whip quicker and does not affect the taste.

Did you ever know hot biscuits, waffles and hot cakes could be so greatly improved as they are now that you have started using Guasti Wine Jellies on them? But my word, it isn't only on hot breads that Guasti Wine Jellies are good, but for hot and cold meats, layer cakes, fruit salads, flavoring for gelatine desserts and "umpteen" other ways they have a great appeal. You may not realize this—that they are obtainable in so many flavors such as Sherry, Burgundy, Tokay, Muscatel, Port, Sauterne and Mint and an interesting point is this: once you try these different flavors you will find yourself ordering the seven varieties from then on—in other words you want them all to keep on hand.

There shouldn't be any difficulty in buying them for all the better grocers sell them. Insist upon the Guasti brand, however—don't take a substitute. If, for, any reason, your grocer is without them at the moment, call the Italian Vineyard Company of 1248 Palmetto street, Los Angeles (MUtual 2124) and you will have your order given prompt attention.

Are you satisfied with the frames of your favorite prints—suppose they are antiquated and lacking in up-to-dateness. Why don't you have new frames, which are smart and ultra for them? At no shop can you find lovelier moldings for your Chinese prints, old English prints, etchings, wood cuts, etc., than at any one of Mathews Paint Company's three shops. They do such splendid work, you know, that it is a pleasure to go to them. These three addresses jot down or memorize so you may use them soon: 1248 S. Hill at Pico; 1859 Vine at Selma and in Pasadena the third is at Oak Knoll and Green.

Snaps on fine frocks—Instead of sewing snaps on very fine organdie, voile, etc., sew them to a strip of silk tape and whip the tape along the hem where the snaps should go; this prevents the snaps from cutting through the material, especially when ironing.

Use wire paper clips to join two edges of material instead of basting them; they will hold the two sections securely while the seam is being stitched. Also useful in cutting out patterns, especially the straight edges.

The reason we urge you to open an account in the Woman's Department of the Bank of Italy National Trust and Savings Association at 7th and Olive, is because you receive such unusually courteous treatment at all times and under every condition. Besides enjoying their hospitality you may confer with the charming head of this department—Miss Grace W. Stoermer—on all financial matters and find her glad to assist in every way possible.

Dost thou love life, then do not squander time for that is the stuff life is made of.—[Benjamin Franklin.

Stuffing for pincushions—Use common rye meal, or washed and dried coffee grounds; will not rust pins or blunt the points.

Especially this time of the year when you are clearing out the clothes and other articles you no longer have need for, the following news will prove of value. Send all such items to the Children's Hospital Salvage Department, 712 Maple Ave. (TUcker 1303,) where they will be sold and the money used for a remarkable charitable purpose.

When cutting patterns from chiffon and other filmsy materials, lay the material between two sheets of newspaper and cut through the paper; either pins or basting may be used to hold material in position and no difficulty will be experienced in cutting accurately to pattern.

RAID BALLYHOO BALLY HOOEY

Reporters Mobilize on Tip That Mayor Porter Was to be Generalissimo of Spectacular Vice Crusade, But Whoever Said It Was Only Broadcasting

"Mayor Porter has turned vice crusader and with City Prosecutor Nix is going to lead the greatest vice raid in the history of the town. With sledges and axes, doors are to be broken down and the jails filled with cringing prisoners and underworld characters."

Yesterday at noon this report, whispered over the telephones, came to every newspaper office in the city and it came from someone asserting to be connected with Prosecutor Nix's office.

But investigation by a dozen newspaper reporters, flanked by cameramen set upon getting pictures of Mayor Porter with a hefty sledge in his hands, failed to confirm the original report. However, some facts were uncovered.

Fifteen investigators gathered in the hallways of Prosecutor Nix's office and milled around for half an hour waiting, they said, for Mayor Porter and Prosecutor Nix to command the advance. None of them said they had any knowledge of where they were going, but revolvers and other weapons were much in evidence.

At noon came word from Mayor Porter's office that the executive didn't know anything about a raid and that if he did know anything about one he felt no inclination to take a personal part in it.

"Did the Mayor say he didn't know anything about the raid?" asked Prosecutor Nix.

"He just said so," a mob of reporters answered.

"Well, then, he doesn't know anything about it," replied the prosecutor in a general remark directed to no one, and returned to his office.

So, without any general, the army of some fifteen investigators, with the newspaper reporters and the cameramen flanking it, moved out of the City Hall and swooped down on 4018½ Central avenue and rushed into the establishment.

Somewhere between the City Hall and the Central-avenue address the reporters learned from the investigators that a report had been received that someone was "playing the horses" and that gambling was to be ended at once.

Hours later George Tittington of 5706 Dougherty street, said to be the manager of the raided establishment, and Joe De Tiege of 1118 East Twenty-seventh street, a cook, were booked at Central Police Station under a form chart possession charge.

The usual fine for this offense is $10.

REALTY MAN ARRESTED IN FRAUD CASE

Thomas Harrison Accused by Police of Victimizing Gas Station Lessees

Thomas E. Harrison, 43 years of age, said to be president of the Allied Realty Company, Inc., with offices at 4675 Hollywood Boulevard, yesterday was arrested by police of the bunko detail and booked in the City Jail on suspicion of grand theft. He was taken in custody in a parking station at 1723 North Cahuenga avenue by Detective Lieutenants Swan and Marshall.

According to the officers, Harrison for some time has been victimizing lessees of property by representing fraudulently that he was empowered to act for the owners. It is charged specifically that he defrauded F. D. Morgan of $650 and A. E. Verneau of $950 in connection with the leasing of gasoline service stations. The detectives assert the amount obtained by Harrison through other similar deals may total $200,000.

Harrison's arrest is the result of an investigation conducted at the request of the Better Business Bureau. He gave his residence as 2111 Marino Drive.

Today's Bible Text

Nevertheless I tell you the truth; it is expedient for you that I go away: for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I depart, I will send him unto you.—John xvi:7.

PRUNING TIME

It is the business of the budgeteers to prune. The thrifty gentlemen may not be full of prunes, but they crave the aid and attention of divers and sundry competent pruners.

CHILLS ON WAIKIKI BEACH

Over at Honolulu a temperature of 58 deg. was reported the other day. This was said to be the coldest known in more than twenty years. Some of the hula dancers had to go home and get reinforced.

FRANCE AND GLORY

France is said to be seeking recognition as a first-class power on both land and sea. There is no objection over here to France being recognized as a first-class power on her past history. She can have that and still drown her boats.

NOTHING DOING

Soviet leaders are said to be making determined efforts to establish a permanent footing in Mexico, but so far have not been very successful. Whenever they stage a demonstration they get no support from the masses. Even the labor leaders in the cactus country will have little commerce with the commune.

OUR ISLAND AFFAIRS

Senator Bingham offers a joint resolution in Congress which would create a division of insular affairs in our governmental machinery. This bureau would probably be under the Secretary of State and would have authority over our island wards—such as the Philippines, Porto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Guam. It would concentrate responsibility and simplify government—that is, the Connecticut Senator so believes. But there will be a lot of discussion before the resolution is passed.

THE OLDEST PARLIAMENT

Seems that Iceland has about the oldest of earth's parliaments. The first Althing assembled in the year 930 and its thousandth anniversary will be celebrated in June. There are thirty-six members, of which thirty are elected by the householders and six named by the King of Denmark. Iceland is a bleak and barren isle with a volcanic background. It is about the size of the State of Ohio, but has few industries or raw materials—in fact, fish is the rawest thing they have. The islanders have to import almost everything they use. They are said to be the best buyers, per capita, of any people on earth. So their trade is worth while and the people are to be congratulated on the stability of their Parliament. Incidentally, they have the coldest of modern civilizations.

BRYAN'S INSPIRATION

When the "Great Commoner" passed away he received national honors and his name was inscribed among the world's immortals. An equal tribute is due his widow, Mary Baird Bryan, his help, strength and inspiration throughout his stormy political career, who has gone to join her illustrious husband in whatever rewards the unknown holds for those who have deserved well on earth.

Until his death three and a half years ago, William Jennings Bryan, through his thirty-five years of political life, was constantly supported by this noble woman, at once the mother of his children and his active helpmate in the many fights he waged for the moral and civic principles of his belief. Mary Bryan, indeed, proved by her own deeds that worthy wifehood and a public career are not incompatible—she proved it by insuring that career not for herself, but for her husband.

In the memoirs of William Jennings Bryan, which she completed after his death, she inscribed this leading paragraph: "I hold the theory that if a wife does not show an interest in her husband's work and does not go with him when he asks her, the time will come when he will cease to ask her." It is a word of advice and warning that many a living woman today might well take to heart.

MEXICO AND RUSSIA

The break in friendly relations between Mexico and the Russian soviet government, resulting in the withdrawal of even a Charge d'Affaires from the Mexican legation at Moscow is now complete with the requested departure of the soviet minister from Mexico City. It is directly caused by the insults hurled at President-elect Ortiz Rubio and other Mexican officials in various parts of the world by Communist demonstrators; but indirectly, of course, by the activities of the Third Internationale in Mexico. The Mexican government, finding these activities subversive, recently repressed some of them and arrested a number of Communist leaders.

The solidarity of the Communist movement with Moscow and the fact that all wires are pulled from there are proved by the fact that demonstrations in a widely separated number of places followed.

The development is the more interesting because the sympathy of Mexican revolutionist leaders with Moscow has generally been assumed. But apparently there can be no such thing as friendly sympathy with the Moscow government. Mexico is discovering this fact, as other nations have discovered it. The disposition of the Communist dictators to betray friendships, to undermine, to stab in the back, is too firmly rooted to permit of any exceptions. They will make use of the least toleration for their own purposes. What they want is not friends, but men who will take orders; or rather what they want is catspaws to pull their chestnuts out of the fire. Those who try to be friendly discover, sooner or later, that they are mere dupes, of which use is being made not to their advantage but to Moscow's.

Presumably the old excuse that the soviet dictatorship does not control the Third Internationale will be offered to Mexico in an effort to patch matters up, but the Mexican government is unlikely to be taken in by it.

The extent, and the results, of Communist penetration and agitation were shown by a world labor survey made last year, of which the results were summarized by Henry Harrison Lewis in The Times of November 10. This survey showed that the growth of trade-union membership during the years from 1925 to 1928 was greatest in the countries in which soviet agitators were most active. The growth was estimated at 10,000,000 members in the sixty-two countries surveyed and was greatest in China, where the 298,000 unionists of 1925 had swelled to 3,000,000 by 1928. A 500,000 increase in Germany and a 200,000 increase in Mexico were attributed largely to the same cause. The Third Internationale began the process of "boring from within" among existing trade unions twelve years ago and it has never been halted.

Though Bolshevism has been unsuccessful in taking over the Mexican revolution, the Russian emissaries have been powerful enough to make trouble. The 1929 strike in the Ford plant in Mexico was, it is believed, directly due to "foreign influence;" it was not instigated by Mexicans nor due to any geniuine complaint about wages, hours or working conditions. Several other disturbances were traced to the same source.

Apparently Communist agitation in Mexico had reached the point where it was becoming decidedly annoying, if not dangerous, to the government and to the plans of the Mexican leaders for industrial development. These plans are felt to be too important to Mexico to permit outside interference in them. It is the nature of agitators to put a finger into everything, and the alternative of suppressing the agitators or giving up the plans was presented to the Mexican government. It could not have acted otherwise.

The breaking off of relations shows that Mexico, if it has hitherto not wanted to see that Russian Communism is the common enemy of organized progress, is at last awake to the situation and will no longer play Moscow's game, even by tolerance. Live and let live is a policy which will not work on one side alone. Communism and civilization are mutually exclusive, and Mexico is finding it out.

BEHIND THE PROCESSION

In handling its street-traffic problems Los Angeles does not occupy the position it ought to as the fourth largest city of the United States. In this respect it lags behind many American and European cities which it has outstripped in wealth and population. Some six years or more ago the question of building subways was taken up as a practical and immediate problem to relieve our street traffic congestion and then, until revived by the City Planning Commission the other day, was allowed to sink into the traditional state of "innocuous desuetude."

Building subways to accommodate city traffic dates back to 1853, when London built its first underground railway for steam cars. In 1886 that same old slowpoke city installed an electrically equipped subway service. Budapest, a not too opulent city in a backward Balkan state, constructed a subway railroad in 1893. Boston, Berlin and Glasgow followed by the end of the century. At that time none of these cities, with the exception of London, had the wealth, the population or the future that Los Angeles has today.

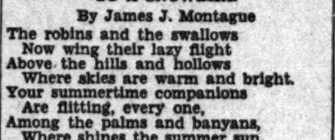
Paris, in 1898, started the first comprehensive subway system to feed the whole city as a municipal enterprise. In 1900 New York fell into line and constructed the first four-track rapid transit system, since which time it has developed the greatest subway street-car traffic to be found in the world. The cost of this gigantic enterprise was shared between the City of New York and the Brooklyn and Interborough transportation companies. Chicago and Philadelphia now have subway travel to relieve surface traffic.

Perhaps at the beginning of the century there was less talking about doing things and more action in getting them done. That alone seems to account for a comparatively small city like Budapest employing this modern convenience which the metropolis of western America still only discusses intermittently. For our need of subway relief is greater than that of any of the cities which pioneered the movement, our population is greater than that of Boston, our foresight should be as keen as that of New York, our wealth certainly exceeds that of Glasgow.

We have more automobiles per capita than any other city and a faster growing population. Nothing impedes business more than congested streets. We ought not to remain behind the procession in adopting the modern and essential relief to be found in a system of subways.

BORDERLAND SURGERY

It is pointed out that this country has something over 18,000 miles of coast line or borderland. It would take a lot of sleuths to patrol the edges and keep contraband goods from being pushed across. Maybe we should persuade Canada and Mexico to go prohibition and ease the job. For a thing to be legal on one side of the border and illicit on the other is tough business for somebody.



TO A SNOWBIRD

By James J. Montague

The robins and the swallows
Now wing their lazy flight
Where skies are warm and bright.
Your summertime companions
Are flitting, every one,
Among the palms and banyans,
Where shines the summer sun.

Last fall the catbird started
For some far southern port;
The orioles departed
When first the days grew short;
The bluebirds meet together
In some subtropic zone,
Where kindly is the weather
And blizzards are unknown.

But when the snow is drifting
Across the wind-swept lea,
I hear you bravely lifting
Your cheery "chickadee;"
You have no wish to wander,
Though other songsters roam
To sunnier skies down yonder;
You'd rather stay at home.

No doubt you are a hero,
But braving Arctic gales
With temperatures at zero
On fields and hills and dales,
When clothed with snowy pallor
Are hedge and tree and fence,
Although it proves your valor
Don't say much for your sense!

Today's Thrift Lesson

While Mrs. Jenkins, who faithfully guards our sanctum against all such, was out for luncheon, a high-pressure salesman burst into our office and almost sold us something else we didn't want.

The only thing which saved us was that it was a very inexpensive article. Had it been expensive, so that he could have sold it for nothing down and so-little-a-week, we would have been his helpless prey, useless as the article was to us. But as it sold for only 50 cents, time payments were out of the question and we escaped.

But it just struck us that high salesman pressure drives more of us to early graves than does high blood pressure.

Oh, Shute!

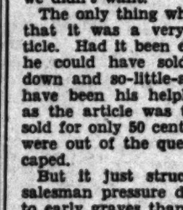
Another "Little Theater"

The four most impressive plays we saw last year were "The World We Live In," "The Dybbuk," "Man and Superman" and "The Bluebird." Of course, we didn't see all the shows, by any means. And we wouldn't want to see plays like those every week. For a steady diet, we prefer good talkies, musical comedies and Duffy shows. But as we look back those four stand out, and it occurs to us that none was presented at a "commercial" theater. The first named was at the Figueroa Playhouse, "the Los Angeles Repertory Theater," and the others at the Pasadena Community Playhouse.



The commercial playhouse must, of course, be our main reliance for entertainment. It is linked up with the organizations which spend millions to produce plays and hold up the greatest prizes to arouse and inspire playwrights and actors. But there is a place for the noncommercial playhouse in every big city; and so the announcement that the Civic Repertory Theater has been organized to present "drama at its best for intelligent people" in the Hollywood Music Box is interesting. This is an all-professional organization in which H. Ellis Reed, one of the original promoters of both the Hollywood Bowl and the Pilgrimage Play, is one of the prime movers. It will present eight plays this season, beginning with "And So to Bed," a dramatization of Samuel Pepys's diary, and including Galsworthy's "The Skin Game," Rideout's "Goin' Home" and Ibsen's "An Enemy of the People."

Shouldn't Lack Clients

Well, quite a few gentlemen need cleaning, these furnace-tending days. And some ladies seem always in need of pressing.

Laugh's On Us

The Leeside recently said:

"There are many humane societies in Los Angeles county and doubtless all are good. But there is one in San Gabriel which is different and which many a stray dog or half-starved cat or abandoned goat or horse must think it heaven. There they are taken in ambulances, given food good enough for human beings, placed in pens in which each has a little yard in which to get sun and air, behind which is a little steam-heated room with a warm, soft bed in it, wholesome meals and a bone to gnaw on every night!"

"How those horses must laugh," writes Anna Littick, "when they get their bones to gnaw on every night."

Indian Princesses

We have seen the assertion that there are no American Indian princesses, but Princess Nag-Glee-Nona-Ba assures us that there are.

Princess Nag-Glee-etc. is a sweet-faced Navajo, now in Palm Springs. She showed us how Navajo blankets are woven, months of work going into every rug. And when we asked about princesses she smiled:

"Of course, the word 'princess' is English," she said, "but we have corresponding names among Indians. My father was a medicine man of the Navajos and I have certain hereditary rights and distinctions. When the Navajos ruled a territory greater than that of any European principality, why should they not have had princes and princesses? No one doubts that the Prince of Monaco is a prince, yet Monaco would have been but a small corner of the empire of the Navajos. A medicine man of a great Indian tribe had more authority than many a prince has had, and his descendants were of the Indian blood royal. Tribal organizations differed in different parts of America, but the Navajos had princesses. And, down in Mexico, was not Montezuma an emperor?"

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

NO PLACE FOR SUCH LEGISLATION

[Detroit Free Press]

The wastebasket is the proper place for the bill before Congress designed to restrict the immigration into this country of persons born in other lands of the Western Hemisphere. Such a measure can serve no necessary end, and will tend to create a feeling of irritation and unfriendliness toward the United States among its sister countries of the New World. In some ways it will be directly injurious to the nation; and it is particularly obnoxious because in its practical application, it is aimed chiefly at the people of Canada and Mexico.

Restriction of the free flow of citizens of the United States and Canada, who desire to go either way between their respective countries, will be foolish and vicious, and will be violently contrary to all tradition and practice. There should be no more distinction between Americans and Canadians, as far as migration is concerned, than there is between the citizens of Michigan and Ohio.

What is true with respect to Canada, is also true with respect to Mexico. Any attempt to put up the bars against people born below the Rio Grande will be a slap at all the best efforts under way to promote and maintain good relations and a spirit of friendliness between the United States and Mexico, and will cause far more harm than can possibly be compensated for by any fancied good to anybody.

We say fancied good, because arbitrary exclusion of Mexicans from this country will cause considerable practical harm. In some regions of the Southwest their presence is essential to development. The climate is their climate, and they can work there and thrive and be happy, whereas people of European, and particularly of north European extraction, collapse and become practically useless when they attempt hard manual labor. Railroads and road builders would find themselves up against a rather bad problem, if they should be deprived of the Mexican labor which comes over the frontier for employment in the southern border States. Indeed, even as for north as Michigan some construction enterprise must depend upon the southern aborigine, now that the immigration law has cut off the supply of workers from Europe.

THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

THE SCHOOL OF RELIGION

BY DEAN JOHN F. FISHER, D.D.

The beginning of the School of Religion in the form which it took at the first antedated creation of the University of Southern California itself. In 1876 the Southern California Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church accepted the ownership of and responsibility for the Los Angeles Academy, a distinctively Christian institution—a veritable school of religion. In 1885 the Maclay College of Theology, made possible by the gift of the Hon. Charles Maclay, valued at $150,000, was initiated near the present site of San Fernando, becoming affiliated with the university. Coming later to the campus, it occupied the first building erected for the university. In April, 1888, Dr. R. S. Maclay was selected dean, in which capacity he served till June, 1893. The college experienced many vicissitudes and more than once temporarily closed its doors because of inadequate financial support.

In 1907 a resolution was presented to the Methodist conference requesting the reopening of the college, the election of a well-qualified dean and the launching of an endowment campaign. The resolution quickly passing, Dr. Ezra A. Healy was selected dean, continuing in office until 1921, when he was made dean-emeritus and Dr. John F. Fisher was made dean. Dean Healy, ripe scholar, kindly administrator and withal a genial Christian gentleman, greatly endeared himself to multitudes of friends; no one connected with the entire university is more universally beloved than he.

In 1928 a change in the legal character of the university's governing board was made whereby the trustees became a self-perpetuating body instead of being subject to election by the conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Thereupon a commission was appointed by Bishop Charles Wesley Burns to study the situation and recommend a future policy for the school of religion. This commission made a preliminary report in the fall of 1929 and was continued for another year.

By a reorganization in 1922 Maclay College of Theology and the department of religious education in the university were coordinated and became the School of Religion on the Maclay foundation. Thus the University of Southern California, having been originated and owned by the Southern California Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, was distinctively a Christian institution. The development and integration of the religious units of the university were being directed toward the end of conserving the original ideals incorporated into its organization at the beginning.

Courses of the school of religion cover the entire field of the religions of the world from remotest beginnings to the present time, every phase of them being widely studied. Their influence as determining factors in the civilization and culture of peoples and nations, ancient and modern, is carefully traced through their history, their arts and their sacred literature, and in this study an understanding is reached of the nature and value of their character and attainments which may be obtained in no other way. The Bible is studied, not merely as the Sacred Book of Judaism and Christianity, but as a source book of history, literature and civilization in the long period which its writings cover. Its standards, principles and ideals are also followed as dominating factors out into the history subsequent to the New Testament age. Similarly related courses enlarge the field of study and trace religion and its implications out into all phases of life. Religion thus becomes a basic factor for all the humanities, the arts and the sciences and its outreach is toward the ultimate consummation of all human interests. Its mission to men it declares to be "That they may have life, and that they may have it more abundantly."

A special contribution of the school of religion to general religious interpretation and understanding has been the biennial series of lectures given on the new era lectureship foundation. Beginning with the first in 1919 the series has included the following: "Evangelism in the Remaking of the World," Bishop Adna W. Leonard; "The Virgin Birth in the Writings of St. Paul," Bishop Richard J. Cooke; "Living Together," Bishop Francis J. McConnell; "The Family of God," Bishop Edwin H. Hughes; "The Unique Status of Man," Dr. H. Wildon Carr; "The Nature and History of Mysticism," Dr. Rufus M. Jones. With a single exception these series of lectures have been published in book form.

The School of Religion is not only cultural, but also vocational. While maintaining a true scholastic and academic spirit in an unbiased search for all truth in its field, yet it does not put itself into a detached position of mere disintegrated observation. It holds itself under special obligation to the state, to society and to the church, to make itself effective in the application to human welfare and progress of the ideals and forces of religion. This result it seeks to accomplish by providing vocational training for students who are forming their purpose to devote their lives to religious service or some related form of welfare work. They have taken courses which have informed them comprehensively on all phases of religion, and they have been stirred with the conviction that they should make such service their life work. The fields for such service are more numerous in our day than ever before and they urgently call for adequately equipped administrators and leaders.

The appeal of the church for such leadership was never so insistent. To meet this call the School of Religion is specially organized to furnish the necessary vocational training. It trains students for the ministry, for leadership in religious education and character building, for missionary service at home and abroad, for work in Y.M.C.A., Y.W.C.A. and similar organizations and for all the numerous forms of welfare and charitable work which are making so great a contribution to human uplift and the progress of civilization. It lays special emphasis upon the chief welfare agency in our modern organization of society, the Christian church, with its great truths and high ideals and seeks to heed its call for an ever-increasing number of new leaders thoroughly equipped for all its many forms of organization and service. It offers the degree of master of theology to graduate students preparing for the ministry and for special forms of service in many fields. It maintains a vocational department of religious education, kept abreast of the times in this rapidly developing field. Certificates are given to students satisfactorily completing its requirements. In this vocational department students are in various ways kept in close touch with the fields of service, so that they are prepared to go from their courses of study directly into places of leadership in churches and other organizations. From beginning to end all instruction is of the most vital and up-to-date sort, and students are held closely to conditions and the movement of affairs in the day in which they live. They are taught to face and broadly interpret the life of the world today and be prepared to meet the situation with the best possible means of removing ills and adding those ideals and forces which will be ever leading to better life on higher levels.

In its work both cultural and vocational it has the great advantage of being integrated with other departments of the university closely related to its field, which in curriculum and faculty take rank with the best in the country. Among these may be mentioned philosophy, psychology, sociology, history, education, speech, literature (in numerous divisions,) political science, international relations and physical education. For making its work most effective the School of Religion has the additional advantage of exceptional library facilities. It has a library of its own specially adapted to graduate students in its departments. To a collection of volumes already numerous and most valuable, additions are constantly being made, special attention being given to the most important new books and periodicals related to any phase of its study. Open to its students also are the other great libraries of the university—the general library, already large and being rapidly expanded, and the specially valuable Hoose Library of Philosophy, the Rainwater Sociological Research Library and other departmental collections.

The school has also invaluable collections of illustrative material relating to its various courses. This material includes ancient tablets thousands of years old, discovered through archeological research and valuable in elucidating ancient languages and history. It also has a museum of religious antiquities, containing an invaluable collection of articles secured directly in world-wide search by members of its faculty. These articles were produced for actual use in numerous religions either as symbols or instrumental aids in temple and private services and are interpretive of conceptions basic in these religions and in the lives of their devotees. Materials are also used in various forms of its instruction in religious education, which add much to the preparation of students for immediate service in that field.

The School of Religion is specially designed for upper classmen and graduates, but a number of its courses are open to freshmen and sophomores, so that at the beginning of their college life students may have the benefit of instruction in religion on an academic basis.

For the actual religious life of the students, religious organizations on the campus—particularly the strong and active Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A.—are operating, and a helpful and inspiring chapel service conducted by the university chaplain. Bruce R. Baxter, who is a member of the faculty of the School of Religion, is held on four mornings of each week. Throughout the entire university, administrative and academic, Christian ideals are pervasive and in character and teachings are upheld by officials, faculty and students.

Egyptians made wrought iron thousands of years ago. This tough and long-wearing metal continued to be made by the same primitive means until the invention of "puddling" in 1784. This slow and expensive hand process is just now giving way to a revolutionary mass production process developed by Dr. James Aston of the Carnegie Institute of Technology. It will abolish the picturesque "iron puddler" and bring this useful metal back to the many uses for which it has no adequate substitute.

Tavern Owner Fights in Court for Insurance

A court fight to collect $10,000 in fire insurance is now being waged by Mrs. Anna Miller in four law suits brought against the Security Insurance Company and the National Insurance Company of New Haven, Ct., which went to trial yesterday before Superior Judge Westover. The four actions were consolidated for trial. They were begun by Mrs. Miller following the companies' refusal to pay on policies she held on her Elizabeth Lake Tavern, which burned to the ground on the night of July 20, 1927.

At the time of the fire, according to testimony, the tavern was being operated as a sanatorium. No patients were quartered there, however, when the building burned.

The companies assert that Mrs. Miller misrepresented the value of the property when she took out her policies.

SIGNALS DISAPPROVED

On recommendation of the Traffic and Street Lighting Committee, the City Council yesterday declined to install traffic signals in Sunset Boulevard from Beaudry avenue to Echo Park avenue, but directed that the police department be informed that motorists drive at excessive speed, suggesting that motorcycle officers be stationed on this stretch of the boulevard.

CRACKS IN EARTH EAT INSATIABLY

Holes Due to Groundslip at Point Fermin Gobble Up Dirt Dumped by Trucks

An insatiable appetite has the earth crack at Point Fermin, where five acres of dwellings slowly are slipping toward the sea. City trucks yesterday were dumping more dirt into the yawning chasm, the edges of which keep caving in, leaving in one place a hole fifteen feet across, fifty feet long and almost as deep.

The crack first was discovered last spring. During the summer it widened at times at the rate of six inches weekly, but now is moving less than an inch a week. The crack is in the form of a horseshoe, the ends of which run down the cliffs and out to sea.

Traffic into the affected area has been barred for months and several houses have been moved away, but several families continue living there. One little hotel has been torn almost in two by the crack passing under it.

Assistant City Engineer Stewart yesterday reported there is no further danger arising from the earthslip, although the movement toward the sea is continuing. The maintenance division has dumped more than 1000 tons of earth and rock into the numerous crevices in the five-acre district. The movement generally is six feet toward the sea and three feet downward.

Health and Diet ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

HOW MUCH WATER?

All of the functioning cells of the body are given a perpetual bath of water. About two or two and a half quarts of water are lost and replaced by the body every twenty-four hours. The water is thrown out through the kidneys, intestines and lungs. The skin alone can lose from one to two pounds of water a day. The blood is about 90 per cent water, and all of the life processes are dependent on a water supply.

Some of the loss of water is made up by the fluid we drink, but as much as one-half may be received from the water in food and from various food products themselves, since after oxidation water often remains as an end product. Even the driest food you can think of contains some water. One who lives on large quantities of fresh fruits and raw vegetables may find that his water intake is completely taken care of and requires no further thought. However, one who lives principally on semidry foods or who uses a large amount of salt should be careful to drink large quantities of water during the day.

The proper amount of drink varies with the individual. Japanese students, learning the ju-jutsu, are often required to drink as much as a gallon a day, but the average American can get along quite nicely with about eight glasses. In every case the quantity to be taken should be regulated by the amount of exercise and the heat, as one exercising or working in heat requires a large amount of water to maintain the natural balance.

I sometimes advise patients to drink water according to two trial methods to find out which is the better for their particular case. They are first to try drinking after a meal if they are thirsty enough, and then they are to try not drinking after a meal, but only between meals. I then check up to see which is giving the best results in the particular cases.

Drinking large gulps of ice water is never to be recommended, either with meals or at any other time, but there is no particular harm in taking a moderate amount of water with meals, if it is not used to sluice down chunks of unchewed food. It is not a good plan to drink before a meal, as children sometimes do, and in this way use up most of the stomach room with fluid and not leave enough for the food.

There are two ways of telling if you are drinking enough. One is by watching the urine. If it is clear, then the water intake is all right, but if the urine is cloudy or deeply colored, you are probably not getting sufficient water for your needs, and it is a good plan to drink an extra glassful about two hours before the time when you have noticed the urine to be heavy.

Another way is to observe the odor of the perspiration. If it is pronounced, you are probably not getting enough water to wash the toxins out of your body, and it is a good plan to use more water, both on the outside and inside.

The best drinking water for all purposes is distilled water. This is an absolutely pure form of water, even purer than the rainwater which nature provides. Rain-water is very wholesome, the water which is held in fresh fruits and vegetables is also in an exceedingly pure form. The objection to ordinary water is that it contains mineral and bacterial impurities which have been absorbed from passing over the earth. These often produce effects in the body which are not desirable.

MRS. GRACE PILGREEN LOSES HER HUSBAND

Mrs. Grace Darling Pilgreen, known in the radio world as Jackie Love, was freed of the bonds of matrimony yesterday, when her husband, Adolphus Huston Pilgreen, was granted an annulment by Superior Judge Hazlett, on the grounds Mrs. Pilgreen had a husband from whom she was not legally divorced at the time of her marriage with Pilgreen. According to the records, Mrs. Pilgreen's first marriage was to Kirt Hager on January 1, 1925, at Riverside. On September 13, 1925, nine months later, she was wed to Pilgreen. An annulment of the marriage with Hager, according to the records, was granted the husband on May 26, 1926.

A Bedtime Story

CHATTERER BECOMES WORRIED

A worried person you will find,
Most often is of selfish mind.
—Old Mother Nature.

Jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun had begun his daily climb up in the blue, blue sky. It was broad daylight. Soon Farmer Brown's Boy would be coming out to get the corn for the hens and to do his daily work. Chatterer the Red Squirrel sat up in the tall tree near the cornerib and grew more and more anxious and nervous and fidgety. Timmy the Flying Squirrel had left him when it was still barely light. He had sailed down onto the roof of the cornerib and then had disappeared inside. Chatterer had expected him to reappear in a few minutes, for he knew that Timmy does not like the daylight. But Timmy had not reappeared.

"It must be something has happened to him," said Chatterer over and over to himself. "Perhaps he got caught in a trap in there. I forgot to tell him that Farmer Brown's Boy had set some traps for mice. Yes, sir, that must be just what has happened. He would have been up before this. He knows it is quite a long way back to the Green Forest and he wouldn't want to make that journey in daylight. He certainly must have been caught in a trap."

By and by Chatterer heard the door of the farmhouse open. Farmer Brown's Boy came out and went over to the barn. He returned to the cornerib with a pan in his hand. He opened the door of the cornerib and went inside. Chatterer could hear him whistling in there. How he did long to climb down that tree and scamper up those steps and look inside. Presently Farmer Brown's Boy came out of the cornerib. Chatterer fully expected to see him carrying Timmy, caught in a trap. But Farmer Brown's Boy didn't have any trap. Neither did he have Timmy. The only thing he carried was a pan of corn and with this he went straight over to the henyard.

"Perhaps he didn't look at the traps," thought Chatterer. "Perhaps Timmy dragged one of the traps out of sight. If he didn't get caught, where is he? He couldn't have left that cornerib and I not know it. No, sir, he couldn't have done it.

He returned to the cornerib with a pan in his hand

Something has happened to him. I guess I won't be able to get any more corn after all." I suspect that Chatterer was worrying more about that than he was about Timmy.

Meanwhile, Timmy the Flying Squirrel was very comfortable. When he had entered that cornerib he had intended to stay only long enough to eat a little. But that corn had tasted so good that he had kept on eating. Meanwhile, jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun had been climbing out of bed and starting up in the blue, blue sky. When at last Timmy thought to peep out, it was so light that he just had to blink those big, soft eyes of his. It would never do to try to get back to the Green Forest now. He must stay right where he was until the Black Shadows should come again.

So Timmy looked around and found a comfortable little hollow down among the ears of corn. He managed to find a few cornhusks, and of these he made a bed. Then he curled up, wrapped his tail around him and went to sleep. He was wakened by Farmer Brown's Boy and a very frightened Squirrel he was. But he wisely kept perfectly still, so, of course, Farmer Brown's Boy knew nothing about him. After Farmer Brown's Boy had departed Timmy curled up again and soon was sound asleep. He didn't give a thought to Chatterer. It didn't enter his head that Chatterer might be worrying about him.

ALASKA FOUND ALMOST BALMY

Sawyer, Wilbur Aide, Tells of Climatic Advantages

Popular Idea of Arctic-Like Cold Upset by Figures

Temperature Comparisons Delight Official Visitor

Others may indulge a fancy for mystery yarns, or they may brave the perils of a crosswalk, or, indeed, they may yield to the temptation to talk aloud in a public library. But, for a genuine thrill, in the opinion of Ernest Walker Sawyer, assistant to Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, nothing quite equals a tabulation of comparative temperatures.

And, as if that were not enough, Sawyer admits a particular delight in minimum temperatures.

At the Mayflower Hotel, Sawyer cooked up from a compilation of January minimum temperatures to confess that he was having a decidedly large time. The explanation was that Sawyer's study had revealed to him that Alaska, or a goodly part of it, at least, enjoys warmer weather than many points in the Middle West.

ALASKA OBSTACLE

Sawyer, you see, is charged with developments in Alaska and one of his greatest obstacles, he said, is the idea of most people that Alaska is an iceberg. And he wants everybody to know that when it was 6 deg. below zero in Chicago the other day it was 34 deg. above at Nome.

"There is," Sawyer said, "no place in Alaska that has been as cold as it has been in parts of Montana and Nevada."

Sawyer offered figures in support of his contention that Alaska has not been fully appreciated as far as its weather is concerned. The figures were supplied him by Dr. Fred A. Carpenter, with the assistance of the United States Weather Bureau.

FIGURES SET FORTH

And here are a few of his figures: Comparative minimum temperatures in January, 1930.

ILLNESS OF WOMAN LIKE BIRD FEVER

Psittacosis Indicated in Santa Monica Case by Bacteriological Tests

Bacteriological examinations conducted by the county health department in connection with a number of persons suspected of suffering from psittacosis, or parrot's fever, have in all but one instance proved inconclusive, Dr. J. L. Pomeroy, county health officer, said yesterday.

The one exception, Dr. Pomeroy stated, was found in the case of Mrs. A. H. Stewart, now ill in Santa Monica. In her case examination of cultures disclosed the presence of an organism resembling that diagnosed as psittacosis, the health official said. Mrs. Stewart is reported to be recovering, he said.

Isolation of the psittacosis organism is difficult and uncertain, Dr. Pomeroy indicated. The examinations were made in the county laboratories by Dr. R. V. Stone, who will continue his research work in this respect, Dr. Pomeroy said.

Methodists Set Lincoln's Day

Methodist Episcopal churches throughout the United States will observe Sunday, February 9, next, as their annual Lincoln's Day, a day set aside also by interdenominational agreement as Race Relations Sunday. On Lincoln's Day the Methodist church considers its work among American negroes.

Dr. M. J. Holmes, Chicago, secretary of the division of educational institutions for Negroes, of the Board of Education, places the capital investment of the Methodist Episcopal Church today in negro secondary schools, colleges and professional schools at $6,000,000.

COUPLE LONG WED REFUSE TO MAKE UP

Although Superior Judge Guerin pleaded with William Ellis Cassey, 53 years of age, and his wife Mina, 52, not to divorce each other after living together thirty-one years, the couple in alimony court yesterday insisted on going their separate ways. Cassey, who said he made $145 a month, objected to paying Mrs. Cassey $100 a month, which she asked. Judge Guerin told the couple they could live together and save money on Cassey's salary, but would only waste money keeping up two establishments. Cassey charged his wife with nagging, and she said he was profane and abusive.

Barry of Inglewood, will be among the score of relatives expected at tomorrow's celebration. Another daughter and a son live in Fargo, N. D.

COURT AWARD FAILS TO PRODUCE MONEY

Lila McComas

AL G. BARNES AGAIN SUED BY ACTRESS

Lila McComas Opens New Move to Get Damages for Fall from Elephant

Lila McComas, motion-picture actress, yesterday renewed her efforts to collect damages for injuries she states she sufferd in falling from an elephant during the filming of a motion-picture scene.

The new move is in the form of a suit in which Al G. Barnes Stonehouse, better known as Al G. Barnes, A. T. Stonehouse, H. I. McClathery, the Alliance Investment Company and a number of other corporations in which Barnes is said to be interested, are named defendants.

At the second trial of a previous suit, Miss McComas was awarded damages of $15,000 against the Alliance Investment Company, said to control the Al G. Barnes Circus, which, according to the actress, rented the elephant from which Miss McComas fell, to the film company for which she worked.

Miss McComas asserts she has been unable to collect the judgment due to the asserted manipulation of the affairs of the investment company, and in the present case she asks that Barnes, A. T. Stonehouse and others be adjudged liable to the investment company and to the creditors of the company.

At the first trial of her former suit, Miss McComas won only $500, but was granted a new trial on her contention that the jury took her fashionable clothes into consideration in reaching its verdict. The second trial resulted in the $15,000 verdict which she now says she has been unable to collect.

Professional Jail Breaker Gets Sentence

To Folsom penitentiary authorities yesterday was assigned the job of keeping Edward W. Gardner, alias Monte Wilson, behind prison bars for the rest of his life.

The assignment was made by Superior Judge Wood, before whom Gardner, who is said to have boasted that he has broken out of seventeen jails and penitentiaries, pleaded guilty to a charge of first-degree robbery. Gardner admitted two prior convictions and was decreed an habitual criminal by Judge Wood, who imposed a life sentence. Three other charges against the man were dismissed.

Gardner, however, will have a ten-day chance to exercise his prison-breaking abilities on the County Jail before he is taken to Folsom. Judge Wood granted a stay of execution for that period of time after requesting that County Jailer Peoples exercise the greatest caution in keeping Gardner behind the bars while he is an inmate of the local jail.

Famed War Ace Tells of Safety in Travel by Air

In certain sections of Europe, where air-transport lines have been long established, insurance rates for airplane travel are lower than those for any other form of travel, Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, famous war flyer and now sales manager of the Fokker Aircraft Corporation, stated in an address last night at the meeting of the Aviators' Post of the American Legion at the Alexandria. Capt. Rickenbacker said the next development in aviation safety will be the lifting of some of the responsibility from the shoulders of the transport pilot by the perfection of weather-forecasting and direction-finding facilities.

Earle Ovington, the first American air mail pilot, gave a reminiscent talk on his experiences in the early days of flying, using lantern slides he had used in a lecture tour during 1912, in which he described the aviation feats which brought him fame in 1910 and 1911. Other speakers were Jack Frye, president of the Aero Corporation of California, and Capt. Walter Davis, president of the Davis Aircraft Corporation.

WRIT FREES SUSPECT IN AUTO DEATH

Druggist, Accused of Running Down Stanley Poor, Released

William H. Kent, 33 years of age, druggist, of 3604 Fifth avenue, held on a charge of suspicion of manslaughter following the death of Stanley Poor, 19, in an automobile accident yesterday, was released from the City Jail early today following the serving of a writ of habeas corpus on Capt. Fred R. Parsons. The disposition of the writ was signed by J. Gordon Mills, lawyer, and the document, which liberated Kent until January 26, when he must appear before Superior Judge W. T. Aggeler, was signed by Superior Court Judge Leon Yankwich.

Poor, the son of retired Police Captain O. L. Poor of 1123 South Victoria Drive, died as a result of injuries suffered in an automobile collision at Arlington avenue and Country Club Drive. His car is said to have been struck by another machine driven by William H. Kent. Following an investigation by Wilshire officers, Kent was held on a charge of suspicion of manslaughter.

A Coroner's inquest into the death of Poor will be conducted at 2:30 p.m. Monday.

William Ambuster, 73, of 11106 Ohio avenue, was injured fatally, when he was knocked down by an automobile while riding a bicycle on Wilshire Boulevard near Federal avenue, Sawtelle. According to a Sheriff's office report the car was driven by Pablo Guerra of 1702 Twenty-second street, Santa Monica. The elderly victim was taken to the Soldiers' Home Hospital, where he died without regaining consciousness. County authorities are investigating.

Max Peterman, 51, of 622 South San Pedro street, received a skull fracture when he was struck by an automobile at Sixtieth street and West Boulevard. At Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where he was taken, it was said that he might die of his injury. Police report that the car was driven by Lewis M. De Dell of 628 North Juanita avenue.

Dr. Percy K. Telford, member of the State Health Board, was injured when his car collided with another automobile at Franklin avenue and Hillhurst street. Dr. Telford, who lives at 1349 Warner avenue, Sawtelle, suffered concussion of the brain and severe head injuries. He was treated at the Receiving Hospital. The other car was driven by Markley E. McClure of 1235½ North Westmoreland avenue, police reported.

Jewel De Lair, 4, of 1130 South Kern avenue, Belvedere, was injured, probably fatally, when she ran in front of a truck operated by Jose Barajas, 21, of Calexico, on Ford Boulevard near East Ninth street, according to a Sheriff's office report. The child was removed to the General Hospital suffering from a fractured skull and internal injuries.

SCHOOL AND CITY BONDS TO BE SOLD

Pension Committee Will Advertise for Offers on $1,571,000 Securities

With steady improvement in the bond market advanced as the reason for offering securities for sale at this time, the Los Angeles Pension Commission February 3 will open bids for the sale of $1,571,000 municipal and school bonds which are yielding interest of 4 1-2 per cent or under to the city pension fund.

The plan is to reinvest the money received from the sale of the bonds, placing it in street improvement bonds which are bringing 7 per cent interest. The commission already has purchased $2,500,000 in street improvement bonds with the higher returns.

According to Secretary L. V. McCradle, the total delinquency from this investment of $2,500,000 in street improvement bonds is only $15,000, which may be secured by a foreclosure should it be deemed necessary. In addition, he points out, the bonds are purchased directly from City Treasurer Powell without the necessity of paying premium, as required in purchases of other bonds.

Reports are being circulated that the commission plans to sell the municipal and school bonds at a loss to the pension fund. This, however, was flatly denied by Secretary McCardle yesterday. He said that even should the bonds be sold at a loss and reinvested in the street improvement bonds, money would be gained for the fund because of the higher interest on the street bonds.

To cover the situation, in case bids are not high enough, the commission has included in the advertisement for bids that it "reserves the right to reject any or all bids."

Social Science Sessions Open With Dinner

Human and economic geography of Southern California was discussed last night at a dinner starting the semiannual meeting of the Pacific-Southwest Center, American Academy of Political and Social Science, at the Alexandria. Dr. Remsen Bird, president of Occidental College, presided at the opening dinner, and spoke on the scope of the organization. Dr. John B. Appleton, professor of geography of Scripps College, spoke on the Natural Environments of Southern California.

Last night's dinner prefaced today's sessions, beginning at 9 a.m. and continuing, with recess for luncheon, until evening, when a closing dinner winds up the conference. Topics on today's program include discussion of the three-day marriage law, the Russian colony in Hollywood, the water supply question and other matters of interest.

SEWERS PLANNED

The City Engineer yesterday was instructed by the City Council to present plans and ordinances for the construction of sanitary sewers in the West Channel Road district.

JOHN PROVES HE WAS BORN

Birth Certificate Granted as Court Admits Legality of Records

John Agalsoff was in Superior Judge Gates's court yesterday to establish the fact that he was born.

After Attorney Theodore Gottesdanker had produced records indicating Agalsoff's birth in Los Angeles, July 9, 1906, the attorney asked Agalsoff:

"Was there a physician or midwife present when you were born?

Judge Gates interrupted.

"I'm afraid the witness cannot answer that question, except by hearsay," the court remarked.

Then Judge Gates admitted the legality of the existing records, and gave Agalsoff a birth certificate.

Many Sightless Persons Enroll in School Class

Eager to become self-supporting in spite of their handicap, the city's sightless unfortunates yesterday continued to enroll for courses of instruction in the training school to be operated in conjunction with the new industrial workshop for the blind at 1240 West Pico street. Applicants included children as well as men and women. All are eligible for matriculation free of charge.

Basket weaving, rug weaving, broom making and kindred trades will be taught to those who have only their hands for eyes. Instruction will be given by three experienced teachers, under supervision of Gilbert H. Rivenburgh, manager.

The shop itself, which will provide accommodations for seventy-five workers, will be opened formally next Monday. Articles on display are the products of sightless craftsmen being cared for in State homes, and profit accruing from the sale of each will be paid to the consignor.

Mrs. Chapin's Funeral Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Dan J. Chapin, wife of the former head of the United States Internal Revenue Bureau at San Francisco, will be conducted at 2 p.m. today at the funeral parlors of Mater and McIntosh, 2730 North Broadway. The remains will be cremated.

Mrs. Chapin, who was 51 years of age, died Thursday night at her home, 1936 North Whitley avenue, after a lingering illness. She had been a resident of Los Angeles for seven years, coming here with her husband when he left the Federal service to practice law in the Southland.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Chapin leaves two daughters, Mrs. Waldemar Thompson, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. P. T. Sewell of Clarksburg, W. Va.

Wilbur to Give Luncheon Talk

Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, now in California on a visit to his home at Palo Alto, yesterday accepted an invitation issued jointly by the Chamber of Commerce and the Advertising Club to speak at a luncheon here next Tuesday.

Announcing the plan for the luncheon, President John C. Austin of the Chamber of Commerce said that arrangements will be under the joint auspices of his organization and the Advertising Club, the meeting to be held at the Biltmore Hotel. Reservations may be made through the chamber.

J. Q. CRITCHLOW RITES CHANGE ANNOUNCED

A change in the funeral arrangements for John Q. Critchlow was announced yesterday by George A. Snow, a friend, who will speak at the funeral. Services will be conducted at 2 p.m. today at the Mormon Chapel, 153 West Adams street, instead of at the Mormon Church on Country Club Drive, he announced. This change was necessitated because another service had been scheduled for the church this afternoon. Mr. Critchlow died Wednesday at his residence, 718 South Alvarado street. He formerly was a member of the Utah Legislature, and a business associate of Senator Reed Smoot.

CUT PRICE SOUGHT

The Building and Safety Commission was directed by the City Council yesterday to determine if flasher signals can be purchased from the manufacturers at a reduced price in lots of 100.

PRAISE GIVEN TO MRS. EDDY

Christian Science Lecture Series Concluded

Rev. A. J. Graham Speaks on His Beliefs

Founder of Group Lauded as Great Woman

"Mary Baker Eddy herself was a clear, close thinker and reasoner," said Rev. Andrew J. Graham, C.S.B. of Boston, member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, in a series of lectures which was concluded last evening.

The speaker continued in part:

"She was a close thinker in that she strove to look from inside of a subject out, rather than from outside in. She was not satisfied with scholastic theology's statements about God and man and salvation. She strove to know. In a busy land and a busy age which produced many eminent men and women, Mrs. Eddy unquestionably ranks first in the increasing influence wielded by her discovery, and the lucid, logical, loving expression of the same found in her published writings. Her well-balanced thought places her, historically, in a conspicuous position. She was notable pre-eminently for her equipoise of characteristics, for her well-proportioned thinking and living. She was not one-sided mentally or spiritually. She represented the well-rounded, evenly balanced thought about God and about human affairs.

DEVOTED TO GOD

"For example, Mrs. Eddy was devoted to God, good. She admired beauty in poetry, music, nature and art. She was exact and meticulously practical in all business and legitimate material affairs. Yet her devotion to God, good, never made her a religious fanatic. She appears to have understood thoroughly what Jesus meant by his saying recorded in the seventeenth chapter of John's Gospel, 'I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou shouldest keep them from the evil.' That is, the true Christian life consists in saving the world (mankind,) not in running away from it.

"Her great care about the daily affairs of life and her exact attention to business never made her a disciple of materialism. Though in passing out she left a substantial fortune, a legacy to the world for the dissemination of the healing truth, yet no one can point out where she spent money for selfish, personal ends.

QUESTION ASKED

"The question may very properly be asked, What evidence is there to substantiate these statements? In reply, there are two kinds of evidence or proof: one is demonstration, the other pure reasoning. The first may be seen, the second discerned. Let us address ourselves to the evidential value of demonstration. Jesus resorted to this sort of evidence in answering John the Baptist's historic question. I speak first of Mrs. Eddy, who during the major part of forty-five years preceding her discovery was an earnest seeker for a fuller understanding of God. After a long period of such thinking and living she discovered Christian Science and through that revealed truth she was healed of a so-called incurable condition and lived nearly forty-five years longer, establishing a movement which is daily witnessing the healing power of the truth she discovered."

SHULER HITS 'BAD BABIES' FROM STAND

Pastor Declares at Trial That Parts of Offering on Stage Was "Indecent"

Parts of the play "Bad Babies," as presented in Los Angeles, were indecent and immoral, Rev. R. P. Shuler declared yesterday in Municipal Judge Bogue's court, where members of the cast are on trial on charges of participating in an indecent play. Shuler, called as a witness by Chief Deputy City Prosecutor McGann, testified that he witnessed the play at the request of the City Prosecutor on August 18, 1929, the night it was raided by police.

W. J. Clark, defense attorney, called several of the defendants to the stand to testify in their own defense. Annette Westbay Scarborough, actress and wife of the author of the play, George Scarborough, who also is a defendant, described costumes worn by members of the cast and also quoted lines from the play. Other defendants include Jobyta Ralston, Elinor Flynn, Arthur Rankin, Norman Peck, Mervin Williams and Frank Jennings.

Defense testimony, which was unfinished last night, will be concluded Monday morning. Judge Bogue ordered. The case is expected to reach the jury late Monday.

TRAFFIC-DEATH RECORD SET AS 101 DIE IN MONTH

Traffic deaths in the city and county during the month of December, 1929, set a mark for the largest number in the history of the Coroner's office, Coroner Nance announced yesterday.

Due of a total of 101 persons killed in traffic, automobiles figured in ninety-three of the deaths and electric and steam railways eight, according to the regular monthly report of the Coroner.

In explanation of the rise in traffic fatalities, Coroner Nance said that the month of December generally claims a larger number of victims due to the holiday rush, and also that it appears to be characteristic of people to relax in vigilance during a period of good weather, such as was enjoyed throughout the county during the thirty-day period.

The report stated that during last December a total of 297 autopsies was performed, eight chemical analyses made, 124 investigations conducted by the Coroner's office and 115 inquests recorded.

A total of 421 deaths occurred in the city and county during the month, of which 265 were in the city and 156 in the county. Of the total deaths 282 were males and 139 females, according to the report. Long Beach was listed as the second city in number of deaths, with 34, and Pasadena and the unincorporated territory in the county as third with 17 deaths each.

Out of a total of 93 deaths in which automobiles figured, forty-two occurred in the city and 51 in the county outside of Los Angeles, according to the report.

Thirty-three men and nine women took their own lives, 15 persons shooting themselves and 10 hanging themselves out of a total of 42. Twelve homicides, 7 by shooting and 11 termed unjustifiable were listed in the report.

BANDIT SHOOTS CAR CONDUCTOR

Street Railway Employee Resists Hold-up

Deputy sheriffs yesterday were reported to be close on the trail of a suspect in connection with the shooting during the early morning of J. H. Miller, Los Angeles Railway conductor, by a bandit who robbed him and C. W. Bukey, motorman, at One Hundred and Sixteenth street and Vermont avenue.

Following treatment at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital for a bullet wound in the neck Miller was removed to the Good Samaritan Hospital, where he was resting easily late yesterday, according to Dr. Henry Prigge, Los Angeles Railway physician.

Boarding the street car operated by the men at the end of the line, the bandit shot Miller when he failed to comply with demands to turn over his money, according to a Sheriff's office report. The bandit, described as a young American, is asserted to have first forced Bukey to give up his pocketbook and then compelled the motorman to stand by while he confronted Miller.

On discharge of the gun Bukey went to the aid of Miller, grappling with the bandit, according to the report. Bukey wrested the gun from the man and also his cap and scarf as he broke away and fled. The articles were turned over to the Vermont-avenue Sheriff's substation and Deputy Sheriffs Williams and Wintermute assigned to investigate.

Whether an operation will be performed to remove the bullet now embedded in Miller's body depends on the man's condition during the next few days, it was stated by physicians.

TALKING ABOUT HOLD-UP CAUSES ARREST OF FIVE

Choice of a public pool room in which to discuss a newspaper story of a recent robbery yesterday resulted in the arrest of five youths and the subsequent confession from four of them of the robbery, according to Detective-Lieutenants Cox and Gottlieb.

The suspects gave the following names: George E. Downey, 19 years of age, of 1063 Portola avenue; Robert Cullen, 20, of 327 East Emerson street; Arthur A. Chrisman, Jr., 19, and Connie Richardson, 19, of 517½ Daly street, and Arthur Sims, 20, of 5037 Templeton street.

Cox and Gottlieb reported they overheard Downey and Cullen reading the newspaper story of the robbery of Lee Moyer, Los Angeles Railway conductor at Herbert street and Ramona Boulevard on the 15th inst., in a pool hall in the 1500 block on South Huntington Drive. They obtained Downey's home address and later waited there as all five of the suspects appeared.

At Central Police Station Downey, Cullen, Chrisman and Richardson admitted their part in the robbery, the detectives said. Sims, they said, confessed he loaned the others a gun which was used in the hold-up.

Ramon Novarro Film Promises Musical Treat

Ramon Novarro sings six songs in "Devil May Care," coming to the Carthay Circle Wednesday, while Marion Harris does song hits by Stothart, the soldier choruses, comedy ballads and Carli Elinor's concert orchestra overture all promise to provide a real treat for music lovers. "Devil May Care" will be a greater personal triumph for Novarro than was "Ben Hur," it is said.

Dorothy Jordan has so successfully scored with Novarro that Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has put her under a long-term contract. The French and Spanish colonies are particularly interested in the Novarro engagement at the Circle. "Devil May Care" is based on the Americanized version of "La Batille des Dames" by the French dramatists, Eugene Scribe and Ernest Legouve.

Appearing in support of Novarro are Dorothy Jordan, Marion Harris, John Miljan, William Humphrey, George Davis and Clifford Bruce.

M.-G.-M.'s funniest "all barkie," "College Hounds," will be the comedy feature of the premiere program.

APARTMENT HOUSE TO BE CHECKED UP

Building Commission Will Investigate Charges by Health Authorities

As the result of a joint meeting yesterday by the Health Commission and the Building and Safety Commission, over the construction of a new apartment-house at 716 North Irving Boulevard by permission of the building and safety department, the latter will conduct an investigation as to the basis of the charges by the Health Commission that the structure violates the State Housing Act and city ordinances.

E. A. Nicholson, as receiver, seeks the health department's permission to occupy the premises. This permission has been held up.

Vice-President McGinley of the Building and Safety Commission asked for a week's time during which the commission can investigate the charges of the health department. He said one of the commission's inspectors will check up the entire building.

The Health Commission sought to have its own inspector along at the same time, and to this McGinley somewhat reluctantly agreed.

According to the Health Department, the building is a four-story frame structure, despite the State and city laws providing that no frame structure apartment or hotel higher than three stories is permitted in the city.

Another joint meeting will be held next Friday.

CLOTHES OF BOY SPOTTED WITH BLOOD

Mystery Veils Discovery of Wearing Apparel in Ravine Near Newhall

Deputy sheriffs of the Newhall substation yesterday began an investigation into the finding of a number of bloodstained articles of boy's wearing apparel on the bank of a small ravine near the Buelke ranch at Happy Valley, Newhall.

The clothes consisted of a pair of boy's shoes, the inside ankle portion of one being cut away; a blue work shirt, a pair of dress gloves, size six; a kit containing a tooth brush and tooth powder, and an old knotted and stained rag.

The articles, placed in a neat pile, were found by Alvin Buelke and a report made to Constable Biddison of Newhall, it was stated. A small flashlight also was found by Buelke about 500 feet down the ravine and a Los Angeles evening paper dated April 13, 1929, a short distance away from the clothes, the report stated.

Stages System Plea for Coast Routing Heard

Application of the Pickwick Stages System to route through service between San Diego and Los Angeles via Long Beach and between Los Angeles and San Francisco via Santa Monica and the Malibu highway was taken under submission yesterday by State Railroad Commissioner Louttit. Existing lines will be unaffected.

Chambers of commerce of twenty-one cities between San Diego and Ventura supported the application either by resolutions or through spokesmen.

L. D. Jones, assistant to the president of the stages system, and Guy Hill, chief of operations, testified that surveys have shown that existing lines fail to give proper service. It was stated further that the new routing of the service would, in effect, place Los Angeles on the seaside highway.

"Journey's End" Tells Story of War Reactions

"Journey's End," R. E. Sherriff's drama which is occupying the stage of the Belasco Theater, is a play about men in war. It shows the reactions in mind and body of a small group of English officers who are waiting to be overwhelmed by the German drive of 1918. They are in a dugout on the front lines before St. Quentin, and throughout the course of the play, are seen watching for the inevitable.

This Sherriff play is the same that has taken London, Paris, Berlin, New York and Chicago by storm. In the entire history of the modern theater, it is doubtful whether any play has so completely captured the public of the various countries, it is said.

The company presenting the play here under the management of Gilbert Miller, in association with Maurice Browne, is composed of distinguished English actors who are making their first tour of this country.

'Anna Christie' Setting Record at Criterion

Greta Garbo's fans turned out early yesterday morning to see and hear her in "Anna Christie," at the Criterion.

With record crowds at the theater on the first and second days, it was announced yesterday that an extra show would be added to the day's run.

The tremendous popularity of the picture was indicated when a line of two hundred or more persons waited for the theater to open yesterday morning. All previous records for an opening day at the Criterion were shattered when a check of the figures placed the number of patrons for the opening day at approximately 10,000.

Schulberg Chief Wampas Speaker

Pages from his experience as the press representative of Adolph Zukor during the earlier days of motion pictures will feature the remarks of B. P. Schulberg, general manager of west-coast productions for Paramount, at the bimonthly dinner meeting of the Wampas Monday night at the Roosevelt.

Schulberg, who will be the principal speaker, will be supported by guest artists from the Paramount studios, including Jack Oakie, Skeets Gallagher, Lillian Roth, Mitzi Green, Jack Bennett, Regis Toomey and Stanley Smith.

Problem Solved by Milestone

A technical problem was overcome at the United Artists studios when director Lewis Milestone, who filmed "New York Nights," Norma Talmadge's first all-dialogue picture now at the United Artists Theater, succeeded in making successful sound shots of the interior of a moving automobile as it traveled through congested traffic lanes.

In order to fit microphone and camera equipment in the car it was necessary to remove the roof of the vehicle and take precautions against extraneous body squeaks and other noises.

Loew's State Plans Frolic

The third "Sundodgers Revel," the regular Saturday midnight events at Loew's State, will present some attractive added features to the program tonight.

Charlie Murray, master of ceremonies, will introduce the visiting stars. Dan Tobey, noted sport announcer, will personally present Red Millett in a fast comedy sketch. A special dance contest is to be held on the stage. Musical numbers will be provided by Coonie Conrad.

TIBBETT VEHICLE SELECTED

Mary Astor Will Play in R.K.O.'s "Cooking Her Goose;" Stanley Smith Slated for Lead in M.-G.-M. Musical; Joan Marsh Signs Long Universal Contract

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Of course, those who have seen "Rogue Song" at Grauman's Chinese, or who have ever heard Lawrence Tibbett sing, are right on edge to know what his first picture under his new contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will be.

LAWRENCE TIBBETT

Now it is my pleasure to announce that "The Rose of Algeria," formerly a stage operetta, will be the Metropolitan star's first vehicle.

In this, Tibbett will have a chance to play a tremendously colorful role, of the sort which makes him so delightful in "Rogue Song."

MARY ASTOR PLAYS LEAD FOR R.-K.-O.

Sorrowful though she must be, Mary Astor is not letting her grief over the tragic death of her husband, Kenneth Hawks, completely overwhelm her, but she is keeping bravely at work.

MARY ASTOR

William Sistrom's first production under his new contract with R.-K.-O. is giving Miss Astor an opportunity for some fine acting, we hear.

"Cooking Her Goose" is the name of the picture, and in it Miss Astor will have the featured feminine lead. No director is yet assigned.

The story is being adapted by Sistrom himself from the stage play of the same name by H. H. Van Loan.

Joan Marsh With Universal

Right back on the lot where, at the age of 9 months she played in her first picture, Joan Marsh is signing a long-term contract with Universal.

Just at present Miss Marsh is playing a bit in "All Quiet on the Western Front," but it is said that Universal is planning excellent things for her.

At 3, Miss Marsh played with Mary Pickford in "Daddy Long-Legs," and she appeared later with her in "Pollyanna." She did other child parts, and then left films for school.

Walter Catlett to Direct

No longer, if he has his way about it, will our fascinating friend, Walter Catlett, cavort about on stage and screen.

WALTER CATLETT

Instead he will train other comedians in the way they should go. For this prime comedian is to direct for Fox instead of acting, according to word received yesterday. Of course, he may occasionally drop into a role, just for the sake of variety; but he has always had a yearning to direct, even when most successful on the stage, and now he is to have his chance. As soon as Winfield Sheehan returns from New York, which will be in the course of a couple of weeks, Catlett is to receive an assignment.

In the meantime, he is contributing his talents to M.-G.-M.'s "The Gay Nineties," in which he has a leading role.

It is said that Catlett's latest starring role, in Fox's "The Big Party," is one of the most brilliant characterizations ever screened, so that it is probable he may be requisitioned for other starring roles from time to time.

Lanky Loans Stanley Smith

That engaging young actor, Stanley Smith, never seems to have an idle moment.

Now he is being loaned by Paramount, to whom he is under contract, to play one of the two leading male roles in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's production of that charming musical, "Good News."

Smith was formerly of the New York stage, achieving much success in a number of plays.

Gleason With Warners

Even if James Gleason is a smart young writer, he isn't going to let his acting talents go stale.

Therefore, he has hired himself out to Warner Brothers to play the role of the fight manager in "Dumb Belles in Ermine," for which role his research work while writing his prize-fight play, "Is Zat So?" should eminently fit him.

WAR STORY SHOWN IN DYNAMICS

"Arsenal" Reveals Spirit of Man as Unconquerable Despite Hatred

BY ELENA BOLAND

One of the strangest pictures ever seen is at the Filmarte this week. A composite of intellectual symbolism, "Arsenal," is Russia's latest plea against the futility of war. It confesses no story, no cast of characters, no definite time or place, yet in plan it follows the same current as her other descriptions of war and revolution. As with "Ten Days," episodes pick up the finish of the World War, depict the reign of the nationalists under Kerensky and close with that overthrown by the Bolshevists led by Lenin and Trotzky.

The picture, produced by Wufku, is called the "Ten Days" of Ukrainia. It describes itself as "a representation of the soul of a man," that man, in turn, representing humanity. One actor's name appears on the program, S. Svashenko, typifying the worker, the spirit of the soil, which cannot be killed by war or devastation.

As far as technique goes, this film can be compared to no other. It is a selection of episodes, or sequences, even instances, each devoted to the symbolization of some phase of war and its effects. Previously, it has been the Russian custom to symbolize through inanimate objects. In this it is the expression or attitude of the human being which acts as a medium of translation. Many points are difficult to understand, and one feels urged to a second visit in order to comprehend more fully. For, obscure or not, this is no average production.

Since no criticism founded on accepted criterions is adequate because of its nature and structure, some of the outstanding events may be mentioned. The earlier scenes dwell on the hysteria of a war-swamped people. There is a view of a peasant suddenly kicking his horse, and its sequel, which are worth watching for. Another bit of real acting comes close after and shows a soldier overcome by gas laughing wildly as he goes to his death. A train-wreck episode is a dynamo of suggestion and action. Nearing the end are moments that grip with their matter-of-fact cruelty. The execution scene, the conflict between the professor and the Bolshevist, and the final climax, which is as powerful as anything ever filmed.

As well as being a compilation of symbols, "Arsenal" is a symphony of rhythms, some on a discordant note. Each section is played to a distinctive beat. Each has its own beginning and its own climax.

Alexander Dovzhenko directed, the excellent photography being credited to D. Demutzki.

Originally of a deeply tragic hue, "The Mender of Nets," an early picture of Mary Pickford's, is now colored by that aura of burlesque which hovers around most revivals. Some classic subtitles heighten the comedy.

FILM STARS TO ATTEND LATE SHOW

Chinese Plans Open Air Dancing as New Feature Starting Tonight

Charles King and Anita Page, M.-G.-M. stars of "Hollywood Revue" and "Broadway Melody," will be guest stars tonight of the midnight frolic at Grauman's Chinese Theater, to be given in conjunction with "The Rogue Song," starring Lawrence Tibbett. A bevy of dancing girls will assist King and Miss Page, with Abe Lyman and his noted band on the Chinese stage in a pretentious stage offering.

Preceding the late show, the forecourt of the Chinese will be thronged with dancers swaying to the rhythmic melodies of Lyman's band.

"The Rogue Song" is proving the most outstanding success ever to hold the Chinese screen, it is said, having broken all box-office records since its premier a week ago.

NEW QUARTET AN ATTRACTION

Bartlett - Frankel Ensemble Presents Composition by Reiser

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Significant of a new phase of musical development here, a composer connected with a motion-picture studio here was honored by the presentation of one of his works by a chamber music organization last evening. The Bartlett-Frankel String Quartet gave the first rendition locally of Alois Reiser's Quartet in E minor, Op. 16, with Mr. Reiser himself sharing in the approbation, and taking a bow.

The Reiser quartet was the novelty of the second program of the Bartlett-Frankel ensemble, and drew the main interest, although the Respighi Quartet in D major came in for a liberal portion of the approval. Mozart's "Hunting Quartet" with its especially lovely Adagio, was also played on the program.

Reiser's work is unquestionably one of exacting requirements—almost Strauss-like in the opening section, reminiscent of Debussy in the second movement, and savoring of Stravinsky in the third. For all that it is somewhat eclectic in spirit, the quartet is sufficiently individual to attract. The different movements afford an effectual balance for one another, and though high inspiration may seem lacking, and perhaps simplicity, the quartet is striking, nonetheless. Its technical demands were well met by the ensemble composed of Josef Borisoff, first violin; Anthony Brigilo, second violin; Emil Perir, viola, and Nicholas Ochi-Albi, 'cello.

Although I did not hear the first concert of this group I understand there was much more uniformity and sympathy in their work last evening, and certainly the presentation of the Reiser and Respighi compositions reflected most creditably to the organization. The Mozart was a little less impressive except in the Adagio, which was very acceptably played.

Respighi's quartet reveals the composer's dependable sense for beauty. Not every moment does it hold the interest, but unquestionably the opening movement, Allegro moderato, and the Tema con variazioni are manifestly appealing.

Paramount Will Give Late Show

A special midnight matinee will be held at the Paramount Theater tonight. "The Love Parade," Ernst Lubitsch's gay musical romance, is the film attraction.

With Maurice Chevalier, former idol of the Parisian stage, in the leading role this superproduction is one of the greatest attractions ever presented at the Paramount Theater, it is said. Jeanette MacDonald, Lupino Lane, Lillian Roth, Eugene Pallette and Lionel Belmore are in the cast.

Stage Comedy Next at Egan

Interest in theatrical circles has been aroused by the announcement of William Thornton that he will produce "Playboy of the Western World," the whimsical comedy by J. M. Synge, Irish playwright, at the Egan Theater. The production will open February 5.

Casting has been practically completed and rehearsals are already under way. The story deals with a happy-go-lucky Irish youth, Christy Mahon.

COMPOSES FOR FILMS

W. Frankie Harling, composer of the much-discussed jazz opera, "Deep River," is the composer of the music for "Honey," Nancy Carroll's new Paramount starring picture.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

Martin Flavin's comedy, "Broken Dishes," his second hit of the current New York season, is going to be seen hereabouts under the Henry Duffy banner.

At this rate, Los Angeles ought to be solidly Flavin pretty soon. The gentleman's first play of this year, "The Criminal Code," is going to be done by Messrs. Homer Curran and Edward Belasco—or so Homer Curran is telling in San Francisco..

And Mr. Flavin himself is in town writing pieces for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Duffy tried "Broken Dishes" at his Seattle house last week, with Earl Lee, Leona Powers and Howard Miller heading the cast.

Unlike "The Criminal Code," which is a serious play, treating with the workings of a State penal institution, "Broken Dishes" is a good-humored domestic comedy about happenings in the Bumpstead family, who live in a small Middle Western town.

"June Moon" Postponed

"June Moon," the Ring Lardner-George S. Kauffman comedy, is not coming to the Belasco until, at least, along in the spring and perhaps not until summer, it appears.

Originally, it was planned to cast and stage the show locally. Cleve Moore, in fact, was mentioned for a role. Now, decision has been made to bring the Chicago company to the Pacific Coast and inasmuch as Chicago is still enjoying the comedy, it perhaps won't be ready to move for some time.

More "Shanghai Gesture"

There is talk of Mrs. Leslie Carter appearing here in "The Shanghai Gesture." Mrs. Carter is in town and has been helping Norma Talmadge in work on the latter's voice and stage presence for talkies.

Miss Talmadge, it seems, is enthusiastically promoting the appearance and is said only to be awaiting the return of her husband, Joseph Schenck, from Europe, for help on the business part of the proposition.

Mrs. Carter, as readers may know, was supposed to have collaborated with John Colton on the writing of "The Shanghai Gesture," and the leading role was presumably directly patterned for her. She has appeared in the play a number of times.

"Susanna" Changes

Several changes in the "Oh, Susanna!" company, now playing at the Mayan Theater, have been unofficially announced, with most of the interest focused on the part of Carlotta King, the feminine lead.

It appears that a young lady named Stella Seegar, noted in the East for a fine singing voice and charming personality, will take over the role vacated by Miss King. It is probable that Wallace MacDonald will continue as the male lead. The change will take effect, it is said, on Sunday.

Writers' Club Bill

Four one-act plays are on the program of the Writers' Club of Wednesday and Thursday evenings. There will be "Little Brown Jug," an Al Woods comedy, with Robert Elliot, Irving Bacon, Edward Clark and Paul Hurst. In the cast of the second play of the bill, "Alibis to Brides," by Kenyon Nicholson, will be Edward Everett Horton, Marjorie Bennett, Phil Tead and Alma Rubens.

A play by Lawrence Grant and to be directed by him, "Noel," never done before in this country, will be seen. Robert Edeson, Elizabeth Ross, Daisy Belmore and Lee Shumway have roles. The final offering will be George Kelly's "The Torch Bearers," directed by Lloyd Corrigan and will have Lillian Elliot, Helen Bolton, Nora Lane, Gertrude Short, Waldemar Young, Harold Minjer, Kenneth Thomson, Dan Totheroh and Michael Rafferto.

LINER OREGON IN INITIAL BOW

New Luxurious French Line Craft Arrives

Vessel First of Quintet to Enter on Run

Round of Pleasure to Mark Stay in Port

BY WALDO DRAKE

The French Line's "longest gangplank in the world" was yesterday extended to California in the arrival on her maiden voyage of the new motor liner Oregon, first of five express carriers to give the Coast direct passenger service with Le Havre. Characteristic luxury of all French Line passenger ships is noted in her passenger accommodations, while the Oregon herself typifies the latest developments in modern ship design.

She displaces 16,960 tons but has the propelling machinery, safety equipment and navigation aids characteristic of the greatest liners afloat. Two 3000-horsepower M.A.N. Diesel engines drive her at a designed speed of fourteen knots, which Capt. Jules Duchesne, her commander, said she exceeded with ease on the present voyage. The Oregon is 496 feet long, with a beam of 61.3 feet and in addition to splendid quarters for forty passengers in twenty outside staterooms she has cargo space for 12,000 tons of refrigerated and regularly stowed freight. All of her cargo handling gear is electrically operated.

Her public rooms surpass in beauty and luxury those of all other ships in European-Pacific service. These include the dining saloon, finished in old rose and green, with indirect lighting, as have all public rooms; the smoking room, finished in bird's-eye maple and with deep leather furnishings; the ladies' lounge, furnished in lavender, and the veranda cafe, well-protected on her broad boat deck.

A round of affairs in celebration of the Oregon's arrival to establish French Line's new express service will be started next Tuesday, the 28th inst., with the arrival here from Paris of Maurice Tillier, president of the Compagnie General Transatlantique, (French Line,) together with an entourage headed by Pierre de Malglaive, French Line chief in the United States. M. Tillier will visit Mayor Porter Tuesday morning, be the guest of honor at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon that noon and that night he will be present on board the Oregon at a dinner tendered local steamship passenger agents by Capt. Bartolome Aillet, Pacific Coast head of the French Line.

On Wednesday, M. Tillier will preside at a luncheon on board the Oregon to be attended by civic and industrial leaders of Southern California, while that night he will give a dinner to shipping leaders and members of the Chamber of Commerce. The Oregon will sail at midnight of the 29th inst., for San Francisco.

She will be followed on February 24 by the turbine steamer Wisconsin and at monthly intervals by the motor ship Washington, the steamer Winnipeg, and the turbine steamer Wyoming, in that order. Thereafter, these five vessels will operate on a monthly schedule between France and California.

NEW SHIP LINE TO MEXICO LAUNCHED

Larimore Lines, Ltd., a new California corporation, will inaugurate a new monthly service from Los Angeles to Mexican west coast ports with the sailing from here February 7 of the 1500-ton motor ship Masatlan, a ship originally built for that service and recently reconditioned.

John P. Larimore, a former naval officer, is president and E. C. Shea, investment banker of Chicago, secretary and treasurer, while O. E. Darling, formerly operating manager of Mexican States Line, will be traffic manager. Headquarters will be in the Spring-street Arcade, Los Angeles, and terminals will be maintained at Berth 58, assigned to Los Angeles and San Francisco Navigation Company.

While the firm will engage in general trading and transportation business, passengers also are expected to be carried, as the vessel has accommodations for sixteen.

The Mazatlan is equipped with two 350-horsepower Winton fuel Diesels, the first ship so built on the Pacific Coast, coming from the Craig's yards in 1921, when H. E. Pickering, now with W. H. Wicksersham's offices, was chief engineer of the yard. She will make ten knots, and of only sixteen feet draft when loaded, she will be able to put into most of the shallow Mexican ports.

Built for that service and operating there two years for the California-Mexico Steamship Company, she later made trips to Siberia and the South Seas. During her recent lay-ups, her engines have been entirely reconditioned by the engine company. Electric winches, steering gear and heating facilities are a feature.

W. J. Maggio's 135-foot bait boat Hermosa came in yesterday after thirty-four days at sea with 180 tons of extremely large-size tuna, much of which went to hungry fresh markets and the rest to Coast Fishing Company's cannery. Capt. H. J. Johnson would not reveal where he had been except to admit he has discovered new fishing grounds.

Nine thousand bales of cotton are being loaded on the coal-burning tramp steamer Silksworth for Liverpool, Birkenhead and Bremen. The ship is owned by Dalgliesh, Ltd., of Newcastle and is on her first visit here.

Soviet interests are reported negotiating with a Pacific Coast line to send its North China ships to Vladivostok, Siberia, hereafter. The deal is sought by the Amderutra Transport Corporation, the traffic division of Amtorg Trading Company, agents in America for the soviet government.
